His selection as the top young farmer of the state was formally announced at the Farm and Home Week closing banquet in Columbus.

He was picked over nearly 300 other young farmers from all over Ohio, because of his progressive and sound farm management, community leadership and participation in farm affairs.

Second place went to Elmer J. Wellman, 31, Delphos; and third place to Donald H. Riley, 33, Burton. The contest was sponsored by the Ohio Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Sollars has been a leader in the distribution of improved strains of hogs and in the demonstration of new ideas in swine management, a pioneer in the pig hatchery business as well as a pioneer of new fertilizing practices for corn and the production of certified seed.

In addition to the hatchery, he also runs Hereford beef cattle program in partnership with his fath-

Michigan Mayor Held as Drunk

TOLEDO (AP)—The mayor of Petersburg, Mich., 38-year-old William K. Gee, was arrested on a drunk driving charge Wednesday.

Gee was taken to the Safety Building where officers said he complained they were making him late for dinner.

"See to it, gentlemen," they quoted him as saying, "that you keep out of Petersburg."

Polio Shot Supply Short in Bedford

CLEVELAND (AP)—More than 1,000 persons gathered at the high school in suburban Bedford Wednesday night to receive their first polio shot, but the supply of vaccine was exhausted after only 130 had been inoculated.

A doctor administering the program under the auspices of the Maple Heights chapter of B'nai B'rith, said he had been unable to get anymore vaccine in three days of telephone calls to possible sources in and outside the city.

Social Security List To Jump Sharply

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government expects that in five years 10¼ million persons will be receiving $9 billion a year in social security benefits.

This would be an increase of about 50 per cent over present figures, the House Appropriations Committee was told.

Robert M. Ball, deputy director of the Bureau of Old Age and Survivors Insurance, said the figures projected through 1961 compared with 1957 totals of 7,740,000 beneficiaries and $6 billion in benefits. The social security trust fund, from which payments are made, now has in it $22½ billion.

Bat-Killing OKd

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The House has unanimously passed a bill allowing persons with bats in the belfry to kill them. It has been illegal in Texas since 1917. The bill says bats constitute a health hazard.

Family Life Seen Aid to Mental Health

CINCINNATI (AP) — The trend toward "do-it-yourself" projects in the home constitutes good mental health for families, Mrs. Van Hook Stubbs of Wortham, Tex., told the 1957 National Health Forum today.

Mrs. Stubbs, chairman of the Mental Health Division of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, discussed "Promoting Health in the Home" before representatives of 59 organizations attending the forum.

"Good mental health produces a democratic family," she said. "In this democratic family, all members hae a feeling of belonging and being needed. Members do not try to dominate or control; rather each member is set free to develop his own personality. Yet, parents in a very wise and subtle manner, must give guidance when the fundamental pattern of good living seems to be in jeopardy."

Similarly, Mrs. Stubbs suggested that adult members of the ideal family "set the pattern for acceptance of authority. Do we exceed the speed limit on a fine stretch of road? Do we pay half fare for a small-sized 13-year-old? Do we report an accident in such a way as to exonerate ourselves from all responsibility?"

Referring to the do-it-yourself trend as "good mental health" for families, Mrs. Stubbs said:

"True, parents can complete the project in record time perhaps, but how will John learn if he is not allowed the opportunity by trial and error?"

Louisiana Tornado Injures Baby Girl

HOUMA, La. (AP) — A tornado early today destroyed two homes and injured a baby girl at Bourg, about 10 miles southeast of here. Two other houses were badly damaged.

The year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raynold Detriveaus, received a head cut when the Detriveaus home crumbled.

High winds also damaged nearby settlements of Montegut and Little Calliou, but no casualties were reported.

TB Victim Gets Prison Sentence

AKRON (AP)—Wilbert Roper, 35, given a 50-50 chance to recover from tuberculosis, was sentenced to life in prison for second degree murder today.

Roper sat in a wheel chair in a room in a local tuberculosis sanitorium as Common Pleas Judge Stephen C. Colopy pronounced sentence. Roper had pleaded guilty to stabbing his wife, Bernice, during a quarrel last October.

He will be transferred to Ohio Penitentiary Friday, where he will be kept in the prison hospital.

2 Die in Crash; 3 Electrocuted In Rescue Attempt

MAHNOMEN, Minn. (AP) — Two persons were killed today when their car sheared off a power pole and three would-be rescuers were electrocuted in attempts to remove the dead and injured from the wreckage.

Killed when their car went into a ditch and struck the pole were William E. Schultz, 28, of Winger, Minn., the driver, and Donald Haugen, 21, also of Winger.

The first car on the scene was driven by Marvin Duncan Jr., 18, Fosston, Minn. Both he and his passenger, Arnold Rolf, 18, of Fosston, were killed by electric shock when they went to the Schultz car. The same fate met Clark Hoidahi, 21, also of Winger, who came along in another car and also sought to aid the accident victims.

Medium Price Cars Said Holding Own

DETROIT (AP) – Medium price automobiles are resisting further invasion of their market by lower price makes, Ward's Automotive Reports said in its current issue.

The trade publication said:

"On the basis of March new car sales noted thus far, the low-price field models are continuing to garner 60 per cent of the new auto market.

"This means that between 10,000 and 15,000 persons daily are treking to the showrooms for such cars, which is equal to the pace at the same time a year ago.

"Accordingly, despite the unexpectedly high increase in '57 auto prices, there has not been any further withdrawal of medium price car buyers into the low-price class this year."

Olympic Athletes Get Marriage OK

VIENNA (AP) — Harold Connolly, U. S. Olympics hammer throw champ, disclosed today that the Communist Czech government has given him permission to wed Olga Fikotova, the Czech Olympic discus star.

In a telephone call from the home of his fiance's parents in Prague, Harold said he and Olga would be married in the Czech capital on March 27.

He said the Czechs had given Olga permission to leave the country at any time and he plans to take her as his bride to Boston, Mass., where he is a high school history teacher.

Chicago Deb Is Bride of Vanderbilt

CHICAGO (AP)—A former Chicago debutante, who had ambitions for a stage career, has become the third wife of Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, multi-millionaire sportsman, her parents disclosed Wednesday.

Vanderbilt, 44-year-old heir to one of America's greatest fortunes and Jean Harvey, 20, member of a socially prominent and pioneer Chicago family, were married in Mexico City March 12, her parents said.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Daggett Harvey, said none of the family members attended the wedding. She added that Vanderbilt and his bride now are in Florida and probably will live in his Long Island, N. Y., home.

Vanderbilt, owner of Native Dancer among other famed race horses, was divorced last December by Mrs. Jeanne Murray Vanderbilt in Gooding, Idaho. They had two children. His first marriage, to the former Manuela Hudson in 1938, ended in divorce in 1942. They had a daughter.

In recent months Miss Harvey had been in New York City studying dramatics in preparation for a stage career and Vanderbilt had been her frequent escort.

Aleutians Suffer Big Quake Damage

Ward Walls, Anchorage commercial photographer, toured the Aleutian Island chain where more than 80 aftershocks have been felt since the heavy March 9 quake that caused Pacific tidal waves.

Wells said most of the damage was on Adak, midway in the island chain. He said some roads there have splits 15 feet wide and 8 feet deep and road guardrails "look like they had been put in by some drunk."

Stiff Penalty Comes With 40th Arrest

PAINESVILLE (AP)—Clarence H. Boyce, 34, of Painesville, was sent to jail for 60 days on a drunken driving conviction Wednesday in Painesville Municipal Court following his 40th arrest in Lake County since 1941. He also was fined $200 and costs and his driver's license was suspended for three years.

Police records show Boyce had been arrested 12 times previously for drunken driving, 8 times for driving while his license was under suspension and 16 times for intoxication. Police said he also had been arrested for assault and battery and robbery.

Panel Briefed on Types of School Survey

Citizens Committee Asks Cost Estimate on OSU-Miami Study

The Fayette County Citizens Committee took its first concrete step toward a comprehensive survey of city - county school problems Wednesday night with a formal request that Dr. W. R. Flesher, of Ohio State University's Bureau of Educational Research, submit cost estimates on such a study to be made probably in collaboration with Miami University.

The committee, which at its last meeting agreed to contact a minimum of three survey agencies, asked Dr. Flesher to submit a series of alternate proposals on variations of scope in a general survey pattern.

An OSU-Miami team would be regarded as a single survey agency, as far as the committee is concerned.

The invitation was incorporated in a motion by committee member Edward J. Cunningham which was approved unanimously. The alternate cost estimates, which will in no way obligate the committee or the three participating boards of education, probably will be ready for committee consideration at the board's regular meeting next Thursday night.

* * *

LAST NIGHT'S session was on special call of Chairman Carl Janes to hear Dr. Flesher explain the various types of surveys, their availability, scope and cost.

A specialist in on- the-scene studies of school facilities and problems, Dr. Flesher only hinted at the cost to Fayette County when he pointed out that Middletown recently paid $9,500 for a comprehensive survey on which 20 members of the OSU Research Bureau staff worked. He indicated that a local study along the broadest lines discussed Wednesday night might run close to that figure.

Dr. Flesher's teams do not work for citizens committees, he emphasized. Surveys are made only on authority of boards of education, and the three boards in Fayette County have indicated their desire

U. N. Aide Confers With Egypt Chief

CAIRO (AP) — U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold today began talks with top Egyptian officials in an effort to speed agreement on operation of the Suez Canal and to ease Arab-Israeli tensions still threatening the Middle East with violence.

Arriving in Cairo after midnight by plane, Hammarskjold talked with his aides, rested briefly at his hotel and then went to see Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmound Fawzi.

Egypt was expected to balk at the plea Hammarskjold reportedly will make for an Egyptian-Israeli proclamation of nonbelligerency.

It was believed Hammarskjold would call for such pledges as a major curb against renewed warfare and that Israel would agree to go along. The Israelis have said all along they are ready to talk peace with the Arabs.

The Arab allies of the 1948 Palestine War have refused to talk peace with the Israelis. They have used the continuing technical state of war as a basis for their economic boycott of Israel and their refusal to let Israeli ships use the Suez Canal and the Gulf of Aqaba. There appeared little hope Egypt would modify that position in the current talks with Hammarskjold.

* * *

THE SECRETARY general was smiling as he stepped from the plane that brought him on his fifth visit to Egypt in little more than a year. He declined to make any statement to reporters.

A U.N. press spokesman said he did not know whether Hammarskjold would visit the canal area and the Gaza Strip or how long he would remain in Egypt.

For the Gaza Strip, Hammarskjold was expected to try to work out a plan that would neutralize the Mediterranean coastal area militarily while leaving it under Egyptian administration.

He will urge the stationing of UNEF troops along both sides of the border separating Gaza and Israel, a proposal Israel rejected previously.

In Jerusalem, Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion predicted another Arab-Israeli war is possible although probably not within the next few months. A letter from Ben-Gurion to border settlements contained the warning.

Israeli Foreign Minister Golda Meir left New York by plane Wednesday for Israel after emergency talks with Secretary of State Dulles and Hammarskjold. She said her talks with Dulles convinced her that U.S. and Israeli objectives in the Middle East are identical. But informed sources said she failed to win any assurances beyond those already publicly stated by Dulles and Eisenhower.

Greeks Turn Down British Suggestion

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Greek Cypriots and the Greek government have rejected a British-approved offer by NATO to mediate for peace on Cyprus.

British Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd told the House of Commons Wednesday London was willing to let the North Atlantic Treaty Organization try to settle the controversy over the strategic British colonial island in the east Mediterranean. The plane was for NATO to attempt conciliation among Britain, Greece and Turkey—all NATO members.

Lockbourne Airman Killed in Crash

COLUMBUS (AP)—Leean J. Adkins, 33, of Lockbourne Air Force Base, was killed early today in a collision at the junction of U. S. 23 and Ohio 665, about four miles west of the base.

Adkins was tentatively identified as a master sergeant assigned to the 91st Air Refueling Squadron. Robert L. Wood, 26, of Wilkesboro, N. C., driver of the other car, was injured, but patrolmen said William C. Sloop of North Wilkesboro, N. C., a passenger, escaped injury.

Coal Pipeline Clogs Up on Steep Hill

CARROLLTON (AP)—One reason the world's longest coal pipeline clogged and won't open on April 9 as scheduled is that pumps wouldn't force the slurry up a steep hill south of here, the Cleveland Plain Dealer reports.

In a deep wooded ravine about five miles south of here, a Plain Dealer reporter located a hastily excavated pond containing tons of slurry emptied from the clogged line. The slurry is a mixture of powdered coal and water, about half and half. Some of the coal particles in the mixture were larger than the line could carry up a steep grade, the newspaper said it had learned.

Since the 108-mile - long, $12½ million pipeline broke down in its first major test four weeks ago, Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Co. has rebuffed newsmen's attempts to find out what went wrong.

The line is of 10¾-inch steel welded in 40-foot links and runs from the southeastern Ohio coal fields to the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co.'s generating plant on Lake Erie's shore. It is designed to handle 150 tons of coal an hour or 1,300,000 tons a year at a saving of up to 50 per cent over rail freight costs.

The bog-down came in the first leg of the pipeline south of Cadiz and the second pumping station at Carrollton.

Teamster Aide And Organizer May Be Called

Senate Probers Hear Of Auto Bought for Official's Girl Friend

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Enquirer said today it has learned that William Presser of Cleveland, president of the Ohio Conference of Teamsters, and Ralph Vanni of Detroit, a Teamsters organizer, are "high on the list" of witnesses likely to be called before the Senate Rackets Investigation Committee in Washington

Presser has been administrator of Teamsters' Local 114, Bakery Drivers of America, of Cincinnati since it was put into trusteeship by the International Union 17 months ago.

Spokesmen for Local 114 said Presser has advised them he would back their demands for an end to the trusteeship which was set up by James Hoffa, another high-ranking Teamster official who is under fire by Senate investigators.

In Cleveland, it was reported Wednesday that Presser has been ordered to appear before a federal grand jury in New York Friday. Presser asserted he had no idea why he was called.

* * *

THE FEDERAL subpoena, however, said Presser would be questioned about an alleged conspiracy to commit an offense against or to defraud the government.

In Columbus, an Akron state senator today asked the Ohio Legislature to petition Congress to take immediate steps against the Teamsters Union.

Sen. Fred W. Danner, a Republican, offered a resolution urging Congress to take action to permit members of the teamsters "and others similarly situated" to withdraw from their union without jeopardizing their jobs.

The resolution also urges that funds of the union be impounded until the investigation is ended "and positive protective measures enacted."

And in Toledo, a top Teamsters

574 Southwestern Ohio Pupils Enter Science Displays

OXFORD (AP)—Working exhibits ranging from a transistor to cancer research have been entered by 574 pupils from 10 southwestern Ohio counties in the 10th annual Miami University Science Day for high schools, scheduled here Saturday in cooperation with the Ohio Academy of Science.

Entry blanks have indicated the display will include a color TV explanation, a steam engine, a transistor, a telescope, various chemical reaction charts; extensive collections of butterflies, birds' eggs, rocks and fossils of southwestern Ohio, and numerous other examples of teen-agers' efforts to carry science study far beyond basic classroom requirements. The Miami exhibit serves as a qualifying show for Clinton, Adams, Brown, Butler, Clermont, Hamilton, Miami, Montgomery, Preble and Warren counties.

Mideast Crisis Heads List Of Ike-Mac Parley Topics

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda (AP) President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Macmillan assigned top priority to the Middle East crisis, including Suez and Egyptian-Israel problems, at the opening of their formal negotiations here today.

The session opened in the drawing room of the Mid-Ocean Club where chiefs of the two governments met with advisers.

Real start of the top level quest for fullscale restoration of the British - American partnership in world affairs began at a three-hour dinner Wednesday night, however, when the President and Prime Minister and secretaries of state reviewed world issues.

As a result of that talk, the Middle East crisis was put first as a topic of discussion.

While no announcement was made, it seemed probable that second position for discussion would be Britain's plans for cutbacks in its worldwide military commitments.

American officials foresaw a serious possibility the United States may have to make new commitments of its own to keep the free world's military guard up in the face of continual Soviet expansion.

A meshing of U.S. and British defense plans was assured a high place on the agenda, as was the tangle of urgent Middle East issues involving both countries.

Diplomats said the President and Prime Minister, together with Secretary of State Dulles, Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and other officials, probably would hold two meetings daily through Saturday.

* * *

THE TWO government chiefs in statements made on their arrival Wednesday both expressed confidence their Bermuda meeting would result in a strengthening of British - American cooperation in world affairs.

Their advisers agreed privately that this hope can be realized only if the two men can arrive at agreements or better understandings on some very tough problems.

The issue of Britain's military cutbacks is in this class.

Macmillan came determined to tell Eisenhower that because of sagging finances at home, Britain must retrench.

The United States so far has not been fully and officially informed of Britain's plans. Washington knows Britain in the next year will call home some 13,000 of the 80,000 men it has in West Germany, an announced plan.

Qualified informants said Britain also is planning to withdraw most of its 5,000 troops in South Korea, but the United States has not had official notification of this, or of what will happen to British commitments in Hong Kong, Singapore, Malaya and Libya.

The Americans do not expect any early British cuts of importance in Cyprus, Malta and Gibraltar. But they want firm information from Macmillan covering all such points.

Cancer Fight Sees 'Exciting' Progress

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Exciting" progress in medical studies of viruses as a possible cause and cure of cancer has been reported to Congress.

Among other things, Congress has been told that medical researchers of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases have now been able to "train" certain virus strains capable of destroying living human cancers growing in rats.

And Dr. John R. Heller, director of the National Cancer Institute, described virus findings as "very exciting in the last year or so." He said research has learned that certain virus strains can "literally knock a hole" in some forms of cancer.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Daggett Harvey, said none of the family members attended the wedding. She added that Vanderbilt and his bride now are in Florida and probably will live in his Long Island, N. Y., home.

Vanderbilt, owner of Native Dancer among other famed race horses, was divorced last December by Mrs. Jeanne Murray Vanderbilt in Gooding, Idaho. They had two children. His first marriage, to the former Manuela Hudson in 1938, ended in divorce in 1942. They had a daughter.

In recent months Miss Harvey had been in New York City studying dramatics in preparation for a stage career and Vanderbilt had been her frequent escort.

Aleutians Suffer Big Quake Damage

Ward Walls, Anchorage commercial photographer, toured the Aleutian Island chain where more than 80 aftershocks have been felt since the heavy March 9 quake that caused Pacific tidal waves.

Wells said most of the damage was on Adak, midway in the island chain. He said some roads there have splits 15 feet wide and 8 feet deep and road guardrails "look like they had been put in by some drunk."

Stiff Penalty Comes With 40th Arrest

PAINESVILLE (AP)—Clarence H. Boyce, 34, of Painesville, was sent to jail for 60 days on a drunken driving conviction Wednesday in Painesville Municipal Court following his 40th arrest in Lake County since 1941. He also was fined $200 and costs and his driver's license was suspended for three years.

Police records show Boyce had been arrested 12 times previously for drunken driving, 8 times for driving while his license was under suspension and 16 times for intoxication. Police said he also had been arrested for assault and battery and robbery.

Panel Briefed on Types of School Survey

Citizens Committee Asks Cost Estimate on OSU-Miami Study

The Fayette County Citizens Committee took its first concrete step toward a comprehensive survey of city - county school problems Wednesday night with a formal request that Dr. W. R. Flesher, of Ohio State University's Bureau of Educational Research, submit cost estimates on such a study to be made probably in collaboration with Miami University.

The committee, which at its last meeting agreed to contact a minimum of three survey agencies, asked Dr. Flesher to submit a series of alternate proposals on variations of scope in a general survey pattern.

An OSU-Miami team would be regarded as a single survey agency, as far as the committee is concerned.

The invitation was incorporated in a motion by committee member Edward J. Cunningham which was approved unanimously. The alternate cost estimates, which will in no way obligate the committee or the three participating boards of education, probably will be ready for committee consideration at the board's regular meeting next Thursday night.

* * *

LAST NIGHT'S session was on special call of Chairman Carl Janes to hear Dr. Flesher explain the various types of surveys, their availability, scope and cost.

A specialist in on- the-scene studies of school facilities and problems, Dr. Flesher only hinted at the cost to Fayette County when he pointed out that Middletown recently paid $9,500 for a comprehensive survey on which 20 members of the OSU Research Bureau staff worked. He indicated that a local study along the broadest lines discussed Wednesday night might run close to that figure.

Dr. Flesher's teams do not work for citizens committees, he emphasized. Surveys are made only on authority of boards of education, and the three boards in Fayette County have indicated their desire

U. N. Aide Confers With Egypt Chief

CAIRO (AP) — U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold today began talks with top Egyptian officials in an effort to speed agreement on operation of the Suez Canal and to ease Arab-Israeli tensions still threatening the Middle East with violence.

Arriving in Cairo after midnight by plane, Hammarskjold talked with his aides, rested briefly at his hotel and then went to see Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmound Fawzi.

Egypt was expected to balk at the plea Hammarskjold reportedly will make for an Egyptian-Israeli proclamation of nonbelligerency.

It was believed Hammarskjold would call for such pledges as a major curb against renewed warfare and that Israel would agree to go along. The Israelis have said all along they are ready to talk peace with the Arabs.

The Arab allies of the 1948 Palestine War have refused to talk peace with the Israelis. They have used the continuing technical state of war as a basis for their economic boycott of Israel and their refusal to let Israeli ships use the Suez Canal and the Gulf of Aqaba. There appeared little hope Egypt would modify that position in the current talks with Hammarskjold.

* * *

THE SECRETARY general was smiling as he stepped from the plane that brought him on his fifth visit to Egypt in little more than a year. He declined to make any statement to reporters.

A U.N. press spokesman said he did not know whether Hammarskjold would visit the canal area and the Gaza Strip or how long he would remain in Egypt.

For the Gaza Strip, Hammarskjold was expected to try to work out a plan that would neutralize the Mediterranean coastal area militarily while leaving it under Egyptian administration.

He will urge the stationing of UNEF troops along both sides of the border separating Gaza and Israel, a proposal Israel rejected previously.

In Jerusalem, Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion predicted another Arab-Israeli war is possible although probably not within the next few months. A letter from Ben-Gurion to border settlements contained the warning.

Israeli Foreign Minister Golda Meir left New York by plane Wednesday for Israel after emergency talks with Secretary of State Dulles and Hammarskjold. She said her talks with Dulles convinced her that U.S. and Israeli objectives in the Middle East are identical. But informed sources said she failed to win any assurances beyond those already publicly stated by Dulles and Eisenhower.

Greeks Turn Down British Suggestion

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Greek Cypriots and the Greek government have rejected a British-approved offer by NATO to mediate for peace on Cyprus.

British Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd told the House of Commons Wednesday London was willing to let the North Atlantic Treaty Organization try to settle the controversy over the strategic British colonial island in the east Mediterranean. The plane was for NATO to attempt conciliation among Britain, Greece and Turkey—all NATO members.

Lockbourne Airman Killed in Crash

COLUMBUS (AP)—Leean J. Adkins, 33, of Lockbourne Air Force Base, was killed early today in a collision at the junction of U. S. 23 and Ohio 665, about four miles west of the base.

Adkins was tentatively identified as a master sergeant assigned to the 91st Air Refueling Squadron. Robert L. Wood, 26, of Wilkesboro, N. C., driver of the other car, was injured, but patrolmen said William C. Sloop of North Wilkesboro, N. C., a passenger, escaped injury.

Teamster Aide And Organizer May Be Called

Senate Probers Hear Of Auto Bought for Official's Girl Friend

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Enquirer said today it has learned that William Presser of Cleveland, president of the Ohio Conference of Teamsters, and Ralph Vanni of Detroit, a Teamsters organizer, are "high on the list" of witnesses likely to be called before the Senate Rackets Investigation Committee in Washington

Presser has been administrator of Teamsters' Local 114, Bakery Drivers of America, of Cincinnati since it was put into trusteeship by the International Union 17 months ago.

Spokesmen for Local 114 said Presser has advised them he would back their demands for an end to the trusteeship which was set up by James Hoffa, another high-ranking Teamster official who is under fire by Senate investigators.

In Cleveland, it was reported Wednesday that Presser has been ordered to appear before a federal grand jury in New York Friday. Presser asserted he had no idea why he was called.

* * *

THE FEDERAL subpoena, however, said Presser would be questioned about an alleged conspiracy to commit an offense against or to defraud the government.

In Columbus, an Akron state senator today asked the Ohio Legislature to petition Congress to take immediate steps against the Teamsters Union.

Sen. Fred W. Danner, a Republican, offered a resolution urging Congress to take action to permit members of the teamsters "and others similarly situated" to withdraw from their union without jeopardizing their jobs.

The resolution also urges that funds of the union be impounded until the investigation is ended "and positive protective measures enacted."

Coal Pipeline Clogs Up on Steep Hill

CARROLLTON (AP)—One reason the world's longest coal pipeline clogged and won't open on April 9 as scheduled is that pumps wouldn't force the slurry up a steep hill south of here, the Cleveland Plain Dealer reports.

In a deep wooded ravine about five miles south of here, a Plain Dealer reporter located a hastily excavated pond containing tons of slurry emptied from the clogged line. The slurry is a mixture of powdered coal and water, about half and half. Some of the coal particles in the mixture were larger than the line could carry up a steep grade, the newspaper said it had learned.

Since the 108-mile - long, $12½ million pipeline broke down in its first major test four weeks ago, Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Co. has rebuffed newsmen's attempts to find out what went wrong.

The line is of 10¾-inch steel welded in 40-foot links and runs from the southeastern Ohio coal fields to the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co.'s generating plant on Lake Erie's shore. It is designed to handle 150 tons of coal an hour or 1,300,000 tons a year at a saving of up to 50 per cent over rail freight costs.

The bog-down came in the first leg of the pipeline south of Cadiz and the second pumping station at Carrollton.

574 Southwestern Ohio Pupils Enter Science Displays

OXFORD (AP)—Working exhibits ranging from a transistor to cancer research have been entered by 574 pupils from 10 southwestern Ohio counties in the 10th annual Miami University Science Day for high schools, scheduled here Saturday in cooperation with the Ohio Academy of Science.

Entry blanks have indicated the display will include a color TV explanation, a steam engine, a transistor, a telescope, various chemical reaction charts; extensive collections of butterflies, birds' eggs, rocks and fossils of southwestern Ohio, and numerous other examples of teen-agers' efforts to carry science study far beyond basic classroom requirements. The Miami exhibit serves as a qualifying show for Clinton, Adams, Brown, Butler, Clermont, Hamilton, Miami, Montgomery, Preble and Warren counties.

Mideast Crisis Heads List Of Ike-Mac Parley Topics

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda (AP) President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Macmillan assigned top priority to the Middle East crisis, including Suez and Egyptian-Israel problems, at the opening of their formal negotiations here today.

The session opened in the drawing room of the Mid-Ocean Club where chiefs of the two governments met with advisers.

Real start of the top level quest for fullscale restoration of the British - American partnership in world affairs began at a three-hour dinner Wednesday night, however, when the President and Prime Minister and secretaries of state reviewed world issues.

As a result of that talk, the Middle East crisis was put first as a topic of discussion.

While no announcement was made, it seemed probable that second position for discussion would be Britain's plans for cutbacks in its worldwide military commitments.

American officials foresaw a serious possibility the United States may have to make new commitments of its own to keep the free world's military guard up in the face of continual Soviet expansion.

A meshing of U.S. and British defense plans was assured a high place on the agenda, as was the tangle of urgent Middle East issues involving both countries.

Diplomats said the President and Prime Minister, together with Secretary of State Dulles, Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and other officials, probably would hold two meetings daily through Saturday.

* * *

THE TWO government chiefs in statements made on their arrival Wednesday both expressed confidence their Bermuda meeting would result in a strengthening of British - American cooperation in world affairs.

Their advisers agreed privately that this hope can be realized only if the two men can arrive at agreements or better understandings on some very tough problems.

The issue of Britain's military cutbacks is in this class.

Macmillan came determined to tell Eisenhower that because of sagging finances at home, Britain must retrench.

The United States so far has not been fully and officially informed of Britain's plans. Washington knows Britain in the next year will call home some 13,000 of the 80,000 men it has in West Germany, an announced plan.

Qualified informants said Britain also is planning to withdraw most of its 5,000 troops in South Korea, but the United States has not had official information of this, or of what will open to British commitments in Hong Kong, Singapore, Malaya and Libya.

The Americans do not expect any early British cuts of importance in Cyprus, Malta and Gibraltar. But they want firm information from Macmillan covering all such points.

Cancer Fight Sees 'Exciting' Progress

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Exciting" progress in medical studies of viruses as a possible cause and cure of cancer has been reported to Congress.

Among other things, Congress has been told that medical researchers of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases have now been able to "train" certain virus strains capable of destroying living human cancers growing in rats.

And Dr. John R. Heller, director of the National Cancer Institute, described virus findings as "very exciting in the last year or so." He said research has learned that certain virus strains can "literally knock a hole" in some forms of cancer.

Letters Given At Bloomingburg Athletic Dinner

Father Connelly Says Religion and Sports Go Hand in Hand

More than 110 students and alumni of Bloomingburg High School heard Father Richard J. Connelly say that athletics and religion go hand in hand, when he addressed the school's annual athletic banquet at the Washington C. H. Country Club Wednesday evening.

Basketball letters were presented, and gifts were given to several who have played an important role in the Bulldog's athletic progress over the past year.

Don Hidy, who hit an astounding 77 per cent of his foul shots during the championship Bloomingburg basketball season, was presented the season's foul shooting trophy. Don Welsh, close behind with 69 per cent, was presented the second place cup.

A flashy new sport coat was given by the basketball team to their coach, Everett Rudolph, who led it almost to the top of the district tournament at Clay High School in Scioto County last month.

G. H. Biddle, principal of the Bloomingburg School, congratulated the team and its coach on their performance this season.

Mrs. Norris Crissinger played dinner music and Mrs. Charles McCoy supervised the decoration of the hall in red and white, the school colors.

FB Council Opposed to Rural Zoning

The Concord Farm Bureau Council No. 1 took a firm stand against rural zoning in general, and particularly in Concord Twp., at its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam B. Marting.

A general discussion of rural zoning by Farm Bureau Councils was recommended by the county council leadership some time ago, and the subject held the center of interest at the meeting of the No. 1 Council.

At the conclusion of the discussion, the 13 members of the council at the meeting voted unanimously in opposition to zoning in Concord Twp.

This stand was directly opposite to that taken by Council No. 2 of Concord Twp.

Frank Sollars, a trustee of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation and a member of its legislative committee, reported on the committee's visit to Washington, D. C., to talk over farm legislation with senators and congressmen. A conference with Secretary of Agriculture Benson also was described.

After adjournment of the meeting, Mr. and Mrs. Marting served refreshments.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Case.

Some 2,000,000 people visit the Lincoln Memorial in Washington, D. C., each year. No other national shrine or park attracts so large an audience.

500 Legionnaires Expected At Patrol Conference Here

Although there are 1,573 auxiliary state Highway Patrol members in this 29-county region, only around 500 of them are expected to attend the auxiliary patrol conference in Washington C. H. May 26.

This estimate was made Thursday morning by Robert Jefferson of Bloomingburg, captain of the Fayette County unit, following the Wednesday night captain's conference he attended at the Highway Patrol station in Wilmington.

This will be the first of three regional conferences to be held in the state during May under sponsorship of the Highway Patrol.

The conference is to be held in the Washington C. H. High School auditorium from noon until 3 p. m. without a break. Jefferson said the starting time had been delayed in order that the auxiliary patrolmen may attend church.

Gov. C. William O'Neill is to address the group at 2 p. m., Jefferson said. He has not said what his subject will be, although it is expected to be related to traffic safety and, possibly, civilian defense.

* * *

THE CONFERENCE is to wind up with "refresher courses" on the training the auxiliary patrolmen undergo continuously. For this, they will be divided into smaller groups, Jefferson said.

Speakers scheduled for the afternoon include James R. Wilson, director of the national security division of the American Legion; representatives from Ohio Civil Defense headquarters and officers from Highway Patrol headquarters in Columbus, including Col. George Mingle, the superintendent.

Arrangements will be in charge of Lieut. A. B. Cook of district 8 patrol headquarters at Wilmington; district 8 auxiliary Major Martin V. Coffey of Middletown, and Charles Davis, Jr., of Greenfield, auxiliary district 8 executive officer.

They will be assisted by District 6 Auxiliary Major William S. Konold of Columbus and his executive officer, J. L. Worrell of Columbus, and District 9 Auxiliary Major R. S. Williams of Oak Hill and his executive officer H. E. Abele of McArthur.

Floyd R. Hartpence, auxiliary major-at-large and chairman of the Auxiliary Advisory Council, will preside. Hartpence is a former state commander of the American Legion and has headed the Advisory Council since the Auxiliary patrol was established. He is superintendent of the Ohio Soldiers and Sailors Orphans Home at Xenia.

* * *

THE THREE REGIONAL conferences are to replace the large state wide convention. The plan was advanced this year by the Advisory Council on a test basis. Its aim is to encourage a large participation of Auxiliary members and establish an instructional conference not possible with a large group. Massillon and Lima are the sites of the two other sessions.

The session here will include auxiliarymen from Adams, Athens, Brown, Butler, Clermont, Clinton, Delaware, Fairfield, Fayette, Franklin, Gallia, Greene, Hamilton, Highland, Hocking, Jackson, Knox, Lawrence, Licking, Madison, Meigs, Perry, Pickaway, Pike, Ross, Scioto, Union, Vinton and Warren Counties.

The Auxiliary Highway Patrol is made up of more than 5,000 American Legionnaires and is organized by county groups, supervised by the Patrol's 54 post headquarters. The organization was established at the beginning of World War II and members regularly assist highway patrolmen in routine duties as well as being trained for emergency service in case of natural disaster or enemy attack.

Jefferson said the Legion Hall here would be closed during the conference, but that it would be opened at 3 p. m. for the serving of sandwiches on a "Dutch treat" basis.

Some of the auxiliary patrolmen are expected to come in Saturday, but no entertainment has been planned for that night for the early arrivals, Jefferson said. Most of the conferees are expected to arrive during Sunday morning, many of them in time for dinner.

Few are expected to remain long after the conference.

Greenfield Junk Dealer Fined In Connection with Theft Probes

GREENFIELD — (Special) —A Greenfield junk dealer was fined $500 and costs in a Hilisboro magistrate's court for failing to keep accurate purchase records.

The fine, levied on Charles Cohen of Paint St., Greenfield, marked the latest development in the three-county investigation of the winter - long crime career of Greenfield man, youth and girl.

Norman Carson, Highland County deputy sheriff, filed the charge after some of the trio's admitted thievery loot was recovered at Cohen's place, where they said they had sold it.

Carson said state law requires junk dealers to keep records and descriptions of their purchases. He said Cohen had no such records available when officers went to his establishment while investigating the 30-odd thefts the juveniles have admitted.

* * *

CARSON quoted Cohen as saying, first, that he "would not" tell him who sold him certain articles. Later, Carson said, Cohen changed his story and said he could not remember.

Justice of the Peace David Boothby suspended $475 of the fine, on condition that Cohen set up an accurate bookkeeping system within six months.

Officers in Fayette, Ross and Highland counties were still at work today, trying to unravel the story of crime told by the three. The trail apparently led back and forth across the three counties.

Other arrests were possible still forthcoming, officials at the Ross County Sheriff's office said.

Sheriff Orland Hays of Fayette County said that robberies in Fayette County admitted by the juveniles include breakins at the farms of Wayne Manahan, Jr., and Ervin Ritter, as well as an unoccupied farm owned by James Hendricks.

S. A. Ringer of Leesburg was informed by the Highland County sheriff's office of the recovery of a .410-guage shotgun stolen by the trio from his farm near Deveil's Den, east of Leesburg. He also found his bird-cage and some dishes among the recovered articles there.

He reported he had visited the farm to feed livestock over the past several weeks but was unaware the house had been ransacked.

A machet (bolo knife) and scabbard and some record albums were still missing, Ringer said. His 250-gallon gasoline tank was reported emptied, and he added that the young people also apparently spent the night in his house.

Jury Is Selected In Assault Case

The case of State of Ohio against Lawrence Snyder, indicted for felonious assault on a 10-year-old boy, and now being tried before Judge John H. Houston, of Brown County and a jury, was continuing to drag along Thursday, with indications it might require another day or two to complete.

The jury sitting in the case is composed of Horace Jacobs, Cora Grice, George LeBeau Jr., Shirley Ferneau, Janice Snapp, Fred Vanschoyck, Clarence Cooper, Dana Kellenberger, Leona Sears, Fred Dement, H. F. Overschlake and Olive McCardle.

Defense witnesses are Herchel S. Snyder, Mrs. Roxanna Snyder, Mrs. Rachel Cox, Mrs. Nancy Snyder, Lawrence Cox, Mrs. Betty Huff, Sam Cox and Hershel L. Snyder.

Frank Sollars

* * *

SOLLARS HAS just returned last week from a trip to Washington, D. C., where he, as a representative of the Farm Bureau, discussed farm problems with Ohio legislators in the capital.

Married, he and Mrs. Sollars have two children, Stevie, 2, and Bryan, 13 months.

He is a district trustee of the Farm Bureau, past-president of the Ohio Federation of Soil Conservation Districts and has been active with the grange and Lions Club.

As the Outstanding Young Farmer from the state of Ohio, Sollars has been invited to be a candidate in the finals for the National award which will take place at Durham, N. C., in April.

The award was presented by Clarence L. Blazier, president of the Ohio Junior Chamber of Commerce, at an awards banquet culminating the Ohio Farm and Home Week at Ohio State University. Guests of honor included Sen. John W. Bricker; Novice Fawcett, president Ohio State University; and L. L. Rummell, dean of the College of Agriculture.

Keynote address was made by D. Howard Doane, a former president of the American Society of Farm Managers and Rural Appraisers. In his talk on 'Managing the Farm Business During the Next Few Years," Donae emphasized the need for good farm management practices. He stated that there is a greater amount of capital invested in both land and equipment now than in previous years and that an efficient farm manager can make this capital work and grow.

In addition to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sollars, others attending from Fayette County were Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Sollars, Mr. W. W. Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Nisley, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weade, and Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence Burris.

'Taper-Off' Plan For Oldsters Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Health, Education and Welfare Department says it is trying to work out a "taper-off" system of retirement to make aging employes happier and more useful.

Rufus E. Miles Jr., the department's director of administration, mentioned the plan to a House Appropriations Subcommittee.

Miles said the department wants "to explore the possibility of new ways within government of having older people taper off on their jobs rather than come up to the end and retire all of a sudden" and "to make better use of people as they get into the later years."

Trailer License Deadline Nears

County Auditor Harry Allen issued a warning Thursday that owners of home trailers have only until March 31 to obtain their county license tags.

Last year 85 such licenses were issued by the auditor's office here, but thus far this year only nine applications have been made.

The licenses cost $18, and every home trailer owner is liable to a fine of $50 for failure to obtain a license and tag before April 1.

The number of home trailers has been increasing in the county each year.

Reason, the paper said, is that after telling each other of large catches they found the prices on shore decreased as fast as their reports increased.

Letters Given At Bloomingburg Athletic Dinner

Father Connelly Says Religion and Sports Go Hand in Hand

More than 110 students and alumni of Bloomingburg High School heard Father Richard J. Connelly say that athletics and religion go hand in hand, when he addressed the school's annual athletic banquet at the Washington C. H. Country Club Wednesday evening.

Basketball letters were presented, and gifts were given to several who have played an important role in the Bulldog's athletic progress over the past year.

Don Hidy, who hit an astounding 77 per cent of his foul shots during the championship Bloomingburg basketball season, was presented the season's foul shooting trophy. Don Welsh, close behind with 69 per cent, was presented the second place cup.

A flashy new sport coat was given by the basketball team to their coach, Everett Rudolph, who led it almost to the top of the district tournament at Clay High School in Scioto County last month.

G. H. Biddle, principal of the Bloomingburg School, congratulated the team and its coach on their performance this season.

Mrs. Norris Crissinger played dinner music and Mrs. Charles McCoy supervised the decoration of the hall in red and white, the school colors.

FB Council Opposed to Rural Zoning

The Concord Farm Bureau Council No. 1 took a firm stand against rural zoning in general, and particularly in Concord Twp., at its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam B. Marting.

A general discussion of rural zoning by Farm Bureau Councils was recommended by the county council leadership some time ago, and the subject held the center of interest at the meeting of the No. 1 Council.

At the conclusion of the discussion, the 13 members of the council at the meeting voted unanimously in opposition to zoning in Concord Twp.

This stand was directly opposite to that taken by Council No. 2 of Concord Twp.

Frank Sollars, a trustee of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation and a member of its legislative committee, reported on the committee's visit to Washington, D. C., to talk over farm legislation with senators and congressmen. A conference with Secretary of Agriculture Benson also was described.

After adjournment of the meeting, Mr. and Mrs. Marting served refreshments.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Case.

Some 2,000,000 people visit the Lincoln Memorial in Washington, D. C., each year. No other national shrine or park attracts so large an audience.

500 Legionnaires Expected At Patrol Conference Here

Although there are 1,573 auxiliary state Highway Patrol members in this 29-county region, only around 500 of them are expected to attend the auxiliary patrol conference in Washington C. H. May 26.

This estimate was made Thursday morning by Robert Jefferson of Bloomingburg, captain of the Fayette County unit, following the Wednesday night captain's conference he attended at the Highway Patrol station in Wilmington.

This will be the first of three regional conferences to be held in the state during May under sponsorship of the Highway Patrol.

The conference is to be held in the Washington C. H. High School auditorium from noon until 3 p. m. without a break. Jefferson said the starting time had been delayed in order that the auxiliary patrolmen may attend church.

Gov. C. William O'Neill is to address the group at 2 p. m., Jefferson said. He has not said what his subject will be, although it is expected to be related to traffic safety and, possibly, civilian defense.

* * *

THE CONFERENCE is to wind up with "refresher courses" on the training the auxiliary patrolmen undergo continuously. For this, they will be divided into smaller groups, Jefferson said.

Speakers scheduled for the afternoon include James R. Wilson, director of the national security division of the American Legion; representatives from Ohio Civil Defense headquarters and officers from Highway Patrol headquarters in Columbus, including Col. George Mingle, the superintendent.

Arrangements will be in charge of Lieut. A. B. Cook of district 8 patrol headquarters at Wilmington; district 8 auxiliary Major Martin V. Coffey of Middletown, and Charles Davis, Jr., of Greenfield, auxiliary district 8 executive officer.

They will be assisted by District 6 Auxiliary Major William S. Konold of Columbus and his executive officer, J. L. Norrell of Columbus, and District 9 Auxiliary Major R. S. Williams of Oak Hill and his executive officer H. E. Abele of McArthur.

Floyd R. Hartpence, auxiliary major-at-large and chairman of the Auxiliary Advisory Council, will preside. Hartpence is a former state commander of the American Legion and has headed the Advisory Council since the Auxiliary patrol was established. He is superintendent of the Ohio Soldiers and Sailors Orphans Home at Xenia.

* * *

THE THREE REGIONAL conferences are to replace the large state wide convention. The plan was advanced this year by the Advisory Council on a test basis. Its aim is to encourage a large participation of Auxiliary members and establish an instructional conference not possible with a large group. Massillon and Lima are the sites of the two other sessions.

The session here will include auxiliarymen from Adams, Athens, Brown, Butler, Clermont, Clinton, Delaware, Fairfield, Fayette, Franklin, Gallia, Greene, Hamilton, Highland, Hocking, Jackson, Knox, Lawrence, Licking, Madison, Meigs, Perry, Pickaway, Pike, Ross, Scioto, Union, Vinton and Warren Counties.

The Auxiliary Highway Patrol is made up of more than 5,000 American Legionnaires and is organized by county groups, supervised by the Patrol's 54 post headquarters. The organization was established at the beginning of World War II and members regularly assist highway patrolmen in routine duties as well as being trained for emergency service in case of natural disaster or enemy attack.

Jefferson said the Legion Hall here would be closed during the conference, but that it would be opened at 3 p. m. for the serving of sandwiches on a "Dutch treat" basis.

Some of the auxiliary patrolmen are expected to come in Saturday, but no entertainment has been planned for that night for the early arrivals, Jefferson said. Most of the conferees are expected to arrive during Sunday morning, many of them in time for dinner.

Few are expected to remain long after the conference.

Greenfield Junk Dealer Fined In Connection with Theft Probes

GREENFIELD — (Special) —A Greenfield junk dealer was fined $500 and costs in a Hilisboro magistrate's court for failing to keep accurate purchase records.

The fine, levied on Charles Cohen of Paint St., Greenfield, marked the latest development in the three-county investigation of the winter - long crime career of Greenfield man, youth and girl.

Norman Carson, Highland County deputy sheriff, filed the charge after some of the trio's admitted thievery loot was recovered at Cohen's place, where they said they had sold it.

Carson said state law requires junk dealers to keep records and descriptions of their purchases. He said Cohen had no such records available when officers went to his establishment while investigating the 30-odd thefts the juveniles have admitted.

* * *

CARSON quoted Cohen as saying, first, that he "would not" tell him who sold him certain articles. Later, Carson said, Cohen changed his story and said he could not remember.

Justice of the Peace David Boothby suspended $475 of the fine, on condition that Cohen set up an accurate bookkeeping system within six months.

Officers in Fayette, Ross and Highland counties were still at work today, trying to unravel the story of crime told by the three. The trail apparently led back and forth across the three counties.

Other arrests were possible still forthcoming, officials at the Ross County Sheriff's office said.

Sheriff Orland Hays of Fayette County said that robberies in Fayette County admitted by the juveniles include breakins at the farms of Wayne Manahan, Jr., and Ervin Ritter, as well as an unoccupied farm owned by James Hendricks.

S. A. Ringer of Leesburg was informed by the Highland County sheriff's office of the recovery of a .410-guage shotgun stolen by the trio from his farm near Deveil's Den, east of Leesburg. He also found his bird-cage and some dishes among the recovered articles there.

He reported he had visited the farm to feed livestock over the past several weeks but was unaware the house had been ransacked.

A machet (bolo knife) and scabbard and some record albums were still missing, Ringer said. His 250-gallon gasoline tank was reported emptied, and he added that the young people also apparently spent the night in his house.

Jury Is Selected In Assault Case

The case of State of Ohio against Lawrence Snyder, indicted for felonious assault on a 10-year-old boy, and now being tried before Judge John H. Houston, of Brown County and a jury, was continuing to drag along Thursday, with indications it might require another day or two to complete.

The jury sitting in the case is composed of Horace Jacobs, Cora Grice, George LeBeau Jr., Shirley Ferneau, Janice Snapp, Fred Vanschoyck, Clarence Cooper, Dana Kellenberger, Leona Sears, Fred Dement, H. F. Overschlake and Olive McCardle.

Defense witnesses are Herchel S. Snyder, Mrs. Roxanna Snyder, Mrs. Rachel Cox, Mrs. Nancy Snyder, Lawrence Cox, Mrs. Betty Huff, Sam Cox and Hershel L. Snyder.

er, Walter Sollars, another prominent Fayette County farmer.

* * *

SOLLARS HAS just returned last week from a trip to Washington, D. C., where he, as a representative of the Farm Bureau, discussed farm problems with Ohio legislators in the capital.

Married, he and Mrs. Sollars have two children, Stevie, 2, and Bryan, 13 months.

He is a district trustee of the Farm Bureau, past-president of the Ohio Federation of Soil Conservation Districts and has been active with the grange and Lions Club.

As the Outstanding Young Farmer from the state of Ohio, Sollars has been invited to be a candidate in the finals for the National award which will take place at Durham, N. C., in April.

The award was presented by Clarence L. Blazier, president of the Ohio Junior Chamber of Commerce, at an awards banquet culminating the Ohio Farm and Home Week at Ohio State University. Guests of honor included Sen. John W. Bricker; Novice Fawcett, president Ohio State University; and L. L. Rummell, dean of the College of Agriculture.

Keynote address was made by D. Howard Doane, a former president of the American Society of Farm Managers and Rural Appraisers. In his talk on 'Managing the Farm Business During the Next Few Years," Donae emphasized the need for good farm management practices. He stated that there is a greater amount of capital invested in both land and equipment now than in previous years and that an efficient farm manager can make this capital work and grow.

In addition to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sollars, others attending from Fayette County were Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Sollars, Mr. W. W. Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Nisley, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weade, and Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence Burris.

'Taper-Off' Plan For Oldsters Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Health, Education and Welfare Department says it is trying to work out a "taper-off" system of retirement to make aging employes happier and more useful.

Rufus E. Miles Jr., the department's director of administration, mentioned the plan to a House Appropriations Subcommittee.

Miles said the department wants "to explore the possibility of new ways within government of having older people taper off on their jobs rather than come up to the end and retire all of a sudden" and "to make better use of people as they get into the later years."

Trailer License Deadline Nears

County Auditor Harry Allen issued a warning Thursday that owners of home trailers have only until March 31 to obtain their county license tags.

Last year 85 such licenses were issued by the auditor's office here, but thus far this year only nine applications have been made.

The licenses cost $18, and every home trailer owner is liable to a fine of $50 for failure to obtain a license and tag before April 1.

The number of home trailers has been increasing in the county each year.

Market Information

Reason, the paper said, is that after telling each other of large catches they found the prices on shore decreased as fast as their reports increased.

Will Public Ever Approve of Toll TV?

We wonder how most Fayette County TV viewers feel about the proposal being pushed in Congress to bring about paying for programs broadcast over the free airways.

If a vote were taken among all the people, our guess would be that there would be a heavy majority against it.

In Congress the Senate Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee has started a series of hearings on television and it is reported as probable that "pay-as-you-see" television will be a feature that will be much discussed and maybe acted upon.

It is said that the staff workers for the committee have recommended a "large scale test" of "tollvision" and that this idea is getting favorable consideration from committee members.

The Federal Communications Commission, which will present its own view at the hearings, has had a "rule-making procedure" on pay-as-you-see TV in progress for almost two years. The commission has been trying to decide whether it has authority under the Federal Communications Act to license any system under which viewers would be compelled to pay for programs broadcast over the free airways.

The debate over pay-as-you-see TV extends back about five years. In 1952 Zenith Radio Corporation asked F.C.C. to approve its "phone-vision" method of subscription TV. Then in November 1954 Zenith petitioned for an "immediate" authorization of commercial transmission. Also in the fight for subscription TV are Skiatron TV, Inc., with a "subscriber-vision" system, and the International Telemeter Corp., with its "telemeter" system. All methods require some kind of apparatus for coding and decoding.

Proponents of toll-TV say that it would bring better programs to viewers willing to pay for them. Also, programs such as new films or championship heavyweight prize fights, now either not available or available only to theater audiences, could be brought into the home.

That might be the theory, say opponents, but what would happen is that eventually the TV fan would have to pay for much of what he now gets free. In other words, they argue that subscription TV would soon preempt all of the best time on telecasting stations and would buy up all the best talent, leaving none but the worst available for free viewing.

For Christmas: Guns, Guns, Guns

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Ruth Handler will make more money with guns this year than Jesse James did in his whole life.

Mrs. Handler, top woman executive in the nation's $1½ billion toy industry, says the top toys of 1957 will be guns, guns, and still more guns.

The result: More toy guns (up to 13 million) will probably be sold by next Christmas than dolls.

"Little girls love guns, too," said Mrs. Handler. "They get upset if told they can't have them. They even steal them from their little brothers."

Mrs. Handler, a onetime secretary, and her husband, Elliot, a former artist, are known as "The Whiz Kids" of the toy trade.

In 1944 they were earning a bare living making plastic jewelry. Then they started turning out plastic toy furniture and grossed $100,000 the first year.

Elliot turned out to have a natural genius for creating novel toys that caught the fancy of children. Ruth showed a remarkable talent for solving production problems and marketing the toys. This year their firm, which has up to 1,000 employes in peak season at its Los Angeles plant, will do a business of nearly $10 million.

"We started on a shoestring," said Ruth, a dark-haired, vivacious woman who has two children herself. "But it takes more than a shoestring to keep going.

"You have to keep a step ahead of the rest, and be able to sense trends in advance. My husband has a sixth sense in this respect. He's a great idea man.

"Research is of great importance. Designing a good toy requires, in my opinion, a better quality of engineering than that required to do national defense work. And I think I know. We've done some defense work."

Their biggest new items this year are a thunderburp gun, which enables small fry to fire a burst of 50 caps, and the "Fanner Fifty," a toy pistol which a child can fire by hand-fanning, just as the old-time western gunmen did.

Wolfson's Empire--and the Law

By George Sokolsky

Two problems are raised by the reported plan of Louis Wolfson to purchase the American Motors Corporation:

1. It will further reduce the number of automobile manufactures in the United States, leaving practically only the three giants, General Motors, Ford and Chrysler in the field.

It is questionable whether, from a national standpoint, it is sound for any industry to become so concentrated.

On the other hand, the American Motors Corporation has been losing money in the automobile business and it is impossible to require any company to continue to manufacture a product at a loss.

As soon as an automobile company stops manufacturing automobiles and goes in for kitchen hardware, the demand in Congress grows for a monopoly investigation in this field. Certainly, if Louis Wolfson becomes dominant in the American Motors Corporation and if he gives up the automobile line and limits himself to ice-boxes and other kitchen goods, a monopoly investigation of the automobile industry must ensue. Such an investigation will lead to a sideline study of advertising.

2. In the case of Louis Wolfson, it will raise again the question of raiding and of the secret purchase of controlling interests in various companies. At present, two Congressional Committees and the SEC are delving deeply into the problem.

Concerning this, many errors of fact and judgment have crept into the public print. First of all, most raids or "take overs" are legal. If the stock of a company is for sale, anyone can buy and the outsiders can manipulate the market to their advantage.

The essential question is not that. It is where the buyers get their money. It is not illegal to get money wherever one can get it, so long as no tax deception is involved. But there is a tremendous amount of money loose in the world, some of which is "hot money" going through a process of legitimization. All of the "hot money" reaches the American borrower from an intermediate legitimate source, such as a Swiss, a London, a Venezuelan bank or through American banks with such connections. Thus the borrower has the advantage of an intermediate arrangement which makes it possible for him not to know who the beneficial or rightful owner of the money is.

Anonymous money may be innocent, but the anonymity of the ownership, the fact that the banks managing the money will not disclose the ownership engenders a suspicion that the ownership is improper.

It is known but not yet proven that some of this money is the residue of the great Nazi fortunes, the money that Hitler and other Nazis, particularly Goering, stashed away during their regime. The ownership of that money is now altogether ambiguous. The sums are undoubtedly large.

A considerable quantity of Russian mined and owned gold has been finding its way into world markets by way of London. Narcotics money, controlled by a cartel operating out of Naples but dealing with opium and heroin out of China, Syria and other countries, is finding its way into legitimate banks. Such money has not yet been related to investments in the United States by any of the current investigations.

Much refugee money, from Europe and recently out of Egypt, is finding its way into Swiss banks and thence to the very good and safe American market.

One factor in this situation is that American interest rates are higher than European interest rates and therefore it is good business to get money wherever it is cheaper. But from the standpoint of the United States, it is important that laws be passed forbidding the use of nominees in the ownership of securities and forbidding the use of stock to obtain control of corporations either by proxy or by private transactions unless the beneficial owner of the stock is certified with the SEC. Such certification should be published immediately upon any change of ownership, only by such a measure is it possible to protect American defense industries from falling into the hands of our enemies.

Such entrepreneurs as Louis Wolfson or a dozen others are pursuing the ordinary course of business as far as the law permits. The value of such investigations as Senator Eastland, Senator Olin Johnston and Senator Lausche are making is to determine whether the law is good enough. If enemy money or illegitimate money, through one or several intermediaries, can gain control of American industries, the law is not good enough.

Fleming Stresses Need for Peak U. S. Mobilization

CLEVELAND (AP)—Dr. Arthur S. Flemming, president of Ohio Wesleyan University, says the United States is at the peak of its mobilization for defense and must stay there until a "spiritual breakthrough" makes lasting peace possible.

The former chief of the Office of Defense Mobilization said the country's strong points in its mobilization program include:

1. Huge government stockpiles of strategic materials.

2. Intelligent use of its resources.

3. Ability to retaliate quickly and effectively if attacked.

4. Effective deployment and training of a continental defense command.

THE REAL NAMES of some very famous authors may surprise you. Recognize Timothy Sparks Cecily Isabel Fairfield Andrews? That formidable mouthful, my friends, was the real name of Charles Dickens!

Josef Teodor Konrad Korzeniowski was not a Notre Dame fullback, but the Joseph Conrad who gave us "Lord Jim" and "Victory."

Edward Everett Tanner attempted to break into the light fiction best-seller lists with a novel called "House Party," submitted under the pseudonym of Virginia Rowans. He did much better the second time out, when he used the name of Patrick Dennis for "Auntie Mame."

Diet and Health

Aspirin Will Relieve But Not Cure a Cold

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Let's talk about money.

You'd think just about everybody would be happy to discuss a subject such as this. But you'd be surprised at how many people actually fear to bring up the matter with their doctors.

No matter what you think, the simple fact is that doctors' fees haven't gone up as far, or as fast, as your other family expenses.

Medical Costs

You spend about the same proportion of your budget on medical costs as your parents did 20 years ago. That's about four cents out of every dollar.

Since wages have gone up at a much faster clip than medical costs, it means you have to put in less work to pay for the same amount of medical care.

Today, more than ever before, the bill your doctor sends you represents one of the really big bargains of your life. And you are entitled to know just about how much that bill will be when you seek medical help.

While your doctor can't always tell you in advance precisely how much a course of treatment or an operation is going to cost, he often can give you a pretty good idea.

Yet most patients become tongue - tied when it comes to asking their doctor about how much treatment will cost and how the payment is to be made. They are able to talk freely about some of their most intimate problems, but not about money.

Respect for Doctor

Many undoubtedly refrain from bringing up the subject of money out of respect for their doctor. I guess they think it might be unbecoming for him to talk about money. But this isn't so, believe me.

In fact, thousands of doctors have a plaque in their offices which reads:

"To all my patients — I invite you to discuss frankly with me any questions regarding my services or fees. The best medical service is based on a friendly mutual understanding between doctor and patient."

They really mean it, too.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

B. D.: My 4-year-old son's teeth have become partly covered by his gums. This condition is a recent development. What is the cause?

Answer: The condition which you describe is not an unusual one. It may be due to overstimulation of the gums from some source.

Immediate examination by the dentist is advisable.

Denver College Treasures Book Bound in Skin of Slain Indian

DENVER (AP) — A book titled "History of Christianity" in the library of the Iliff School of Theology is bound in the skin of an Indian, killed more than 200 years ago in combat with a Virginia general.

An inscription on the inside cover, dated Sept. 16, 1893, reads: "This book was published 150 years ago and is covered with the skin of an Indian who was killed after a desperate struggle, by Gen. Morgan, proprietor of Morgantown, West Virginia, and presented to my father, William Barns, M. D., by the hand of Gen. Morgan himself."

The volume was donated to the school by the Rev. R. M. Barns, a Methodist minister who came to Colorado in pioneer days and was a chaplain at the state prison in Canon City.

THE LATE Horace M. Barns, son of the minister, gave a history of the book when he visited Denver many years ago.

This was the story:

The book was part of the private library of Gen. Daniel Morgan, a Virginian, officer of the Revolution and Indian fighter.

Indians, fearful of fighting Morgan directly, plotted to raid his home when it was unguarded. An Algonquin warrior killed his beautiful young wife and infant daughter.

Morgan trailed the killer for three years. But when he met the warrior unexpectedly, Morgan was unarmed. The Indian carried a tomahawk and gun.

Morgan was shot first in the neck but managed to close in and wrested the tomahawk from the Indian and killed him with it.

THE ENRAGED general ordered the skin stripped from the Indian and tanned. Later the gruesome trophy was fashioned into a cover for a sacred Latin book entitled "Institutionum Historiae Christianae Compendium" ("History of Christianity").

Before his death in 1802, Morgan bequeathed the book to a relative and intimate friend, Dr. William Barns, a physician at Morgantown in what was then western Virginia. He passed it on to his son, the Rev. R. M. Barns.

The book is preserved in a glass cabinet at the theology school on the University of Denver campus.

Minnesota Slogan Understates Its Case

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—It may be the end of a slogan, but Minnesota, the land of 10,000 lakes, may have as many as 16,000.

The state division of waters has a new aerial survey underway to count the lakes and it is using a slightly different system.

Now all bodies of water 10 acres or more are being counted as lakes, whereas prior surveys counted only those of 25 acres or more.

The Nation Today

James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Let's keep our shirts on and hope for the best.

That's neither a very positive nor a very imaginative policy, but it seems the only one the Eisenhower administration has had for four years in handling the Middle East.

Through it the United States has avoided a showdown with Egyptian President Nasser while he made threats, seized the Suez Canal, brought Egypt closer to Russia and inflamed Arabs against the West.

There's no reason to think it won't continue to be American policy.

The United States has not yet taken a firm stand on Nasser anywhere along the line except for blocking Egyptian assets in the United States and imposing some minor economic restrictions.

The administration can give several reasons for its use of patience:

It wants to avoid any action which might precipitate war, to keep Arabs generally friendly to the West and away from Russia, and to achieve good ends by reasonableness, no matter how long it takes.

But this policy of patience and no firm stand so exasperated Britain, France and Israel, all three of which wanted action against Nasser, that they invaded Egypt.

It is a policy which will turn out all right in the end if Nasser decides to play nice or if he makes himself obnoxious to his fellow Arabs and Egyptians by needless arrogance or dragging them into new crises.

There's no evidence at this time that either will happen. Nasser's doing all right. He has the support of Egyptians, Arabs and Asians. Since the invasion and closing of Suez he has been under economic pressure but it isn't killing him.

All he had to do for months — after the British-French-Israeli invasion — was sit tight, keep his mouth shut, promise nothing, and watch the United States struggle to get its three friends out of Egypt.

Because Israel was the invader, the United States took the position it was in no position to demand or get guarantees against future aggression by Nasser. By this reasoning, the United States could make no demands on Nasser.

This left him free, once the Israelis cleared out, to resume where he had left off. He started pushing his luck at once. When the Israelis quit Gaza, which the U. N. had assigned to Egyptian administration, the United Nations troops took over there.

Right away Nasser argued the U. N. had no right to run Gaza. He sent in his own administrators—but not troops—to do that, thus starting to push the U. N. forces up to the line which seperates Gaza from Israel.

The U. N. troops are supposed to stay there indefinitely to prevent invasion across the line by Israelis or Egyptians. If Nasser feels strong enough to push his luck further, he may demand the U. N. troops get out of Gaza altogether.

He could do so. He has never publicly promised the troops could stay on Egyptian territory any longer than he was willing to permit them there. He may hesitate about this for a while. The U. N. forces are good protection for him.

The Israeli army tore his army to pieces in its autumn invasion. It could march back into Egypt. But the presence of 6,000 U. N. troops on the Gaza line should make Israel pause.

The Israelis, perhaps anticipating the day when Egyptian troops do move back into Gaza, have protested excitedly against the Egyptian civilian occupation of the strip. They got a chilly reception from the United States.

The administration has never said — publicly — that Nasser shouldn't occupy Gaza again.

President Eisenhower has also been vague on what this country would do if Nasser now bars Israeli shipping from the Suez Canal and the Gulf of Aqaba. All he did was say, if this happened, the United States would join other nations in seeking a solution.

What isn't known—is now close his ties to Russia really are and how much he has done and will do as the result of Russian prodding, perhaps with promises of Russian help if he gets in too deep.

Interplanetary Travel Predicted

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Interplanetary travel will become "commonplace" in the next 50 years, World War I ace Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker predicts.

"In fact," he told an audience of Rotarians Wednesday, "space ships in the year 2007 will be semi-self-sustaining planets in themselves."

Rickenbacker, who is now chairman of the board of Eastern Airlines, also foresaw the day when "nuclear powered guided missiles will reach speeds up to 25,000 miles an hour."

Elliot turned out to have a natural genius for creating novel toys that caught the fancy of children. Ruth showed a remarkable talent for solving production problems and marketing the toys. This year their firm, which has up to 1,000 employes in peak season at its Los Angeles plant, will do a business of nearly $10 million.

"We started on a shoestring," said Ruth, a dark-haired, vivacious woman who has two children herself. "But it takes more than a shoestring to keep going.

"You have to keep a step ahead of the rest, and be able to sense trends in advance. My husband has a sixth sense in this respect. He's a great idea man.

"Research is of great importance. Designing a good toy requires, in my opinion, a better quality of engineering than that required to do national defense work. And I think I know. We've done some defense work."

Their biggest new items this year are a thunderburp gun, which enables small fry to fire a burst of 50 caps, and the "Fanner Fifty," a toy pistol which a child can fire by handfanning, just as the old-time western gunmen did.

Wolfson's Empire--and the Law

By George Sokolsky

Two problems are raised by the reported plan of Louis Wolfson to purchase the American Motors Corporation:

I. It will further reduce the number of automobile manufactures in the United States, leaving practically only the three giants, General Motors, Ford and Chrysler in the field.

It is questionable whether, from a national standpoint, it is sound for any industry to become so concentrated.

On the other hand, the American Motors Corporation has been losing money in the automobile business and it is impossible to require any company to continue to manufacture a product at a loss.

As soon as an automobile company stops manufacturing automobiles and goes in for kitchen hardware, the demand in Congress grows for a monopoly investigation in this field. Certainly, if Louis Wolfson becomes dominant in the American Motors Corporation and if he gives up the automobile line and limits himself to ice-boxes and other kitchen goods, a monopoly investigation of the automobile industry must ensue. Such an investigation will lead to a sideline study of advertising.

2. In the case of Louis Wolfson, it will raise again the question of raiding and of the secret purchase of controlling interests in various companies. At present, two Congressional Committees and the SEC are delving deeply into the problem.

Concerning this, many errors of fact and judgment have crept into the public print. First of all, most raids or "take overs" are legal. If the stock of a company is for sale, anyone can buy and the outsiders can manipulate the market to their advantage.

The essential question is not that. It is where the buyers get their money. It is not illegal to get money wherever one can get it, so long as no tax deception is involved. But there is a tremendous amount of money loose in the world, some of which is "hot money" going through a process of legitimization. All of the "hot money" reaches the American borrower from an intermediate legitimate source, such as a Swiss, a London, a Venezuelan bank or through American banks with such connections. Thus the borrower has the advantage of an intermediate arrangement which makes it possible for him not to know who the beneficial or rightful owner of the money is.

Anonymous money may be innocent, but the anonymity of the ownership, the fact that the banks managing the money will not disclose the ownership engenders a suspicion that the ownership is improper.

It is known but not yet proven that some of this money is the residue of the great Nazi fortunes, the money that Hitler and other Nazis, particularly Goering, stashed away during their regine. The ownership of that money is now altogether ambiguous. The sums are undoubtedly large.

A considerable quantity of Russian mined and owned gold has been finding its way into world markets by way of London. Narcotics money, controlled by a cartel operating out of Naples but dealing with opium and heroin out of China, Syria and other countries, is finding its way into legitimate banks. Such money has not yet been related to investments in the United States by any of the current investigations.

Much refugee money, from Europe and recently out of Egypt, is finding its way into Swiss banks and thence to the very good and safe American market.

One factor in this situation is that American interest rates are higher than European interest rates and therefore it is good business to get money wherever it is cheaper. But from the standpoint of the United States, it is important that laws be passed forbidding the use of nominees in the ownership of securities and forbidding the use of stock to obtain control of corporations either by proxy or by private transactions unless the beneficial owner of the stock is certified with the SEC. Such certification should be published immediately upon any change of ownership, only by such a measure is it possible to protect American defense industries from falling into the hands of our enemies.

Such entrepreneurs as Louis Wolfson or a dozen others are pursuing the ordinary course of business as far as the law permits. The value of such investigations as Senator Eastland, Senator Olin Johnston and Senator Lausche are making is to determine whether the law is good enough. If enemy money or illegitimate money, through one or several intermediaries, can gain control of American industries, the law is not good enough.

Fleming Stresses Need for Peak U. S. Mobilization

CLEVELAND (AP)—Dr. Arthur S. Flemming, president of Ohio Wesleyan University, says the United States is at the peak of its mobilization for defense and must stay there until a "spiritual breakthrough" makes lasting peace possible.

The former chief of the Office of Defense Mobilization said the country's strong points in its mobilization program include:

1. Huge government stockpiles of strategic materials.
2. Intelligent use of its resources.
3. Ability to retaliate quickly and effectively if attacked.
4. Effective deployment and training of a continental defense command.

Try and Stop Me

—By BENNETT CERF—

THE REAL NAMES of some very famous authors may surprise you. Recognize Timothy Sparks Cecily Isabel Fairfield Andrews? That formidable mouthful, my friends, was the real name of Charles Dickens!

Josef Teodor Konrad Korzeniowski was not a Notre Dame fullback, but the Joseph Conrad who gave us "Lord Jim" and "Victory."

Edward Everett Tanner attempted to break into the light fiction best-seller lists with a novel called "House Party," submitted under the pseudonym of Virginia Rowans. He did much better the second time out, when he used the name of Patrick Dennis for "Auntie Mame."

Diet and Health

Aspirin Will Relieve But Not Cure a Cold

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Let's talk about money.

You'd think just about everybody would be happy to discuss a subject such as this. But you'd be surprised at how many people actually fear to bring up the matter with their doctors.

No matter what you think, the simple fact is that doctors' fees haven't gone up as far, or as fast, as your other family expenses.

Medical Costs

You spend about the same proportion of your budget on medical costs as your parents did 20 years ago. That's about four cents out of every dollar.

Since wages have gone up at a much faster clip than medical costs, it means you have to put in less work to pay for the same amount of medical care.

Today, more than ever before, the bill your doctor sends you represents one of the really big bargains of your life. And you are entitled to know just about how much that bill will be when you seek medical help.

While your doctor can't always tell you in advance precisely how much a course of treatment or an operation is going to cost, he often can give you a pretty good idea.

Yet most patients become tongue - tied when it comes to asking their doctor about how much treatment will cost and how the payment is to be made. They are able to talk freely about some of their most intimate problems, but not about money.

Respect for Doctor

Many undoubtedly refrain from bringing up the subject of money out of respect for their doctor. I guess they think it might be unbecoming for him to talk about money. But this isn't so, believe me.

In fact, thousands of doctors have a plaque in their offices which reads:

"To all my patients — I invite you to discuss frankly with me any questions regarding my services or fees. The best medical service is based on a friendly mutual understanding between doctor and patient."

They really mean it, too.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

B. D.: My 4-year-old son's teeth have become partly covered by his gums. This condition is a recent development. What is the cause?

Answer: The condition which you describe is not an unusual one. It may be due to overstimulation of the gums from some source.

Immediate examination by the dentist is advisable.

Denver College Treasures Book Bound in Skin of Slain Indian

DENVER (AP) — A book titled "History of Christianity" in the library of the Iliff School of Theology is bound in the skin of an Indian, killed more than 200 years ago in combat with a Virginia general.

An inscription on the inside cover, dated Sept. 16, 1893, reads: "This book was published 150 years ago and is covered with the skin of an Indian who was killed after a desperate struggle, by Gen. Morgan, proprietor of Morgantown, West Virginia, and presented to my father, William Barns, M. D., by the hand of Gen. Morgan himself."

The volume was donated to the school by the Rev. R. M. Barns, a Methodist minister who came to Colorado in pioneer days and was a chaplain at the state prison in Canon City.

THE LATE Horace M. Barns, son of the minister, gave a history of the book when he visited Denver many years ago.

This was the story:

The book was part of the private library of Gen. Daniel Morgan, a Virginian, officer of the Revolution and Indian fighter.

Indians, fearful of fighting Morgan directly, plotted to raid his home when it was unguarded. An Algonquin warrior killed his beautiful young wife and infant daughter.

Morgan trailed the killer for three years. But when he met the warrior unexpectedly, Morgan was unarmed. The Indian carried a tomahawk and gun.

Morgan was shot first in the neck but managed to close in and wrested the tomahawk from the Indian and killed him with it.

THE ENRAGED general ordered the skin stripped from the Indian and tanned. Later the gruesome trophy was fashioned into a cover for a sacred Latin book entitled "Institutionum Historiae Christianae Compendium" ("History of Christianity").

Before his death in 1802, Morgan bequeathed the book to a relative and intimate friend, Dr. William Barns, a physician at Morgantown in what was then western Virginia. He passed it on to his son, the Rev. R. M. Barns.

The book is preserved in a glass cabinet at the theology school on the University of Denver campus.

Minnesota Slogan Understates Its Case

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—It may be the end of a slogan, but Minnesota, the land of 10,000 lakes, may have as many as 16,000.

The state division of waters has a new aerial survey underway to count the lakes and it is using a slightly different system.

Now all bodies of water 10 acres or more are being counted as lakes, whereas prior surveys counted only those of 25 acres or more.

The Nation Today

James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Let's keep our shirts on and hope for the best.

That's neither a very positive nor a very imaginative policy, but it seems the only one the Eisenhower administration has had for four years in handling the Middle East.

Through it the United States has avoided a showdown with Egyptian President Nasser while he made threats, seized the Suez Canal, brought Egypt closer to Russia and inflamed Arabs against the West.

There's no reason to think it won't continue to be American policy.

The United States has not yet taken a firm stand on Nasser anywhere along the line except for blocking Egyptian assets in the United States and imposing some minor economic restrictions.

The administration can give several reasons for its use of patience:

It wants to avoid any action which might precipitate war, to keep Arabs generally friendly to the West and away from Russia, and to achieve good ends by reasonableness, no matter how long it takes.

But this policy of patience and no firm stand so exasperated Britain, France and Israel, all three of which wanted action against Nasser, that they invaded Egypt.

It is a policy which will turn out all right in the end if Nasser decides to play nice or if he makes himself obnoxious to his fellow Arabs and Egyptians by needless arrogance or dragging them into new crises.

There's no evidence at this time that either will happen. Nasser's doing all right. He has the support of Egyptians, Arabs and Asians. Since the invasion and closing of Suez he has been under economic pressure but it isn't killing him.

All he had to do for months — after the British-French-Israeli invasion — was sit tight, keep his mouth shut, promise nothing, and watch the United States struggle to get its three friends out of Egypt.

Because Israel was the invader, the United States took the position it was in no position to demand or get guarantees against future aggression by Nasser. By this reasoning, the United States could make no demands on Nasser.

This left him free, once the Israelis cleared out, to resume where he had left off. He started pushing his luck at once. When the Israelis quit Gaza, which the U. N. had assigned to Egyptian administration, the United Nations troops took over there.

Right away Nasser argued the U. N. had no right to run Gaza. If sent in his own administrators—but not troops—to do that, thus starting to push the U. N. forces up to the line which seperates Gaza from Israel.

The U. N. troops are supposed to stay there indefinitely to prevent invasion across the line by Israelis or Egyptians. If Nasser feels strong enough to push his luck further, he may demand the U. N. troops get out of Gaza altogether.

He could do so. He has never publicly promised the troops could stay on Egyptian territory any longer than he was willing to permit them there. He may hesitate about this for a while. The U. N. forces are good protection for him.

The Israeli army tore his army to pieces in its autumn invasion. It could march back into Egypt. But the presence of 6,000 U. N. troops on the Gaza line should make Israel pause.

The Israelis, perhaps anticipating the day when Egyptian troops do move back into Gaza, have protested excitedly against the Egyptian civilian occupation of the strip. They got a chilly reception from the United States.

The administration has never said — publicly — that Nasser shouldn't occupy Gaza again.

President Eisenhower has also been vague on what this country would do if Nasser now bars Israeli shipping from the Suez Canal and the Gulf of Aqaba. All he did was say, if this happened, the United States would join other nations in seeking a solution.

What isn't known—is now close his ties to Russia really are and how much he has done and will do as the result of Russian prodding, perhaps with promises of Russian help if he gets in too deep.

Interplanetary Travel Predicted

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Interplanetary travel will become "commonplace" in the next 50 years, World War I ace Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker predicts.

"In fact," he told an audience of Rotarians Wednesday, "space ships in the year 2007 will be semi-self-sustaining planets in themselves."

Rickenbacker, who is now chairman of the board of Eastern Airlines, also foresaw the day when "nuclear powered guided missiles will reach speeds up to 25,000 miles an hour."

Local D. A. R. Chapter Gets Commendations At State Conference

Mrs. Thomas H. Parrett, Regent, and five members of the Washington C. H. Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, attended the 58th annual State Conference of the D. A. R. in Dayton March 18-20.

The conference theme was "Freedom Is Every American's Responsibility." Jonathan Dayton Chapter and the Daniel Cooper Chapter were hostesses for the conference. Mrs. Loren D. Hynes, state chairman of transportation, was the local delegate and Mrs. Robert Jefferson, Mrs. Clarence Creath, Mrs. Ernest Chaney and Mrs. Harry Parrett were alternates.

Several prizes and some special recognition for its participation in various projects came to the Washington C. H. chapter this year. The chapter received a five dollar first prize for the best year book in the state. The year book committee is composed of Mrs. Thomas Parrett, assisted by Mrs. John D. Forsythe, Mrs. Millard H. Weidinger, Mrs. J. Earl McLean and Mrs. Hynes. This prize was awarded by Mrs. James G. Kahle of Columbus, state chairman of programs.

Local Girl Homemakers sewing contestants displayed five entries and Miss Linda Halliday received third prize for her wool suit entry. Regent Mrs. Parrett had made place cards for the Indian Breakfast and was duly recognized by the state chairman, Mrs. Harley C. Lee of Cleveland, who presided at the breakfast Tuesday morning.

The Martha Washington Junior Committee received honorable mention for its outstanding service during the year and Miss Laurabel Mooney, state chairman of press relations, gave the local chapter another honorable mention for its almost one thousand (981) inches of publicity.

The Chapter Scrap Book prepared by Mrs. W. O. Beatty, historian, contained excellent coverage of the year's activities. A copy of the "Journal of John Wood" was presented to National by Mrs. Beatty and will be placed in the reference library of D. A. R. in Washington, D. C. On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Hynes gave her annual report as chairman of transportation and traffic safety.

Out of 127 state chapters, Washington C. H. was one of the 16 listed on both the State and National Gold Honor Rolls.

The national chairman of approved D. A. R. schools, Mrs. Lyle J. Howland was present to accept the gift of a new Hammond Organ for the new chapel at the Kate Duncan Smith approved school. The organ was given by a Dayton man in memory of his wife.

Distinguished guests attending the conference included Mrs. Lowelle Burnelle, historian general, Mrs. Allen Langdon Baker, state regent of Pennsylvania, Mrs. Lyle J. Howland, national chairman of approved schools and Mrs. Ray L. Erb, national chairman of national defense.

A formal banquet closed the three-day conference. Cincinnati has invited the Daughters to hold the 1958 conference in that city and a June 4th conference for Regents and other officers will be held in Columbus.

Mrs. Wood Society Hostess

The Missionary Society of McNair Memorial Church met Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Charles Wood on Hayes Road with Mrs. Ivan Kelley, assisting hostess. The president, Mrs. John Warnecke opened the meeting, her theme "A Handful of Everlasting" followed by prayer by Mrs. Martin O'Cull.

Mrs. James McClaskie had the Bible study and used for her subject, "Nationalism versus Internationalism". The regular reports were made and the study book for April was announced as Genesis. Volunteers were asked to help at the First Presbyterian church on March 31 when the Maryville Choir will appear. The Spring Presbyterial will be held March 29 at the Broad Street Presbyterian Church in Columbus.

The program was on "Thailand" with Mrs. Warnecke in charge. Eighteen members and two guests, Mrs. Andrew Bennett and Dr. Paul H. Elliott, enjoyed the social hour and dessert course which followed.

Circle Plans Open Meeting

The March meeting of the Mayme Rogers Missionary Circle of First Baptist Church, was held at the home of Mrs. Walter Hurtt. The meeting was opened by the chairman, Miss Clarabelle Robinson, with the reading of an article "Thanks for All Thanks." The secretary and treasurer reports were read and accepted and other usual reports followed.

During the business session, it was decided to have an open meeting at the church on May 28th and invite the Womens Missionary Society and the Ann Judson Missionary Circle to attend. Mrs. Howart Burnett, Jr., Mrs. Ruth Glass and Mrs. Eugene Alkire were elected to head the social committee for this meeting. Mrs. Paul Thompson will be in charge of devotions and Miss Clarabelle Robinson will be in charge of music.

Following the business session, Mrs. Robert Lambert lead in the devotions and read Scripture from Matthew and closed with prayer. A program presented by Mrs. Eugene Alkire in the form of a book review on "Missions U. S. A." was very informative and interesting.

The meeting was adjourned and a dessert course was served by the hostess. Mrs. John Case was a guest.

Garden Club Meets with Sue Anders

The Washington Junior Garden Club met at the home of Sue Anders, with eight members present. The meeting was opened by the president, Sharma Ware with the members giving the club pledge. Roll call was answered by naming a flower each planned to plant in their gardens. The secretary and treasurer reports were read and a pamphlet on "The use of plants in modern homes" was distributed.

Each member gave a report on her house plants, presented to them by the club and a seed exchange was also held. The girls decided to make pot holders for their money making project.

The program was in charge of Becky Dewitt who had as her topic, "How, When and Where to plant your Flower Garden". During the talk she told how peony, iris, dahlia, hardy phlox and chrysanthemum are the perennial backbones of the flower borders. Hardy bulbs contribute their early spring color and, of course, annual flowers, zinnia, marigold and petunia keep the borders colorful during the hot summer months.

After the business meeting, refreshments were served by the hostess and Sue Ware was welcomed as a guest. The next meeting will be held at the home of Brenda Harper.

Local D. A. R. Chapter Gets Commendations At State Conference

Mrs. Thomas H. Parrett, Regent, and five members of the Washington C. H. Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, attended the 58th annual State Conference of the D. A. R. in Dayton March 18-20.

The conference theme was "Freedom Is Every American's Responsibility." Jonathan Dayton Chapter and the Daniel Cooper Chapter were hostesses for the conference. Mrs. Loren D. Hynes, state chairman of transportation, was the local delegate and Mrs. Robert Jefferson, Mrs. Clarence Creath, Mrs. Ernest Chaney and Mrs. Harry Parrett were alternates.

Several prizes and some special recognition for its participation in various projects came to the Washington C. H. chapter this year. The chapter received a five dollar first prize for the best year book in the state. The year book committee is composed of Mrs. Thomas Parrett, assisted by Mrs. John D. Forsythe, Mrs. Millard H. Weidinger, Mrs. J. Earl McLean and Mrs. Hynes. This prize was awarded by Mrs. James G. Kahle of Columbus, state chairman of programs.

Local Girl Homemakers sewing contestants displayed five entries and Miss Linda Halliday received third prize for her wool suit entry. Regent Mrs. Parrett had made place cards for the Indian Breakfast and was duly recognized by the state chairman, Mrs. Harley C. Lee of Cleveland, who presided at the breakfast Tuesday morning.

The Martha Washington Junior Committee received honorable mention for its outstanding service during the year and Miss Laurabel Mooney, state chairman of press relations, gave the local chapter another honorable mention for its almost one thousand (981) inches of publicity.

The Chapter Scrap Book prepared by Mrs. W. O. Beatty, historian, contained excellent coverage of the year's activities. A copy of the "Journal of John Wood" was presented to National by Mrs. Beatty and will be placed in the reference library of D. A. R. in Washington, D. C. On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Hynes gave her annual report as chairman of transportation and traffic safety.

Out of 127 state chapters, Washington C. H. was one of the 16 listed on both the State and National Gold Honor Rolls.

The national chairman of approved D. A. R. schools, Mrs. Lyle J. Howland was present to accept the gift of a new Hammond Organ for the new chapel at the Kate Duncan Smith approved school. The organ was given by a Dayton man in memory of his wife.

Distinguished guests attending the conference included Mrs. Lowelle Burnelle, historian general, Mrs. Allen Langdon Baker, state regent of Pennsylvania, Mrs. Lyle J. Howland, national chairman of approved schools and Mrs. Ray L. Erb, national chairman of national defense.

A formal banquet closed the three-day conference. Cincinnati has invited the Daughters to hold the 1958 conference in that city and a June 4th conference for Regents and other officers will be held in Columbus.

Mrs. Wood Society Hostess

The Missionary Society of McNair Memorial Church met Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Charles Wood on Hayes Road with Mrs. Ivan Kelley, assisting hostess. The president, Mrs. John Warnecke opened the meeting, her theme "A Handful of Everlasting" followed by prayer by Mrs. Martin O'Cull.

Mrs. James McClaskie had the Bible study and used for her subject, "Nationalism versus Internationalism". The regular reports were made and the study book for April was announced as Genesis. Volunteers were asked to help at the First Presbyterian church on March 31 when the Maryville Choir will appear. The Spring Presbyterial will be held March 29 at the Broad Street Presbyterian Church in Columbus.

The program was on "Thailand" with Mrs. Warnecke in charge. Eighteen members and two guests, Mrs. Andrew Bennett and Dr. Paul H. Elliott, enjoyed the social hour and dessert course which followed.

Circle Plans Open Meeting

The March meeting of the Mayme Rogers Missionary Circle of First Baptist Church, was held at the home of Mrs. Walter Hurtt. The meeting was opened by the chairman, Miss Clarabelle Robinson, with the reading of an article "Thanks for All Thanks." The secretary and treasurer reports were read and accepted and other usual reports followed.

During the business session, it was decided to have an open meeting at the church on May 28th and invite the Womens Missionary Society and the Ann Judson Missionary Circle to attend. Mrs. Howart Burnett, Jr., Mrs. Ruth Glass and Mrs. Eugene Alkire were elected to head the social committee for this meeting. Mrs. Paul Thompson will be in charge of devotions and Miss Clarabelle Robinson will be in charge of music.

Following the business session, Mrs. Robert Lambert lead in the devotions and read Scripture from Matthew and closed with prayer. A program presented by Mrs. Eugene Alkire in the form of a book review on "Missions U. S. A." was very informative and interesting.

The meeting was adjourned and a dessert course was served by the hostess. Mrs. John Case was a guest.

Oregon Mystery House On 'Forbidden Ground'

By DICK BELLEW
Central Press Assn.

YEARS AGO, near Gold Hill, Ore., an old assay shack slid down into a gulley from its hillside foundation. It came to rest at a steep slant, wedged against a clump of trees.

While it would seem the building would simply appear tumbled down and askew—it doesn't. Its aspects seem to make all people and thing in this area appear out of perspective and subject to a strange gravitational pull.

The assay shack is claimed by its owner to be in the center of the "Oregon Vortex," a mangetic field of force with a diameter of 165 feet, four and one-half inches. Some 70,000 visitors each year enter this region to wander through what has become known as "The House of Mystery."

Most of them, after subjecting themselves to a "reflex indicator" and various other tests, leave apparently believing they have been in a strange field of force.

* * *

EVERYTHING in the area seems inclined to a magnetic north, which does not seem plumb to the normal line of gravity. People have the sensation of being off balance when they stand normally erect. Trees, everything in the area, appear inclined to the north.

When a person faces south, he appears appreciably taller than when facing north. This is demonstrated easily when two persons of the same height face each other from opposite directions.

The illusion and sensations a person experiences upon entering this area, while the "Vortex" claim has been pooh-poohed, has made it one of Oregon's most curious attractions for more than 20 years.

Local legend says it was "forbidden ground" to early Indians.

Why Retire?, Asks Career Girl at 78

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP) — "Retire? Pooh!"

So says Mrs. Amelia Kelley, Rhode Island's oldest active woman an insurance agent who's still so busy after working 61 years that even now, at 78, she has no thought of retiring.

It was Aug. 12, 1895, that she went to work in an insurance and real estate office in the same building where her present office is located.

White - haired, neatly groomed and brisk, Mrs. Kelley still drives a car. Rhode Island requires road tests for all persons over 75. She easily passed her latest test in September. Asked if she approved retirement at a fixed age, she answered:

"No, I don't approve of a compulsory, chronological retirement age for anybody. Some people are good workers. Some aren't. Some people should be retired long before others. Anyone who is capable, well and able to do his work should be kept on. If he is retired, he just goes out and gets another job. Well, bank workers and policemen do, anyhow."

* * *

SHE THINKS older workers are more conscientious — "because it is so hard for many older workers to find new jobs."

She works from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m., six days a week, and lives with her husband and a sister. Some weekends, her daughter — teaching at Simmons College in Boston — comes home for visits.

And Mrs. Kelley is likely to do "a lot of cooking" on Saturdays. But her work is her real hobby.

She learned the insurance and real estate business from the employer for whom she went to work at 17. Gradually, she took increasing responsibility until she ran the office while he was away for months at a time. She still acts as manager of his estate, handles the investments and other business business connected with it.

She says the secret of her long active business life is that her work always has been a pleasure.

"I have never felt pushed in it," she explains. "I would have stopped long ago if I hadn't liked it.

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

During the past several days more Fayette County soil has been turned for the forth coming crops, chiefly corn, than during any similar length of time in the county's history, according to observers who have marveled at the tremendous acreage plowed in such a short time.

W. W. Montgomery, agricultural extension agent, estimates that 80 per cent of all plowing to be done in the county this season, has been completed—probably more than during any previous year this time in March.

As result of the large amount of winter plowing, farmers, generally will be ready to condition their soil and plant when the proper time comes.

During the interval until planting time it will be an easy matter for those who have not completed their plowing to do so without pressure of time.

1888 COMMENCEMENT HERE

One of the most interesting commencement programs I have seen recently was handed to me by Loren Wilson, city, for the "Twelfth Annual Commencement of the Washington C. H. High School at the Opera House, Wednesday, June 6, 1888, at eight o'clock p. m."

The opera house, referred to, stood on the south side of W. Market St. between the building occupies by the Main Restaurant and the alley east of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren L. Bryan.

The program was quite lengthy, with an overture by an orchestra; invocation by the Rev. S. B. Alderson; cornet solo by Jesse Worthington and E. M. Whelpley (former noted band leader of the city), vocal trio by Misses Louise Hamilton, Della Lanum and Lucy Pine; vocal solo, "Dost Thou Know That Fair Land," Miss Edith Gardner. Discussion, "Resolved That National Literature is More the Cause, than the Result of National Refinement", Nina L. Silcott, affirmative, and Walter Draper, negative.

Orations and essay were given as follow: "Superlatives", Lucie Dempsey; "Nullus fais est", Maude Davis; "Think of Him Once More", Homer Jones. "From ! to ?", Alice Johnson: "Animated Clay", Jesse Webb: "Circles", Ottie Shoop: "What Can She Do?", Lizzie Smith: "I'm a Part of All I Meet", Winifred Wilson.

The class address was given by Supt. N. H. Chaney, of the Washington C. H. schools, and dipolomas were presented by Dr. D. H. Hare. The Rev. W. H. Lewis gave the benediction.

The Board of Education consisted of Dr. D. H. Hare, president; Dr. E. C. Hamilton, clerk; D. Furtwangler, treasurer; B. H. Millikan, G. F. Coffman and L. C. Coffman.

The faculty consisted of Supt. N. H. Chaney: Principal, T. R. Berry: Assistants, Harriet R. Kirby and Ella Behymen; Special in Music, Mrs. Lucie Hamilton, and Special in penmanship, James McBride.

OLD FEE AGREEMENT

Displayed in the window of the Down Town Drug Store is a printed sheet giving feer charged by Fayette County physicians around 1900.

The fees which had been agreed upon by the Fayette County Medical Society were, of course, much lower than at the present time, and the agreement was signed by the following 16 physicians of the county: Drs. C. A. Foster, S. C. Roberts, G. W. Holdren, C. A. Teeters, W. S. Scurlock, J. N. Clark, G. W. Blakely, W. E. Ireland, J. M. Powell, J. B. May, B. F. Kellar, F. M. Black, E. M. Boggess, J M. Hughey, S. A. Ireland and J. M. Gillespie.

The resolution accompanying the agreement of various fees for medical and surgical services, read in part:

"Resolved, that medical fees are considered due as soon as services are rendered.

"That we report to the society every month, that claims of people who are able, yet refuse to pay, and obligate ourselves not to attend such persons unless paid in advance for all medicines and services, unless a satisfactory settlement is made with the person or persons thus reporting such individual.

The fees included: First visit in town and prescription $2; examination and prescription in simple cases $1 to $3; visit in country less than mile $1; each additional mile 50 cents; vaccinations in office 50 cents to $1; ordinary obstetrical cases $10 to $15; amputation of leg $30 to $50; arm $20 to $50; fingers and toes, each $5 to $10; Fractured leg adjustment $15 to $30; administration of anaesthetic $5 to $10, night visits 50 to 100 per cent above regular charge.

Opening Night Now Near for Junior Play

All the work—and the fun—is over. Opening night is only a few hours away now for the 25 members of the Washington C. H. High School Junior class play.

The WHS auditorium curtain will rise at 8 p. m. Thursday on "Gino," a three-act drama based on the story of wayward youth and rehabilitation. The play will be presented again Friday night.

It depicts a short period in the life of a boy who gets involved in crime before he realizes it. It takes him through reform school and his salvation with the help of a psychiatrist and a girl.

Earl Palmer plays the part of the juvenile delinquent, Phil French that of the psychiatrist and Joan Nisely that of the girl who helps the lost youth find himself, overcome his obstinacy and take his place in society.

* * *

THE PLAY also takes to task the working parents who cannot take the time to give understanding attention to their children.

While 25 of the class will be behind the footlights, many more will be carrying out important roles, unseen behind the scenes and in "office" assignments.

Proceeds from the play will go into class fund, which finances a number of class affairs and, most important of all, the gift to the school when this year's juniors walk out next year with their diplomas as seniors.

Cincinnati Retrial Nears Jury Action

CINCINNATI (AP)—The retrial of Denver Powell, 46, of El Centro, Calif., charged with the 1949 hold-up-slaying of John Schreck, delicatessen operator, probably will go to a jury Friday.

One of the state's final rebuttal witnesses Wednesday was Donald Roney, assistant county prosecutor and investigator. He denied Powell's previous testimony that the state, through Roney, had offered leniency in exchange for a signed confession.

Illness of a juror at Powell's first trial last October caused the court to declare a mistrial.

Oregon Mystery House On 'Forbidden Ground'

By DICK BELLEW
Central Press Assn.

YEARS AGO, near Gold Hill, Ore., an old assay shack slid down into a gulley from its hillside foundation. It came to rest at a steep slant, wedged against a clump of trees.

While it would seem the building would simply appear tumbled down and askew—it doesn't. Its aspects seem to make all people and thing in this area appear. out of perspective and subject to a strange gravitational pull.

The assay shack is claimed by its owner to be in the center of the "Oregon Vortex," a mangetic field of force with a diameter of 165 feet, four and one-half inches. Some 70,000 visitors each year enter this region to wander through what has become known as "The House of Mystery."

Most of them, after subjecting themselves to a "reflex indicator" and various other tests, leave apparently believing they have been in a strange field of force.

* * *

EVERYTHING in the area seems inclined to a magnetic north, which does not seem plumb to the normal line of gravity. People have the sensation of being off balance when they stand normally erect. Trees, everything in the area, appear inclined to the north.

When a person faces south, he appears appreciably taller than when facing north. This is demonstrated easily when two persons of the same height face each other from opposite directions.

The illusion and sensations a person experiences upon entering this area, while the "Vortex" claim has been pooh-poohed, has made it one of Oregon's most curious attractions for more than 20 years.

Local legend says it was "forbidden ground" to early Indians.

THE PLAY also takes to task the working parents who cannot take the time to give understanding attention to their children.

While 25 of the class will be behind the footlights, many more will be carrying out important roles, unseen behind the scenes and in "office" assignments.

Proceeds from the play will go into class fund, which finances a number of class affairs and, most important of all, the gift to the school when this year's juniors walk out next year with their diplomas as seniors.

Cincinnati Retrial Nears Jury Action

CINCINNATI (AP)—The retrial of Denver Powell, 46, of El Centro, Calif., charged with the 1949 hold-up-slaying of John Schreck, delicatessen operator, probably will go to a jury Friday.

One of the state's final rebuttal witnesses Wednesday was Donald Roney, assistant county prosecutor and investigator. He denied Powell's previous testimony that the state, through Roney, had offered leniency in exchange for a signed confession.

Illness of a juror at Powell's first trial last October caused the court to declare a mistrial.

American Finds Rare Guns in Switzerland

By GLEN PERRINS
Central Press Assn.

PROVO, Utah — Antiques, like gold, are where you find them, and Robert Harris of Provo made a chance discovery of a tremendous collection of antique guns. They cost him about $10 each, including expenses.

He came upon the collection of 23 guns almost by chance as he neared the end of his Latterday Saint mission in Switzerland.

He had purchased, for $10, a gun souvenir to bring home—a 34-inch Damascus steel twist double-barreled shotgun, when in Neuchatel he saw an old hunting rifle owned by a retired colonel in the Swiss army.

* * *

HE PURCHASED it for $7, and the family offered to sell him the colonel's collection of guns, along with odds and ends of powder horns, flasks, bullet molds and what not, for $170. Freight and other expenses upped the cost to around $10 per gun by the time they reached Utah.

The collection contained:

Flintlock, with the stock patterned aft the old Arabic style of gun. Double-barred flintlock, 45 caliber of the Louis XIV period.

A brace of handsome and ornate dueling pistols made by the famous DeVisme of Parsi. Fluted grip, beautifully wrought and etched, even around the muzzle.

A Crimean war pistol. A blunt-nosed, ugly little piece that obviously was intent on lethal business since there are 51 notches" on the butt.

There is one modern gun, the sort of handiwork which is disappearing with the modern generation of gunsmiths. It is a beautiful piece, double-barrel bored from one piece of steel, beautifully etched and wrought.

Rare Deals Offered In Some Union Work Contracts

NEW YORK (AP) — Bagels, beer and birthday pay are now provided some workers in New York state under unusual contracts.

A Teamsters local has an agreement with New York City bagel manufacturers that permits all employes to take home two dozen free bagels each day.

A Painters Union local has an agreement with Staten Island contractors giving an employe his birthday off with pay and a present of a $5 bill.

Pentagon Urged To Expand Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Byrd (D-Va) called on Secretary of Defense Wilson today to expand on a worldwide basis a proposed 12 per cent cut in Defense Department office workers in the Washington area.

Wilson announced Tuesday that he had told the Army, Navy and Air Force to eliminate 6,414 military and civilian jobs here in the year beginning July 1.

Wilson said he will order similar cuts in many defense headquarters, but not in combat units, at home and abroad. Byrd said this was "encouraging" but he urged Wilson to order across the board cuts at American installations all around the world.

Solid Fuel Used in New Engine Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — A big new rocket engine, using solid instead of hard-to-handle liquid fuel for powering an intermediate range ballistic missile, has been developed and put under test.

This was disclosed today in a routine annual report to stockholders by the General Tire Co., which seemed to contain considerably more information about some weapons than has been announced by the Defense Department. The report said the new rocket motor went into its testing stage last October.

The motor was designed by the company's Aerojet-General Corp. and, said the report, is "the largest solid propellant power plant ever used in any ballistic missile." The motor was developed for the Jupiter IRBM, the company reports.

However, Army experts told a newsman that Jupiter IRBM program does not now include use of a solid instead of liquid fuel. This appeared to indicate the new rocket engine may be intended for use by the Navy in its Polaris IRBM. The Navy started out with the Army on joint development of the Jupiter, but a few months ago announced plans to go ahead with its own project.

Cincy Firm Low On Miami Project

COLUMBUS (AP)—Frank Messer & Sons Inc., of Cincinnati, submitted the apparent low bid of $669,600 for general construction work on a fine arts building at Miami University.

The Departmen of Public Works reported that the state estimate for the job was $854,000.

Los Angeles Posse Rides in Sky

By JOHN BECKLER

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The ultimate in modern cops and robbers plots reached a climax recently — appropriately near movieland—with the capture from the air of a thug named Melvin Evans.

Evans, hiding out in a remote canyon after shooting a man, suddenly found himself looking up at a helicopter bearing the star of the Los Angeles sheriff's office. He scurried deeper into the brush — too late.

Capt. Sewell Griggers set the 'copter down and put a detective armed with a tommygun on a ridge behind Evans. The fugitive surrendered, was brought in, and later was convicted of attempted murder.

Although Evans, as far as is known, is the first criminal to be successfully tracked, spotted and captured by helicopter, the idea of putting wings on the old sheriff's posse has spread far since Los Angeles organized the nation's first aero detail in 1929. More than 350 law enforcement agencies now have an air arm, but none is as mighty as Los Angeles'.

* * *

ITS STRENGTH lies in the 100-plane squadron of expert pilots who stand ready to volunteer their time, skill and aircraft for any task to which the aero detail summons them—and in the slim, 51-year-old airman who leads it.

Capt. Griggers, as head of the aero detail, is the squadron commander, and says of his winged posse: "There isn't any other group in the world that has such an accumulation of flying time."

The squadron includes two reserve Air Force generals, a retired Air Force general, a retired Marine general, and the chief test pilots of four aircraft plants, and several airlines.

Speed pilot Paul Mantz is a member; so is Charles Correll, and Andy of the Amos 'n Andy radio team. Another 100 applicants are waiting for a vacancy so they can join up.

"We can put everything from jets to Cubs in the air in a matter of minutes," says Griggers who can remember when the aero details had one detail missing—namely planes.

That was back in 1935 when Griggers closed up the little airport he had been running since 1926 and joined the sheriff's office in order, as he puts it, "to get a meal ticket" during the depression.

* * *

THE AERO DETAIL, then four years old, was a ground-bound, one-man outfit charged with enforcing flying regulations by checking out fit charged with enforcing flying regulations by checking out complaints. There was no room in it for Griggers and he was placed in charge of the pistol range.

The volunteer squadron also got its start in 1933, born as the result of the big earthquake that shook up a large part of the county and adjoining areas. With communications out, planes were needed to survey the damage and co-ordinate rescue work and private pilots were deputized for the job.

Griggers finally moved into the aero detal in 1941, by which time the volunteer squadron was losing altitude fast as its members few off to war. And the detail still had no planes of its own.

Actor Robert Taylor came to the rescue at this point, donating a four-place, single-engine plane to the sheriff's office. The venerable craft is still flying. Movie director Clarence Brown, a squadron member, bestowed another light plane on the detail in 1950, and a year ago it purchased a helicopter to round out its own little force.

In the years since the war, Griggers has started many a person unaccustomed to having the eagle eye of the law peering down from the skies.

* * *

THE FIRST to feel the chill gaze were the buoyant, carefree private pilots. Fond of buzzing the houses of girls friends or scaring the daylights out of ocean bathers by skimming the waves, the flyers found it hard to believe they were no longer as free as the birds.

"We had eight of them in jail at one time," Griggers said. "They were all doing from 30 to 90 days. Didn't have much trouble after that."

The volunteer squadron does most of its flying in search of downed or missing aircraft. A map in Griggers' office has 109 pins spotting accidents - most of them in the San Gabriel Mountains — which Grigger and his men have found, and from which they have removed 261 bodies and 30 survivors.

Erie Rail Earnings Slated to Climb

CLEVELAND (AP)—Erie Railroad earnings, up last year in spite of a five-week steel strike, are expected to rise again during 1957, Harry W. Von Willer, president of the railroad, reports.

Increased revenue from piggyback, or truck-trailer hauling operations; expansion and addition of industrial plants along Erie's lines, and several projects to reduce operating expenses were cited as reasons for anticipating higher net income.

Loudonville Opens Hospital Campaign

ASHLAND (AP)—A drive to raise $200,000 to equip and endow a nearly completed hospital in nearby Loudonville was started Wednesday night at a dinner where C. F. Kettering, who donated $300,000 for the project, was the featured speaker.

Kettering, former General Motors Corp. executive who is a part-time resident of the community, gave $300,000 for the hospital and Hugo Young, president of Flexible Body Co., donated the site.

for an objective study of inter-related problems.

General survey categories discussed last night include district organization; administrative organization; school plants (buildings); curricula; transportation; pupil progress; staff personnel, and— looming large in any school picture— finance.

In addition to these basic categories, the guest speaker pointed out the value of additional inquiry into the teaching of specialized subjects— music, vocational agriculture, industrial arts, business and the like. But he pointed out that the broader the scope of a survey, the more personnel is required, and additional personnel means increased cost.

DR. FLESHER indicated informally that a comprehensive survey of Fayette schools probably could get under way this spring— that a preliminary report could be submitted to the committee and the boards of education in the fall and a final report completed in December or January. But he intimated that a preliminary report might be ready before autumn if speed were regarded as a prime requisite.

Dr. Flesher said he welcomed the participation of other universities in surveys directed by Ohio State, adding that he would prefer working with both Miami and Ohio universities. Ohio U., however, has too many prior commitments to be available at this time, but Dr. Flesher said he would make contact with the Miami research bureau at once.

The guest speaker told the committee that the survey movement is 40 years old, that most of the studies now being conducted range somewhere between the so-called "self-study" and the "expert" type where outside individuals or groups do all of the work.

He recommended a survey in which local personnel participate and in which outside personnel act principally as consultants or referees.

* * *

UNDER the Ohio State program, university faculty members and graduate students act as a staff and are paid an "honorarium", or small fee, plus mileage, food allowance and payment for lodging if the area to be surveyed is far from Columbus. Boards contracting for such studies are billed monthly for expenses.

The cost estimate, in each case, is a "ceiling" figure, and the total cost may run less than the estimate but not more. Dr. Flesher pointed out that in some cases the surveyors go to the citizenry with public opinion polls; sometimes tests are conducted in evaluating curricula. In all surveys there are interviews with teachers and administrators as well as interviews with students themselves— particularly seniors.

"But we endeavor to create no embarrassment for anyone — we are not 'snoopers' — we are merely there to help," the educator told the committee. "And being neither residents nor taxpayers, we are completely objective in our methods."

In answer to questions, Dr. Flesher pointed out that there are a number of competent commercial survey agencies, but their charges for the type of service rendered by the universities is invariably higher. However, he urged the committee to establish this for itself before proceeding.

* * *

DR. FLESHER agreed that a survey should get under way as soon as possible, telling the committee that "the public is interested in your making progress."

"Much could be done this spring," he said.

He drew attention to a number of surveys completed by the OSU staff and its collaborators and pointed out how these surveys had helped solve various types of school problems in the communities involved.

Both W. A. Smith, superintendent of city schools, and County Superintendent W. J. Hilty, who were observers at the meeting, agreed that there is value in pointing out to the public what the schools lack by means of curricula evaluation studies.

The county superintendent called Dr. Flesher's attention to the fact that both Miami Trace and city school districts passed bond issues for school construction and improvements last fall and asked how a survey team would approach this accomplished fact.

Dr. Flesher replied that the bond issue approval action would be considered as expressions of popular opinion and that if the survey staff found redistricting adviseable, its recommendations would be bolstered by legal advice.

In any case, a survey committees's recommendations would have no effect without State Department of Education backing and taxpayer approval.

* * *

IN ADDITION to all members of the Citizens Committee and the two superintendents, others at last night's special meeting included William A. Lovell, Elmer Reed and Charles Pensyl, members of the city board; Fred Rost, the board's clerk-treasurer and a group of lay observers.

Kenneth Bush, named committee secretary after the county superintendent resigned that position, assumed his new duties at the meeting. Committee members, in addition to Janes and Cunningham, are Charles Burk, Floyd Hoppes, Joseph Campbell, Ancil Creamer, Walter Rettig, Ray Brandenburg and Maynard Hoppes.

Pickaway Survey Data Disclosed

CIRCLEVILLE — Latest figures compiled by the current county-wide school survey reveal that population in county school districts (all of Pickaway County excluding Circleville) has climbed nearly 9 per cent since 1950, totaling now about 22,000.

In addition, figures show that school enrollment in the 16 county school districts has increased more than 6 per cent since the 1947-48 school year, and stands today at 4,307 pupils, of whom 3,300 are in grades one through eight.

These figures were part of the recent data compiled on county schools by the study being carried on by the Center for Educational Research at Ohio University. The study, which is made without charge to the county, is under the direction of Dr. William Chase.

* * *

THE DATA revealed conditions of both overcrowding and under-utilization in some schools. Duvall, for instance, with a capacity of 144 pupils has only 111 enrolled. Utilization therefore is 77 per cent.

In contrast Monroe has a capacity of 100 and there are 173 pupils going to school there, resulting in a utilization of 173 per cent.

With regard to room utilization, figures indicated that while some regular county classrooms were being used 96 per cent of the school day, as in Saltcreek, other regular classrooms, were being used only 38 per cent of the time as at Perry.

Chicago's Teen-Age Gangs Operate like Old Mobsters

CHICAGO (AP) — Teen-age gangs now are producing Chicago headlines of the same type the adult mobsters did in the past. And a crime official said that "the only people you can blame are their parents."

The headlines are over stories of crimes of violence—such as the recent slayings of a boy in a hammer attack and a man in a motel robbery.

"There's no use burying our heads in the sand," comments Walter Devereux, chief investigator of the Chicago Crime Commission. "This city is not safe to roam in and it's getting worse."

But the juvenile division of the Police Department says that, on the basis of the current rate, it doubts that the crime rate for 1957 will be much higher than 1956.

During 1956 there were 12,439 cases noted by the division. The statistics included: larceny of automobiles, 747; burglary, 614; robberies (mostly strong arm), 229.

The bulk of the others were in the minor class. The record shows that 4,845 of the complaints were handled by "station adjustment."

But there have been a number of instances of teen-age gang action. Such as these:

An elderly shoe repair man and five youths were viciously attacked by a gang of some 30 toughs, armed with bottles and knives, apparently without provocation. The victims were hospitalized.

Two gangs wrecked a restaurant in an outbreak of rivalry and when thrown out, later returned, fired a bullet through a window and wounded a customer.

A gang preyed on high school pupils, extorting 50 cents to $2 weekly as protection money.

Thirteen white toughs are under indictment for murder in the hammer slaying of Alvin Palmer, a Negro teenager who was attacked as he stood at a South Side bus stop.

And so the reports go, day after day.

The so-called century plant does not bloom only once in 100 years. Some kinds flower every year and others at longer periods, but none blooms so rarely as once in a hundred years.

LOOKIT THE MILLIONAIRES!

THE MAP shows the number of persons in various states with $1,000,000 or more income in 1956. New York leads with 53, Texas is second with 18 and Delaware ranks third with 11. The poor folks in the shaded states, alas, are without million-dollar incomes.

15-Month Extension Seen On Corporation Tax Setup

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen Byrd (D-Va) said today House leaders have agreed to go along with a plan to increase from a year to 15 months an extension of present rates on corporation taxes.

In view of this, Byrd reported, the Finance Committee he heads undoubtedly will vote for the longer extension to July 1, 1958. The House already has voted an extension to April 1, 1958. Unless Congress acts, the business tax rates will drop April 1, cutting revenues $3 billion a year.

Byrd said the longer extension would have the advantage of making the tax dates correspond with the government's fiscal years, which start July 1, so that, "if we ever can cut taxes, we would know just how it would affect the revenue."

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey told the Finance Committee he would have no objection to the 15-month extension provided it did not delay final action on the bill beyond March 31.

* * *

BYRD SAID House leaders had told him they would accept the change without a conference. This would mean the measure could be sent to the White House before the deadline if the Senate acts by the middle of next week.

Present corporation rates include a 30 per cent normal tax on earnings up to $25,000, and a 22 per cent surtax on all the rest for a total of 52 per cent.

Meanwhile, the House cut deeper than its appropriations committee had recommended in slicing nearly $538 million from a bill to finance 18 separate federal agencies.

The reduction, as approved by the House on a voice vote, was 9 per cent below the $5,923,195,000 President Eisenhower had requested to run these independent agencies in the fiscal year starting July 1.

Last Friday, the Appropriations Committee had suggested the total in the bill be whacked by $516,993,300. But the House went beyond this, trimming another $21 million of requests.

It did this by wiping out a $19 million fund for stockpiling strategic materials and by snipping $2 million from funds for the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics.

There are 30 bones in the human arm.

Citizens Panel Action

for an objective study of inter-related problems.

General survey categories discussed last night include district organization; administrative organization; school plants (buildings); curricula; transportation; pupil progress; staff personnel, and— looming large in any school picture— finance.

In addition to these basic categories, the guest speaker pointed out the value of additional inquiry into the teaching of specialized subjects— music, vocational agriculture, industrial arts, business and the like. But he pointed out that the broader the scope of a survey, the more personnel is required, and additional personnel means increased cost.

DR. FLESHER indicated informally that a comprehensive survey of Fayette schools probably could get under way this spring— that a preliminary report could be submitted to the committee and the boards of education in the fall and a final report completed in December or January. But he intimated that a preliminary report might be ready before autumn if speed were regarded as a prime requisite.

Dr. Flesher said he welcomed the participation of other universities in surveys directed by Ohio State, adding that he would prefer working with both Miami and Ohio universities. Ohio U., however, has too many prior commitments to be available at this time, but Dr. Flesher said he would make contact with the Miami research bureau at once.

OIL BURNER FIRE TRAPS 6 CHILDREN

SIX CHILDREN, trapped in their room when an exploding oil burner turned their home into an inferno, in the south end of Boston, were rescued by their brother, a passing motorist, firemen and police. Here, two of the sisters, Janice Beede, 6, and Roberta, 17, direct firemen in placing a ladder against the window. Three of the youngsters were burned. Small School Board Killed; Consolidation Idea Pushed

By ART PARKS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Schools took the legislative spotlight today.

The House Education Committee killed two bills designed to reduce the 23 - member elected State Board of Education to a smaller, appointed board.

The Senate Education Committee took two steps to ease the transfer of school district territory and the consolidation of school districts.

One bill approved by the Senate committee would permit the State Board of Education to get the ball rolling on school district consolidations—even across county lines.

The other would permit 75 per cent of the residents of any given area to petition for a transfer from one school district to another.

The actions came shortly before the Legislature recessed for the weekend.

The action killing the moves to change membership of the State Board of Education gave the present board a new lease on life.

Gov. C. William O'Neill has called the present elected board "unwieldy" and Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem agrees. House Speaker Roger Cloud held out for more time to allow the 15-month old state school board to "get its feet on the ground."

The killed measures to make the State Board of Education appointed instead of elective came from Reps. James McCaffery (D-Cuyahoga) and James A. Lentz (D-Fairfield).

The bill to permit the state school board to start consolidation proceedings would permit approval of such moves upon 50 per cent favorable votes of both the school district which would gain area and the district which would lose. The bill is sponsored by Sen. Charles A. Mosher, chairman of the Senate Education Committee.

The bill permitting transfer of school territory on the petition of 75 per cent of the electors is sponsored by Sen. Delbert E. Latta (R-Wood.) The procedure would replace county citizen's committees which, under the law, have been permitted to ask such transfers.

The Senate Wednesday passed unanimously and sent to the House a bill to cut fro.. 15 to 8 per cent the percentage of a highway construction project's total cost the department may hold back. The percentage is held back pending acceptance of the completed project.

The bill's sponsor, Sen. I. E. Baker (R-Montgomery) explained: "In these days of projects in the millions, the amount held back by the state is too large. It forces contractors to borrow heavily. The cost of this borrowing is reflected in their bids on highway projects and puts the contractors in a financial hole. This prevents them from bidding on future projects until they get paid for past jobs."

The House passed, 99-29, and sent to the Senate a bill authorizing voluntary deductions from the pay of local and public employes for charitable contributions.

The House approved by voice vote a resolution calling for action to rid Chillicothe of an insect-infested swamp near Adena, home of Ohio's first governor, Thomas Worthington. Construction of a highway into the shrine apparently caused the swamp.

The Senate Taxation Committee recommended passage of a House-approved bill to cut the license fee for buses of privately owned transit companies from a present average of $300 a year to $10.

Meanwhile, the Senate Commerce and Labor Committee heard employer groups insist they are asking only for equal treatment in their support of a bill which would ban the use of union dues directly in support of political candidates.

During the first hearing on the bill, representatives of the Ohio Manufacturers Assn., the Ohio Chamber of Commerce and the Ohio Council of Retail Merchants were heard.

The House Education Committee recommended passage of a bill to create a state university in eastern Ohio, but sent the bill to the House Finance Committee because an appropriation to carry out the purposes of the bill obviously would be needed.

The province of Alberta provides about 90 per cent of all the oil produced in Canada.

State's Fair Trade Law To Be Tested In Supreme Court

COLUMBUS (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court has agreed to study the question whether a person without a contract can sell anti-freeze at a lower price than his competitor who has a contract with the maker.

Bargain Fair, Inc. of Mentor asked the high court to release it from an injunction issued in Lake County against the sale of Prestone anti-freeze below the minimum price set in fair trade statutes.

Bargain Fair and Mentor Brands, Inc. maintained they should not be restricted to the fair trade price since they did not sign a fair trade contract with Union Carbide, and fair trade prices do not apply to non-signers.

Southeast Ohio TB Clinic To Be Dedicated March 29

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Ceremonies dedicating the state's new Southeast Ohio Tuberculosis Hospital ducted March 29.

Dr. Ralph E. Dwork, state health director, said Gov. C. William O'Neill will be speaker at the dedication.

The hospital will be open to public view March 30 and 31.

The 1½ million dollar structure, under supervision of the Ohio Department of Health, will serve all the people of Ohio, Dr. Dwork said. He added, however, that it's expected most of the patients will come from a 14-county area bordering by U. S. 40 and the Scioto River.

Counties in this area include Athens, Fairfield, Gallia, Guernsey, Hocking, Lawrence, Meigs, Monroe, Morgan, Muskingum, Noble, Perry, Vinton and Washington.

Dr. Dwork said the 77-bed hospital has modern diagnostic and treatment services for tuberculo- is patients and outpatients.

The hospital, he said, "will fulfill a long-felt need in southeastern Ohio, and will b a model of tuberculosis hospital design of this size."

The three-story structure was designed by Dan A. Carmichael,

A staff of approximately 10 will care for patients in the hospital, under the medical direction of Dr. Harold H. Cashman, former superintendent of the Belmont Sanatorium, St. Clairsville. Robert W. Stuart is the new hospital's administrator.

Dr. Dwork said the federal government granted $350,000 toward construction of the hospital Cos of equipping the TBG center was $188,000.

Offices, medical services, eating facilities, patient and outpatient services are located on the ground floor. There is an operating room for minor or emergency surgery as well as a complete laboratory.

Recreation, movies and religious services, Dr. Dwork said, will be held in the 108-seat auditorium also situated on the ground floor.

There are 17 two-bedrooms and four one-bedrooms on the second floor, providing accommodations for 38 patients. The top floor has beds for 39 patients, accommodated in 17 two-bedrooms and five one-bedrooms.

Some 150 persons from the 14-county area including state legislators, Trudeau Society officials, county commissioners and other health officials have been invited to participate in the ceremonies.

Air of Uncertainty Veiling Prospects of Boston's Sox

Editor' Note: Following is the first in a series of articles on the prospects of major league baseball teams.

By JOE REICHLER

SARASOTA, Fla., (AP) — An air of uncertainty surrounds the Boston Red Sox training camp.

The Red Sox can finish anywhere from second to fifth without raising an eyebrow. They have a fine hitting outfield, good catching and fair pitching but they also have what is probably the most porous infield in the league, they sadly need a lefthanded pitcher or two and two of the club's most dangerous batters — Ted Williams and Mickey Vernon — are nearing 39. The Red Sox finished fourth — 13 games behind last year.

Mike Higgins, starting his third year at the helm after one happy and one disappointing season, is neither optimistic nor pessimistic as he discussed the Red Sox' pennant chances.

"Our chief problem," Mike conceded, "is the infield, of course. The loss of Don Buddin to the service has hurt us a lot."

If Higgins had to open the season tomorrow, he probably would have Dick Gernert at first base, Gene Mauch, the retreaded 31-year-old former National Leaguer, at second; Billy Klaus at shortstop and Ted Lepcio at third. That would mean that Vernon and Billy Goodman would be warming the bench or at best, share the regular first and second base posts.

In Williams (.345), Jack Jensen (.315) and Jimmy Piersall (.293), Higgins owns the best hitting outfield in the league. The trip slugged 58 homers and drove in 266 runs. The catching with Sam White (.245), Pete Daley (.267) and rookie Haywood Sullivan, up from San Francisco (.296), presents no problem.

Our pitching figures to be better," said Higgins. "I thought it would be real good last year but I was disappointed. Frank Sullivan (14-9) has only a fair season, Willard Nixon (9-8) had a sore shoulder, Mel Parnell (7-6) injured his leg and Bob Porterfield (3-12) had a terrible time.

"Dave Sisler (9-8) had a good first season and should be better. I look for Tom Brewer (19-9) to develop into a top-flight star this year. I really think we've got enough pitching for a fine staff. That's the one place we've just got to improve."

Demoted Police Officers Cleared

EAST LIVERPOOL (AP)—Two police officers demoted May 1 following a Columbiana County grand jury investigation of an East Liverpool burglary scandal in which seven patrolmen were indicted, have been reinstated by Mayor Arnold W. Devon.

The mayor Wednesday swore in Lt. John L. Russell as police chief to replace Acting Chief Robert H. Pyle and Patrolman George B. Kidd as lieutenant to succeed Acting Lt. Robert Duffy.

Findlay, Utility Continue Debate

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio Fuel Gas Co. and Findlay attorneys are still deadlocked on the question of how much the company should be allowed to increase its rates.

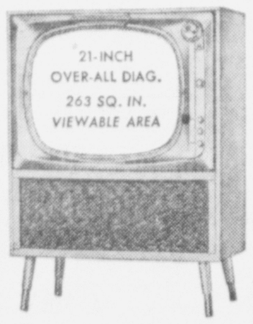

Findlay's City Council last July authorized the company to increase its annual gross revenue by $142,000 through rate hikes. The company claims it needs an additional $150,000 to bring in a reasonable rate of profit.

Cadillac

Speaks A Language All Its Own!

Take a good look at this gentleman as he strides out into the early morning to his waiting car.

In all probability you feel—as we do—that you know a goodly number of things about him.

First of all, we would be willing to venture that he is a man who holds to high standards of achievement.

We would guess that he is held in high personal esteem by his friends and associates.

And we would also suppose that he is a practical man who is keenly aware of the basic value and worth of the things around him.

The reason for all this is not far to seek.

For the motor car that awaits him at the curbside bears the beautiful crest of Cadillac. And here, beyond all conjecture, is the most eloquent spokesman in the entire realm of possessions.

In fact, the Cadillac car has, over the years, been so closely associated with the leading citizenry of our land that the two have become all but inseparable in the public mind.

And just as these motorists have placed their trust in Cadillac, so Cadillac has given them everything they could hope for in an automobile.

Cadillac has given them unduplicated beauty and luxury . . . unsurpassed performance and comfort . . . and extraordinary quality and value.

Small School Board Killed; Consolidation Idea Pushed

By ART PARKS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Schools took the legislative spotlight today.

The House Education Committee killed two bills designed to reduce the 23 - member elected State Board of Education to a smaller, appointed board.

The Senate Education Committee took two steps to ease the transfer of school district territory and the consolidation of school districts.

One bill approved by the Senate committee would permit the State Board of Education to get the ball rolling on school district consolidations—even across county lines.

The other would permit 75 per cent of the residents of any given area to petition for a transfer from one school district to another.

The actions came shortly before the Legislature recessed for the weekend.

The action killing the moves to change membership of the State Board of Education gave the present board a new lease on life.

Gov. C. William O'Neill has called the present elected board "unwieldy" and Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem agrees. House Speaker Roger Cloud held out for more time to allow the 15-month old state school board to "get its feet on the ground."

The killed measures to make the State Board of Education appointed instead of elective came from Reps. James McCaffery (D-Cuyahoga) and James A. Lentz (D-Fairfield).

The bill to permit the state school board to start consolidation proceedings would permit approval of such moves upon 50 per cent favorable votes of both the school district which would gain area and the district which would lose. The bill is sponsored by Sen. Charles A. Mosher, chairman of the Senate Education Committee.

The bill permitting transfer of school territory on the petition of 75 per cent of the electors is sponsored by Sen. Delbert E. Latta (R-Wood.) The procedure would replace county citizen's committees which, under the law, have been permitted to ask such transfers.

The Senate Wednesday passed unanimously and sent to the House a bill to cut fro.. 15 to 8 per cent the percentage of a highway construction project's total cost the department may hold back. The percentage is held back pending acceptance of the completed project.

The bill's sponsor, Sen. I. E. Baker (R-Montgomery) explained: "In these days of projects in the millions, the amount held back by the state is too large. It forces contractors to borrow heavily. The cost of this borrowing is reflected in their bids on highway projects and puts the contractors in a financial hole. This prevents them from bidding on future projects until they get paid for past jobs."

The House passed, 99-29, and sent to the Senate a bill authorizing voluntary deductions from the pay of local and public employes for charitable contributions.

The House approved by voice vote a resolution calling for action to rid Chillicothe of an insect-infested swamp near Adena, home of Ohio's first governor, Thomas Worthington. Construction of a highway into the shrine apparently caused the swamp.

The Senate Taxation Committee recommended passage of a House-approved bill to cut the license fee for buses of privately owned transit companies from a present average of $300 a year to $10.

Meanwhile, the Senate Commerce and Labor Committee heard employer groups insist they are asking only for equal treatment in their support of a bill which would ban the use of union dues directly in support of political candidates.

During the first hearing on the bill, representatives of the Ohio Manufacturers Assn., the Ohio Chamber of Commerce and the Ohio Council of Retail Merchants were heard.

Living in Debt Now Considered 'Way of Life'

Buying Goods on Cuff Is Established Habit, Probably Will Continue

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — That living in debt is a way of life for an increasing number of Americans is official today. A government agency study group says so. And it thinks the habit will go on spreading.

This mayn't surprise the millions who together have 31½ billion dollars more to pay on such things as autos, furniture, home appliances and travel, and to the hordes who added about 15 billion dollars to the nation's outstanding mortgage debt total last year.

This way of life is most prevalent among younger families and among those with incomes in the middle brackets.

The study group is the statistical staff of the Federal Reserve Board which had been asked to report on installment credit to President Eisenhower's Council of Economic Advisers. It finds that buying goods and services on the cuff and making payments on a house over many years has become widely respectable, especially since World War II.

Families have been putting an average of 11 per cent of their spendable income into installment buying in the last two years, the group reports. It thinks this will gradually rise to 13 or 14 per cent by 1965.

Most families pay little attention to how much more this costs them in interest rates and carrying charges. The controlling concern is how much the monthly payments will be and if the family income will cover them.

For example, the average monthly payment on new cars has stayed around $80 in recent years. The rise in total auto financing has come, in addition to the number sold, in the lengthening of the period of payment. This has let installment buyers take on higher priced models.

Finance companies and auto makers keep a close watch on the volume of repayments. For one thing, they want to see the percentage of defaults—which has stayed reassuringly low. But mostly they figure that as the final payments near, the motorist becomes a prime candidate for a new car—and a fresh load of monthly payments.

The Federal Reserve group figures that monthly payment terms on autos and appliances have been lowered just about as far as they can be, so it thinks most of the future rise in the total of installment debt will come from the new and growing invasion of the consumer credit filed by the financers of travel, vacations and services, and by the increased emphasis on it by department and other retail stores seeking a larger share of the consumer's spendable dollar, as measured by his income expectations.

Increased Savings Labeled Big Need

CINCINNATI (AP)—The chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board thinks that savings and loan associations need "more savings by the American people to meet housing loan demands."

Albert J. Robertson told stockholders of the Federal Home Loan Bank of Cincinnati that the need for increased savings is "a real challenge."

Robertson said system member assets have reached a record $41.9 billion or more than $5 billion over a year ago.

By LEE HANCOCK
Central Press Assn.

OLD TIMERS, who remember the roaring days when railroad builders fought Indians and shot buffalo might think today's railroad men live a pretty tame life.

The facts are otherwise. Keeping the nation's more than 350,000 miles of railroad tracks open is no mean achievement.

While the railroads have not, as yet, been able to stop floods and earthquakes, they have become champions at putting up a winning fight once these disasters do occur.

The Pennsy will load a bridge over the Ohio river with old engines to try to hole it down against the pressure of rising waters. When this move fails, they wash out tons of mud with fire hoses. They use bulldozers, and put shovels into the hands of every available railroad man. The Pennsy can get a washed out railroad line back in shape in an incredibly short time.

* * *

ROCK ISLAND railroad workers remember well the year 1951 when the Kaw and Missouri rivers staged the nation's first billion dollar flood. At one point 15 feet of swirling water covered over 1,600 freight cars in Rock Island yards.

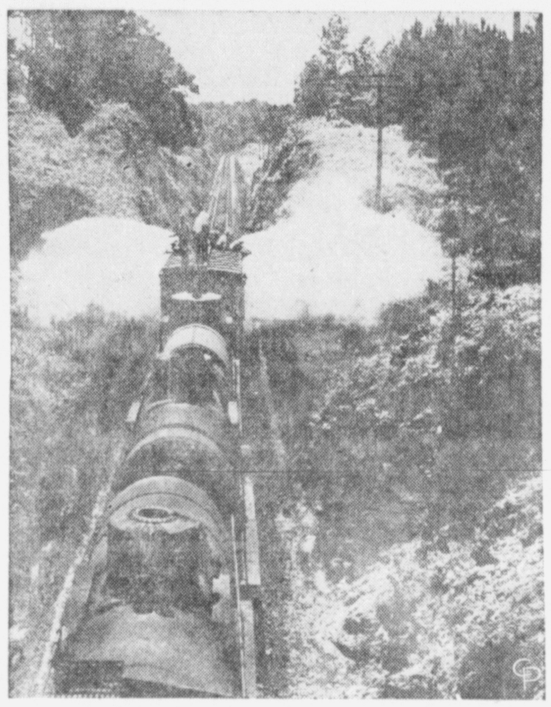

At Valencia, Kan., the Kaw river deposited nearly a mile of track in the middle of the river. For 45 miles west of St. Louis, Rock Island's track were under four feet of water.

Probably the two worst aftermaths of a flood to the railroad men are mud and dead animals in the case of the Kaw and Missouri disaster, railroaders had to dispose of mud three feet deep, and 12,000 animals.

For the Great Northern railway, the number one enemy is snow. Great Northern tackles its big adversary with a huge snow plow mounted on a 70-ton flat car and pushed by a steam locomotive.

* * *

WITH THIS equipment they scoop up the snow, toss it 75 or 100 feet in any direction, or, in popular areas, shoot it into a melting tank.

Recently the Great Northern took an even more drastic step to eliminate the hazards of heavy snow slides. They cut a "million dollar mile" through the rugged Cascade mountains of Washington.

The project involved boring a new, 675-foot viaduct. Both snow and rockslide hazards have been eliminated in that area.

* * *

THE UNION PACIFIC'S main problem is drifting sand. They control it with a bitumen called HRM which is sprayed across the right of way and makes the sand set almost like a pavement. The Union Pacific is not as fortunate as the railroaders in Saudi Arabia. There the supply of oil is so abundant that they simply run it through a hose like water and use it to settle the shifting sands.

The railroads running through the Bayou country of Louisiana have the problem of brush control. In these areas, willows sprouting from stumps grow as much as 22 feet a year.

The railroads use the latest in chemical spraying devices, manage to do a pretty good job of keeping the vegetatio from choking off the tracks.

The Southern Pacific has the most spectacular enemy to contend with. When an earthquake hits California, which it does on occasion, tracks are twisted out of line, tunnels destroyed or damaged.

* * *

THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC, from experience with this sort of thing, immediately puts through a call to construction firms. The problem here is an earthmoving one, and calls for special equipment.

The railroad has installed special detector gadgets which warn train engineers a safe distance ahead of such perils as floods, earthquakes, rock slides and fires.

Elements gone berserk can cause plenty of trouble, but the railroad men take it in stride. It's when it comes to human foolishness, like the desire that seizes some motorists to race a train at a crossing, that the railroad men throw up their hands.

Meat Aplenty But Prices Not Quite So Low

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A variety of meats will be featured in the nation's supermarkets and neighborhood grocery stores this week, but the prices won't be as low as in recent weeks.

Lamb is reported two to six cents a pound higher in many places, an increase matched by sirloin and rib roast although not quite so widely. The higher charges at the retail level reflect higher wholesale prices. One supermarket chain meat expert put the increase to them, in two weeks time, at nine cents for lamb and four cents for beef.

In any event, lamb (leg and shoulder) and pork (chops and roast) are getting more of a play in the stores this week than they've been receiving recently. Veal, too, will be a special item in more stores than usual.

Beef again will be the No. 1 attraction in a good many stores. Chuck roast and ground beef, however, will be as numerous as the more expensive steaks and rib roasts.

Eggs, which have been bargains for some time, are two to four cents a dozen higher in many areas this week.

The Agriculture Department expects egg prices to stay below 1956 levels though the spring, than run higher than last year by next fall. That's because the department is looking for lower production of eggs.

Spring also should provide bargains in some vegetables which have had warm weather and plenty of rain. Asparagus, lettuce, broccoli and cauliflower are expected to be more plentiful than usual, and therefore cheaper.

Tomatoes, onions and cabbage, on the other hand, are expected to have smaller crops, and higher prices, than a year ago this spring.

This week, however, the outstanding buys are reported to be storage potatoes from late fall crops, onions, root crops such as carrots from nearby fields and the "greens"—kale, collard, broccoli and turnip greens.

Good buys include eggplant, pascal celery, iceberg lettuce from Western growing areas, old cabbage, sweet potatoes and peppers. Snap beans, cucumbers and asparagus all are cheaper, and expected to continue their price drop.

About 5,500 persons visit the White House daily.

New Hospital Bids Due To Be Opened

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction said today bids on construction of a 104-bed adult receiving hospital at Dayton State Hospital will be opened March 26.

The project will be financed with $750,000 appropriated by the GeneralAssembly and an additional $250,000 from the $150 million bond issue approved by voters.

Around 2,800 New Auto Tags Remain To Be Issued in County

With only eight days to the March 31 deadline, between 2,800 and 3,000 of the 8,500 new license tags sent to Fayette County remain to be issued.

Mrs. Fern Chaffin, one of the two deputy registrars in the county, estimated that two-thirds of the 8,100 tags sent to the Auto Club, 124 S. Main St., had been issued.

The other deputy registrar in the county, Mrs. Heber Flax, received 400 tags at Jeffersonville. They have been issued at about the same rate.

Since the rush for tags during the first few days of March tapered off, car and truck owners have been coming in a fairly steady stream. There have been very few lulls, Mrs. Chaffin said, but neither have there been any big rushes since the first week.

The Auto Club prepared for the tag-issuing month again this year by putting on 10 extra clerks to make out and process the applications for licenses.

* * *

TO RELIEVE a possible rush for tags just before the March 31 (actually March 30 because March 31 falls on Sunday), the Auto Club will remain open from 7 until 8:30 p. m. March 29 and 30, Mrs. Chaffin said. Regular hours are 8:30 until 5 p. m. with an hour closed at noon for lunch.

The office here was sent tags for 1,325 trucks, 1,060 trailers, 850 farm vehicles, 125 motorcycles and 40 house trailers in addition to the 8,100 for passenger cars.

Residents of the New Holland community may get their licenses from Mrs. Larry Hunter, a deputy registrar who has set up her desk in the New Holland Leader office.

All motor vehicles must have the 1957 tags in place by April 1.

Hoover Says U. S. Facing Inflation

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover said Wednesday that taxpayers are "groaning" over the record government spending and he warned that inflation is the country's most serious threat.

Hoover, 82, said that if the public took some of the "special interest groups' pressure off Congress" the lawmakers would have a better chance to reduce the government's spending program.

"The purchasing power of the dollar is down every month," said Hoover who is in Miami Beach for his customary bonefishing in the Florida Keys.

Living in Debt Now Considered 'Way of Life'

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — That living in debt is a way of life for an increasing number of Americans is official today. A government agency study group says so. And it thinks the habit will go on spreading.

This mayn't surprise the millions who together have 31½ billion dollars more to pay on such things as autos, furniture, home appliances and travel, and to the hordes who added about 15 billion dollars to the nation's outstanding mortgage debt total last year.

This way of life is most prevalent among younger families and among those with incomes in the middle brackets.

The study group is the statistical staff of the Federal Reserve Board which had been asked to report on installment credit to President Eisenhower's Council of Economic Advisers. It finds that buying goods and services on the cuff and making payments on a house over many years has become widely respectable, especially since World War II.

Families have been putting an average of 11 per cent of their spendable income into installment buying in the last two years, the group reports. It thinks this will gradually rise to 13 or 14 per cent by 1965.

Most families pay little attention to how much more this costs them in interest rates and carrying charges. The controlling concern is how much the monthly payments will be and if the family income will cover them.

For example, the average monthly payment on new cars has stayed around $80 in recent years. The rise in total auto financing has come, in addition to the number sold, in the lengthening of the period of payment. This has let installment buyers take on higher priced models.

Finance companies and auto makers keep a close watch on the volume of repayments. For one thing, they want to see the percentage of defaults—which has stayed reassuringly low. But mostly they figure that as the final payments near, the motorist becomes a prime candidate for a new car—and a fresh load of monthly payments.

The Federal Reserve group figures that monthly payment terms on autos and appliances have been lowered just about as far as they can be, so it thinks most of the future rise in the total of installment debt will come from the new and growing invasion of the consumer credit filed by the financers of travel, vacations and services, and by the increased emphasis on it by department and other retail stores seeking a larger share of the consumer's spendable dollar, as measured by his income expectations.

Increased Savings Labeled Big Need

CINCINNATI (AP)—The chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board thinks that savings and loan associations need "more savings by the American people to meet housing loan demands."

Albert J. Robertson told stockholders of the Federal Home Loan Bank of Cincinnati that the need for increased savings is "a real challenge."

Robertson said system member assets have reached a record $41.9 billion or more than $5 billion over a year ago.

By LEE HANCOCK
Central Press Assn.

OLD TIMERS, who remember the roaring days when railroad builders fought Indians and shot buffalo might think today's railroad men live a pretty tame life.

The facts are otherwise. Keeping the nation's more than 350,000 miles of railroad tracks open is no mean achievement.

While the railroads have not, as yet, been able to stop floods and earthquakes, they have become champions at putting up a winning fight once these disasters do occur.

The Pennsy will load a bridge over the Ohio river with old engines to try to hole it down against the pressure of rising waters. When this move fails, they wash out tons of mud with fire hoses. They use bulldozers, and put shovels into the hands of every available railroad man. The Pennsy can get a washed out railroad line back in shape in an incredibly short time.

* * *

ROCK ISLAND railroad workers remember well the year 1951 when the Kaw and Missouri rivers staged the nation's first billion dollar flood. At one point 15 feet of swirling water covered over 1,600 freight cars in Rock Island yards.

At Valencia, Kan., the Kaw river deposited nearly a mile of track in the middle of the river. For 45 miles west of St. Louis, Rock Island's track were under four feet of water.

Probably the two worst aftermaths of a flood to the railroad men are mud and dead animals in the case of the Kaw and Missouri disaster, railroaders had to dispose of mud three feet deep, and 12,000 animals.

For the Great Northern railway, the number one enemy is snow. Great Northern tackles its big adversary with a huge snow plow mounted on a 70-ton flat car and pushed by a steam locomotive.

* * *

WITH THIS equipment they scoop up the snow, toss it 75 or 100 feet in any direction, or, in popular areas, shoot it into a melting tank.

Recently the Great Northern took an even more drastic step to eliminate the hazards of heavy snow slides. They cut a "million dollar mile" through the rugged Cascade mountains of Washington.

The project involved boring a new, 675-foot viaduct. Both snow and rockslide hazards have been eliminated in that area.

* * *

THE UNION PACIFIC'S main problem is drifting sand. They control it with a bitumen called HRM which is sprayed across the right of way and makes the sand set almost like a pavement. The Union Pacific is not as fortunate as the railroaders in Saudi Arabia. There the supply of oil is so abundant that they simply run it through a hose like water and use it to settle the shifting sands.

The railroads running through the Bayou country of Louisiana have the problem of brush control. In these areas, willows sprouting from stumps grow as much as 22 feet a year.

The railroads use the latest in chemical spraying devices, manage to do a pretty good job of keeping the vegetatio from choking off the tracks.

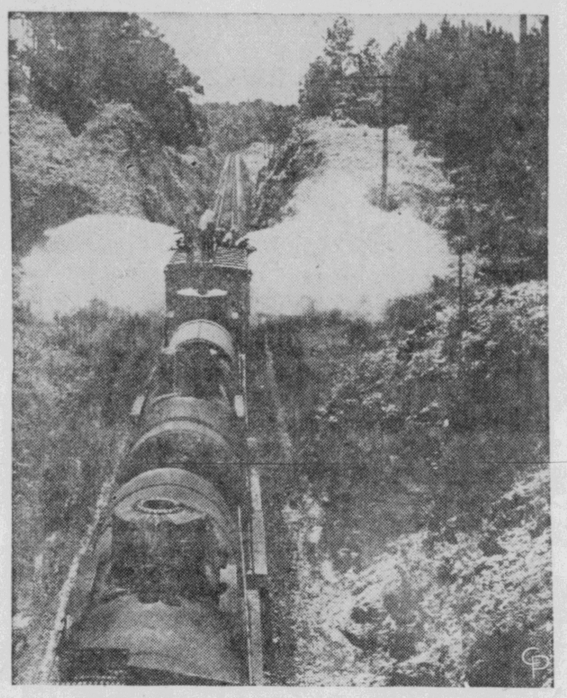

The Southern Pacific has the most spectacular enemy to contend with. When an earthquake hits California, which it does on occasion, tracks are twisted out of line, tunnels destroyed or damaged.

* * *

THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC, from experience with this sort of thing, immediately puts through a call to construction firms. The problem here is an earthmoving one, and calls for special equipment.

The railroad has installed special detector gadgets which warn train engineers a safe distance ahead of such perils as floods, earthquakes, rock slides and fires.

Elements gone berserk can cause plenty of trouble, but the railroad men take it in stride. It's when it comes to human foolishness, like the desire that seizes some motorists to race a train at a crossing, that the railroad men throw up their hands.

National Education Assn. Plans Convention Centennial Observance

By PAUL SHINKMAN

PHILADELPHIA — Almost before the dust has begun to settle on school-room desks throughout the nation this coming June, some 20,000 teachers will begin a trek from every corner of the United States to an aged but still stately building nestling among the skyscarpers of Philadelphia.

Here they will pay homage to the 43 American men and women who, on that spot exactly 100 years ago, laid the foundation for the first nation-wide organiganization of American teachers.

Then the visitors will move on to various parts of the city for the six-day (June 30-July 5) centennial convention of the National Education Assn., whose membership of 659,000 is today's embodiment of the dream of those 43 American educators who founded the group, then known as the National Teachers Assn.

* * *

WOMEN WERE not allowed to speak in meetings of the association during its first 25 years, whereas at this year's convention no male member may speak until he has been recognized officially by a woman; namely Miss Martha Shull, teacher of English in Jefferson high school, Portsland, Ore., and 1957 president of the association.

Said Miss Shull with a smile as she sat behind her desk in Washington headquarters:

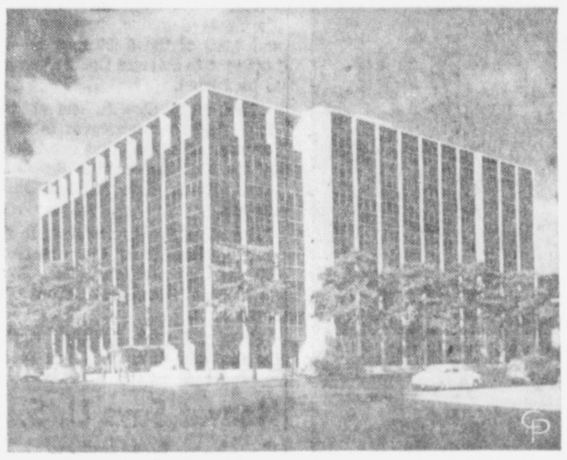

"It is not easy to picture women teachers remaining silent throughout meetings of the association during those first 25 years," Miss Shull says. "However, it must be remembered that, of the 43 founders only two were women. The surprising thing is, I suppose, that at that time any women at all were included. Today we alternate the presidency annually between men and women."

Miss Shull is one of the few classroom teachers to head the NEA. During the first 50 years of its existence, the organization gave this category of its membership virtually no voice in its affairs.

* * *

MEANWHILE, the centennial convention already is being heralded with expressions of interest received from all parts of the United States and from abroad.

It is expected that one of the most treasured greetings were come from President Eisenhower, whose history-making National Conference on Education in Washington in December, 1956, owed so much of its success to the NEA.

National Educational association headquarters, Washington.

Said Miss Shull in response to a request for an interim observation from the president's desk in the association's handsome new glass-walled building in Washington:

"The most gratifyng thing is the rediscovery that there really is an enthusiastic concern with our schools, their problems, and what they mean to the community in a democracy."

* * *

"I AM IMPRESSED, first, by the devoted way in which teachers spend time out of school on projects to acquaint people with what they are doing. There is also an increasing enthusiasm on the part of people outside the schools many of them non-parents.

"I am impressed, in the second place, by the importance of organized effort and individual responsibility in a world now so big that conformity becomes less mandatory. We need to encourage individuality more than ever before.

"As for my duties as president, I love them. I have never been happier—but what a thrill it will be to return to my boys and girls at Jefferson high next autumn!"

Big Change Seen In City Planning

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A city planning expert predicts that highway construction over the next 20 years will change the character of metropolitan areas more than all the work of metropolitan planners since 1945.

John T. Howard, Massachusetts Institute of Ttchnology associate professor, offered with his prophecy on the impact of the expanded federal highway construction program this lament:

"We are ill prepared, now that the new highways are upon us, to say where they should be built in the best interests of the metropolitan areas."

2 Men Injured On Fostoria Job

FOSTORIA (AP)—Two men dynamiting hardened fertilizer at the Baugh & Son Co. here were injured when several tons of the material fell on them as they worked under an overhang.

Ramon Gallardo, 28, of Findlay, was admitted to a hospital in Toledo with a broken leg and fractures of both feet. Gerald Barnett, 19, of Fostoria, was taken to a hospital here with a fractured pelvis.

City Halls Have Been Divided, But Never Like This

THIS MOVING SCENE, which seems to be a house divided against itself vertically, shows the old Parma, O., City hall after it plopped through the [illegible] while being shunted to another site. Workmen rolled it over pavement undermined by an old gas main, and the pavement didn't hold. The jolt separated the bottom from the top, hence the jacks. (International)

National Education Assn. Plans Convention Centennial Observance

By PAUL SHINKMAN

PHILADELPHIA — Almost before the dust has begun to settle on school-room desks throughout the nation this coming June, some 20,000 teachers will begin a trek from every corner of the United States to an aged but still stately building nestling among the skyscarpers of Philadelphia.

Here they will pay homage to the 43 American men and women who, on that spot exactly 100 years ago, laid the foundation for the first nation-wide organiganization of American teachers.

Then the visitors will move on to various parts of the city for the six-day (June 30-July 5) centennial convention of the National Education Assn., whose membership of 659,000 is today's embodiment of the dream of those 43 American educators who founded the group, then known as the National Teachers Assn.

* * *

WOMEN WERE not allowed to speak in meetings of the association during its first 25 years, whereas at this year's convention no male member may speak until he has been recognized officially by a woman; namely Miss Martha Shull, teacher of English in Jefferson high school, Portsland, Ore., and 1957 president of the association.

Said Miss Shull with a smile as she sat behind her desk in Washington headquarters:

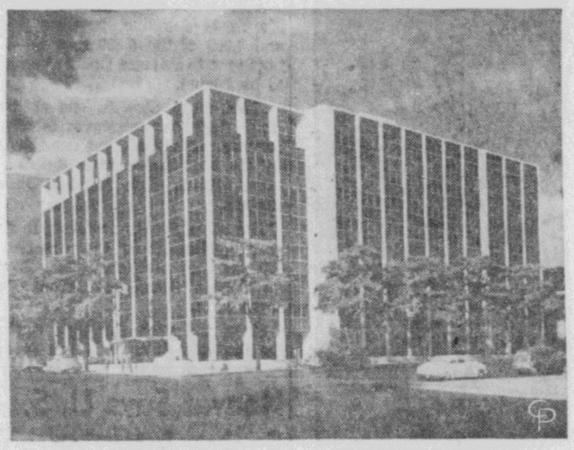

"It is not easy to picture women teachers remaining silent throughout meetings of the association during those first 25 years," Miss Shull says. "However, it must be remembered that, of the 43 founders only two were women. The surprising thing is, I suppose, that at that time any women at all were included. Today we alternate the presidency annually between men and women."

Miss Shull is one of the few classroom teachers to head the NEA. During the first 50 years of its existence, the organization gave this category of its membership virtually no voice in its affairs.

* * *

MEANWHILE, the centennial convention already is being heralded with expressions of interest received from all parts of the United States and from abroad.

It is expected that one of the most treasured greetings were come from President Eisenhower, whose history-making National Conference on Education in Washington in December, 1956, owed so much of its success to the NEA.

National Educational association headquarters, Washington.

Said Miss Shull in response to a request for an interim observation from the president's desk in the association's handsome new glass-walled building in Washington:

"The most gratifyng thing is the rediscovery that there really is an enthusiastic concern with our schools, their problems, and what they mean to the community in a democracy."

* * *

"I AM IMPRESSED, first, by the devoted way in which teachers spend time out of school on projects to acquaint people with what they are doing. There is also an increasing enthusiasm on the part of people outside the schools many of them non-parents.

"I am impressed, in the second place, by the importance of organized effort and individual responsibility in a world now so big that conformity becomes less mandatory. We need to encourage individuality more than ever before.

"As for my duties as president, I love them. I have never been happier—but what a thrill it will be to return to my boys and girls at Jefferson high next autumn!"

One-Time Editor Recalls Day of Frisco Earthquake

CHICAGO (AP) — A half century has passed since an earthquake turned San Francisco into a gargantuan torch but Herschel Macdonald remembers it as though it were yesterday.

"The quake lasted only three quarters of a minute, but it was a terror," Macdonald recalls. "It knocked me out of bed. I climbed to the roof of a bank building in Berkeley and, through the fog, saw San Francisco in flames."

Macdonald, now 80 and active in the insurance business, was The Associated Press editor who on April 18, 1906 flashed by telegraph to the world, "San Francisco is burning."

He tells his story on a recorded radio program to be broadcast Saturday, March 23, from 9:30 to 10 p.m. CST over WBBM, Chicago, during a visit by Hugh Hill, WBBM special events director, to the Chicago bureau of The Associated Press.

In the program, "Ear on Chicago," Hill observes how news is gathered, edited and distributed throughout the world. Al Orton, AP, bureau chief, outlines how the world's largest newsgathering service collects and transmits news to press and radio.

Reporter William Conway phones City Editor Carroll Arimond from a news assignment. Conway gives the information to a rewrite man who puts the story in shape. Hill follows the story to the various wire desks where editors appraise it for use on their circuits.

In the second section of the program to be broadcast over the same station at the same time March 30. Hill reports on how sports and market news is covered. Fred Francis, Chicago traffic bureau chief, describes the operation of Wirephoto and Photofax picture transmission.

Lindbergh, who had yet to make his Atlantic hop in 1927, thought he was flying a selection of pictures. Hall, who met Lindbergh at the airport to run the film downtown, had to break the sad news.

Duplicate copies of the recorded programs will be presented to seven Midwestern colleges and universities, Purdue, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa State, DePauw, Michigan State and Iowa.

Mountain-Studded Mexico May Get More Mountains

By EMIL ZUBRYN

MEXICO CITY — Popocatepetl, the sleeping volcano which dominates the valley of Mexico along with its female companion. Ixtlacihuatl, last erupted in force Oct. 12, 1687. Ixtla had belched lava for the last time some five decades before. Both impressive spectacles took place long after the Spanish Conquest had subjugated the proud Aztec race.

Today, the twin volcanoes dominating the valley landscape, a prominent tourist attraction, officially are considered "dead". However, ever so often, wisps of smoke trailing up over Popo give the lie to science. The brooding, snow - covered peak may be only dormant.

Mexico itself is a land of volcanoes, with these two among the most famous, but with the recent Paricutin, spectacularly born Feb. 20, 1943, also a source of tourist interest and national pride. Paricutin, too, has been dubbed "dead".

* * *

IT GENERALLY is believed that Paricutin was the latest volcano to erupt in Mexico. However records show a more recent volcano exploded into life Aug. 14, 1952, on Saint Benedict Island of the Revillagigedo islands group in the Pacific, off the coast of Mexico. This was an especially fierce eruption of Cerro Barcena (Grass Mountain) but, fortunately, there was no destruction of life and property for the islands are uninhabited.

News of this most recent Mexican volcano was brought to the world by United States and British merchant skippers, with further investigation undertaken by U. S. geologists.

Even so, probabilities are that there are even more recent, as yet unrecorded volcano births in Mexico. There have been rumors of volcanic action in the deep jungles of Chiapas some months ago, others from Quintana Roo. However, as these are virgin areas, without roads, and inaccessible, nothing has been done to verify the rumors.

There are scores upon scores of "little volcanoes" in Mexico, some of their craters covered by lagoons. These are situated in Puebla, Veracruz, Yucatan, Campeche and other areas of the republic. All are shrugged off as unimportant due to their insignificant size. And the probabilities are that earth adjustments of the floor of Mexico constantly add to their number.

* * *

THE "BIG BOYS" of the republic's mighty volcanoes, apart from those of the Valley of Mexico and Paricutin, include the sizable El Virgenes (The Virgins) volcanoes also in the Revillagigedo archipelago; the San Jose and Cafetera volcanoes in the state of Baja California; El Ceboruco of the Territory of Southern California; El Jorullo in Michoacan; Ajusco, at the limits of this city; El Xitle, better known as Volcan del Ombligo (The Navel Volcano), which some 9,000 years ago produced the "pedregal" (lava rock) area of suburban San Agel, with this selfsame lava today used in the development of one of the most modernistic realty developments in the world; Naucampatepetl in Veracruz; El Chicon, El Hueytepec, El Zontehuitz and El Boqueron in Chiapas, and finally El Tacana, which is on the frontier between Chiapas and Guatemala.

For centuries, the tongue-twisting volcanoes of Mexico have been still. Yet, in an area of constantly shifting subsoil and volcanic action, experts do not discard the possibilities of new pyrotechnical displays of molten rock, lava and steam, creating new mountains in a mountain - studded nation.

DeValera Returns As Ireland Chief

The American-born "Dev," almost blind but still aggressive at 74, was chosen premier by a 78-53 vote in the parliament which was elected earlier this month.

De Valera was Ireland's prime minister for 18 years, but had been on the sidelines as leader of the opposition the past three while his political rival, John A. Costello, held the office.

Comstock Lode Stirs with Life

By FRANKLIN JOHNSON
Central Press Assn.

VIRGINIA CITY, Nev. — It has been a long time since this 'ghost town" provided a dateline for a news story other than about vacation treks to scenes of the Old West, but there are stirrings of activity again at the fabulous Constock Lode.

One of the world's most famous mines, the Lode has been largely inactive since that fateful day in 1882 when hot water at 170 degrees Fahrenheit gushed into the shafts and stopped deep mining efforts at the 4,000-foot level.

Huge stores of low-grade silver ore remain accessible, but it has taken modern tehcnology to discover means for utilizing it. The Consolidated Virginia Mining Company, one of the best-known names of the Comstock in its heyday of the 1870s, is in existence and is taking the lead in the reopening plans.

Geologists conjecture that it was formed some 60 million years ago by the upwelling of subterranean fire and steam not unlike the great fordes of steam and scalding water that put a punctuation mark to one of the lustiest eras of American mining lore.

The early era did not end, however, until the Comstock had helped finance the North in the Civil war, provided the basis for several great Amerian fortunes, rejuvenated San Francisco and been given credit even for lifting California from a depression.

* * *

AFTER ABOUT 10 years of the original Comstock Lode workings, a period of consolidation, of more systematic workings, and deeper development began. In 1873, there dawned the era of "the big bonanza" and the great foursome of Mackay, Fair, O'Brien and Flood became the "bonanza kings" of Nevada.

In 1873, $21 million was taken from the Constock and production increased until a maximum of $36 million was reached in 1878. The Sutro tunnel intersected the lode in the latter year, and drained the mines for yet further exploitation.

* * *

NATURE had secreted its hoard at a lower level than originally had been thought, however, and shafts were sent deeper. In 1882, the great fiery forces in the depths of the mountain finally rebelled, a an immense flow of hot water gushed into the tunnels up to the Sutro level.

The miners were forced to return to the upper levels and work the lower grade ores. Production decreased and with the end in sight, the mark of death lay upon Virginia City, destined to be lef forlorn on the doorstep of the fabulous lode as themost famous of ghost towns.

Revere repercussions were felt throughout the nation, and the national government abandoned its artificial maintenance of the price of silver. A severe economic depression struck this era, which did not relax until the turn of the century with the discovery of a new mineral belt in southern Nevada at Tonopah, Mecca and Goldfield.

The Leadville district replaced Co. M. stock as the greatest silver-producing district of the world.

* * *

THERE WAS a time when the prospect of rejuvenation at Comstock would have brought political excitement throughout the nation, because silver was one of the great national issues.

Now the leading producers of silver are Mexico, with about one-third of the total; United States, reduced to one - fourth and Canada and South America, each with one-tenth.

The principal use for silver still is in coinage, although token coins of base metals now are used extensively, and for the industrial arts.

However, photographic and chemical uses, which actually consume the metal, loom continually large and supply the incentive for another go at the Comstock Lode, once one of the richest holes on earth.

Some Sign Seen Ike to Ask For Powers To Curb Credit

WASHINGTON (AP) —Speculation sharpened today on whether President Eisenhower will ask Congress for standby powers to regulate consumer installment credit.

The odds seemed to be against it, for interest has been lukewarm lately. But it was spotlighted by the issuance Tuesday of a massive study prepared at Eisenhower's request by the staff of the Federal Reserve Board.

The researchers found that easy-payment buying of autos and consumer goods tends to be unruly. "The major influence," they said, "has been to add fuel to booms; it has less often been an aggravating factor during recessions."

The FRB staff found that the credit structure, though carrying a record 31½ billion dollars of installment debt, is less likely than in 1929 to collapse during a recession into defaults, foreclosures and repossessions. It nevertheless cautioned:

The report is neutral on standby controls; it presents various conflicting views in its five volumes and 1,619 pages. The reserve board itself has taken no position though it presumably would administer any controls voted, as it does the margin buying of stock on the exchanges.

Eisenhower asked Congress 14 months ago to "consider" standby controls. That was just after the 1955 auto credit binge, when total soared by 5½ billion dollars.

The rate of rise abated last year without damage, and the issue has taken a back seat. Businesmen who have visited Eisenhower recently said he shows far less concern. Neither has any strong movement for controls developed in Congress.

The FBI study showed that 45 per cent of American families owe some installment debt.

Three times as many families with incomes over $10,000 now use installment credit as did so in 1952, the report found, even though 88 per cent of these debtors had liquid assets of $500 or more and presumably could have paid cash in many cases.

Some families evidently use installment credit as a form of saving, it was indicated; they save their liquid assets and buy goods on installments. The report added:

"It has become respectable to be a debtor, and the desire to own a home 'free and clear' is no longer as strong as it was in the past."

Motor's Purr

A mechanic found a big yellow cat under the hood. It apparently had become entangled in the fan belt, throwing it out of position and halting the generator.

The car's trouble was remedied easily. The cat's wasn't. It had two broken legs.

CHICAGO (AP) — A half century has passed since an earthquake turned San Francisco into a gargantuan torch but Herschel Macdonald remembers it as though it were yesterday.

"The quake lasted only three quarters of a minute, but it was a terror," Macdonald recalls. "It knocked me out of bed. I climbed to the roof of a bank building in Berkeley and, through the fog, saw San Francisco in flames."

ONE-THIRD OF GALS OVER 14 IN LABOR FORCE

Women put in more than one-fourth of "man-hours" worked.

Three of every 10 married women hold jobs.

Six of every 10 working women are married.

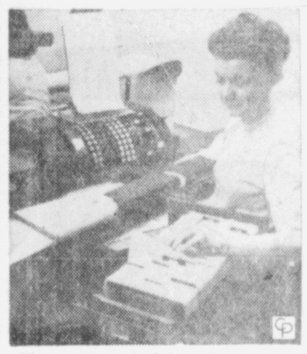

Two of every five mothers with school children are in labor force.

Five of every 10 working women are over 40.

Forty per cent of American women — 28,000,000 — work sometime every year.

A THIRD of U. S. women (over 14) are in the American "labor force," says the National Manpower Council of Columbia university, which comments that the onetime spinster "career woman" has been supplanted by the working wife. Only 7 per cent of women never marry. Here are some facts gleaned by the council, which was created by President Eisenhower when he was Columbia president before he got his promotion. (International)

Need for Good Water Supply Is Emphasized

The Fayette County Health Department points out that no matter what else may be lacking, adequate water and the manner in which it is obtained, are of the utmost importance in providing for the security, health and future happiness of every family in the county.

A news release cited necessary details to be given attention in providing water for those living in rural areas, saying that "proper location, development and construction of wells are highly important in providing safe water.

"A well should be located as far as reasonably possible from sources of contamination such as barnyards, cesspools, sewers, privies, septic tanks and similar structures. Septic tanks and tile fields should be located down hill from the well and all sewers within 50 feet of the well must be watertight.

"No sewer should be located within 10 feet of a well. Added protection to the water supply is provided when the well is located on higher ground than any possible source of contamination. The well casing should be surrounded by a sloping concrete platform for a distance of at least 2 feet in all directions.

"Water means life; it can be clean and safe for you to use or it can bring illness to your family. Consult your county health department for information on well construction and development."

Devil's Tramping Ground North Carolina Mystery

Who or what made the circular path that puzzles this tourist? No one may ever know.

By DICK BELLEW
Central Press Assn.

At the Devil's Tramping Ground near Siler City, N. C., legend has it the Devil spends his nights walking in a circle, plotting against the good and scheming up new forms of evil.

A flood of sightseers have come to rural Chatham County, to speculate on the origin of this strange circular path, about 40 feet in diameter, which local legend says has been worn by the nefarious nocturnal pacings of the Devil.

Oldtimers in the area say the path has been there "always," and that within their memory no vegetation has grown upon it. Few residents of the area venture near the place at night— and even if they did, everyone knows the Devil can make himself disappear at will. Don't they?

Ever since publication of a book on North Carolina legends, titled after this area, the Tramping Ground has become one of the state's most popular "curiosity" attractions.

* * *

A PARKING turn-out, off Highway 902, has been built to accommodate the many curious wayfarers who stop to take pictures and try to find some logical explanation for the circular path.

Could it have been the site of a fire ringing an Indian shrine or ceremonial ground? A salt lick frequented by deer? Perhaps it was the site of an old cane mill, or clay mixing plant where horses or oxen tramped a permanent path while powering a turn-wheel?

If so, why has it lasted so long? Why is it the only place of its kind in this peaceful Carolina countryside?

No human knows.

Health Group OKs Legislative Plans

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Mental Health Assn. board of directors has adopted all recommendations of the group's legislative committee.

Mrs. Marion S. Wells, executive director of OMHA, said the committee had recommended legislation to establish a committee to study the clinic program in Ohio and make recommendations for facilitating the proper development of these services for the entire state.

The committee, Mrs. Wells said, also recommended support for a measure which would create a bureau of alcoholism.

Highway Agency Signs New Expert

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Department of Highways has created a new job to speed up paper work connected with building roads.

The job is administrative assistant to Fred Reiners, deputy highway director for administration. The post is being filled by 39-year-old Robert E. Stockdale, Twin Lakes, former Kent State University professor.

Stockdale's salary is $8,280 a year. He is a former Portage County sheriff and a Marine Corps veteran of World War II.

Stockdale is a graduate of Kent State and received his doctor of philosophy degree at Western Reserve University.

Local Aid Said Best For Mental Cases

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Massachusetts commissioner of mental health thinks effective mental health services "should be at the community level."

Dr. Jack R. Ewalt told the National Health Forum here that "the nearer they are to the source of the symptoms, the individual and the group within which he lives, the more effective they may be."

In another address, Dr. Harold D. Lasswell, Yale professor of law and political science, said he thinks that future American mental illness problems will be "more, rather than less, urgent."

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am a man 20 years old and received a good education in Europe. I work in a factory here, where I know a Spanish girl—I'll call her Zita.

I understood, from the way she talks, that she is an honest girl; so we became good friends and I have been going with her for some time. Two weeks ago I wrote her a poem which ends like this:

"On this earth always together
The fate we will face,
The storm and the troubles—
Smiling we will win."

But when I told her that I am in love with her and want to marry her, she said that she wished never to see me again. Now I can't work, because all day I have a terrible headache. I try to forget her but it is impossible, as I love her.

Zita works near my machine; and so often during the day I look at her, dreaming that I could be happy with her all my life. You see, I think when a man is really in love, nothing can banish it from his mind.

We must admit that as bread is our physical nourishment, so love is our spiritual food. To be without love is like being without bread, which means without life. I could not forget this girl who for me is everything. Without her my whole life will be full of sadness.

F. S.

DEAR F. S.: The terrible headache refers to shock and disappointment, and tiredness and frustration. All of a sudden, your outgoing heart was thrown back in your face by your girl — just when you had decided you were in love and wanted to marry her. Judged by her jerky, inconsistent behavior, Zita isn't a suitable heroine for a man of your poetic feeling.

As for your soulsick sadness and sense of mortal injury, this is a natural reaction, at age 20, to emotional rejection by an idol who had curried your allegiance.

Indeed the whole heart-tearing experience is natural to late adolescence—just as the "inoculating" ailments, such as measles, mumps, chicken pox, etc., are natural to early childhood. The personality's response to episodes of emotional stress, like the body's reaction to common sickness, tends to build in protective strength. It is all part of the unending struggle of growing up and surviving "fate."

You are learning what life, and people, and feelings are like. You are in process of developing common sense and endurance. You are getting your bearings for adult commitments.

When I was your age, along this stretch of road, a philosophic friend used to say, to bolster my spirits: "People have died from time to time, and worms have eaten them—but not for love." He was quoting Shakespeare's "As You Like It" and truer words were never spoken.

People don't wither away of unrequited love. If they seem to, it is because they were already obscurely sick at heart, before being turned down. The sturdy soul responds to such shocks with accelerated tides of inner strength, that carry him forward to new levels of growth; from which, in time, he looks back on the crises, and thanks heaven that things turned out as they did.

So don't despair, and don't weave painful thoughts about your plight. Be openhearted, self-respecting and dignified in letting Zita drop out of your life.

Utility Finances Study of Minerals

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Division of Geological Survey of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources has received a $6,000 grant from the Ohio Power Co. for research study of rocks and minerals in Noble County.

R. J. Bernhagen, chief of the division, announced the project had been assigned to Merrill F. Auckland, instructor in geography and geology at Ohio University, who will supervise a team of researchers.

'Mad Dog Killer' Is Granted Stay

WASHINGTON (AP)—Justice Burton of the Supreme Court Wednesday granted a stay of execution to Leslie Irvin, sentenced to death for one of six killings he was charged with in the area of Evansville, Ind.

Burton granted a stay to remain in effect until after the full Supreme Court acts on a petition asking a review of Irvin's case.

Irvin, 32, and known as the "Mad Dog Killer," had been scheduled to die in the Indiana electric chair March 29.

New Idle Pay Claims Dropping

COLUMBUS (AP) — New claims for unemployment compensation dropped from 13,068 for the week ended March 9 to 8,809 for the week ended March 16, the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation reports.

Continuing claims of those unemployed one week or more showed a slight increase—from 68,407 to 68,810—during the same period. The average weekly new claims filed in March of last year was 7,837, and continuing claims 60,538.

Weather Forecast System only So-So

CHICAGO (AP)—The latest wrinkle in weather forecasting — by mathematical theories developed in the last 10 years—works well in the East but has been a flop in the mid-continent, a researcher said today.

Prof. Sverre Petterssen, a director of the University of Chicago's weather forecasting research center, said mathematical forecasts for the area between the Continental Divide and the Mississippi Valley are worse than no forecasts at all.

However, they are up to 90 per cent accurate in the East, he said.

Vehicle Bureau Auditor Penalized

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Civil Service Commission has disclosed that Sharon M. Quigley, a traveling aditor with the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, will be suspended for 30 days beginning April 3 for disciplinary reasons.

Quigley is stationed in East Liverpool and audits records of deputy registrars in seven counties. The suspension notice was signed by Gordon Jeffery, director of the Department of Highway Safety. His personnel officer, Dale Fulton, said the suspension "has to do with things he was not doing that he should have."

Skinny Cuban Gets Praise In Flatbush

Valdes' Fast Ball Is Delight to Brook Manager Walt Alston

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It makes no difference to Brooklyn Manager Walt Alston whether they call him the Great Gutierrez or the Mighty Valdes. All Alston knows is that the skinny 6-3 Cuban with a smoking fast ball may be around Flatbush a lot longer than most people thought.

Rene Gutierrez Valdes, who had a 22-8 record with Portland of the Pacific Coast League last season, displayed more of his classy hurling Wednesday as the Dodgers edged the St. Louis Cardinals 2-1 in an 11-inning exhibition game at Vero Beach, Fla.

Rene added three more hitless and scoreless innings in his second appearance as a Dodger. He walked two Cardinals, and another reached base on an error, but none got past first.

In his Brooklyn debut Sunday, Valdes came to the mound with the bases loaded and none out in the eighth against the Detroit Tigers. Five of the Tigers popped up and the sixth bounced back to the box as Valdes preserved a 3-2 Dodger victory.

Valdes is known in Latin America as the Great Gutierrez, which is his father's name. At Portland it was the mighty Valdes, his mother's maiden name.

Valdes is signed to a contract with Los Angeles, Brooklyn's new Coast League farm club, but if he keeps up this kind of pitching he could move to Ebbets Field.

Elsewhere:

The Detroit Tigers, smarting under criticism of Manager Jack Tighe after losing 8 of 10 exhibitions, clubbed four Pittsburgh pitchers for 11 hits, including a two-run homer by Charley Lau, to defeat the Pirates 8-4.

Ed Bouchee cracked a three-run homer and Bob Bowman got a solo round-tripper to provide the punch as the Philadelphia Phillies defeated the Washington Senators 6-4.

Don Larsen of the New York Yankees made his first appearance since his World Series perfect game and was battered soundly by the Cincinnati Redlegs, who won 20-6. He pitched three innings, gave up a homer to George Crowe, two triples, two doubles, a single and five runs. All told the Redlegs collected 25 hits.

Two walks with the bases loaded gave the Milwaukee Braves a pair of runs in their 3-2 verdict over the Kansas City Athletics. Bob Cerv homered for the A's.

Playoffs Set For Top 4 Pro Cage Outfits

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The semifinal playoffs of the National Basketball Assn. get underway tonight, with the Syracuse Nationals meeting the Celtics at Boston and the Minneapolis Lakers tackling the Hawks at St. Louis in the best-of-three series.

The Nationals, who rallied to win 29 of their last 46 games to grab second place, eliminated the defending champion Philadelphia Warriors in the first round of the playoffs, two games to none.

Minneapolis came from last place in the western division to finish in a triple tie for first place with Fort Wayne and St. Louis. The Hawks defeated the Lakers in a playoff for first place, but Minneapolis took two straight from Fort Wayne to qualify for the semifinals.

Boston plays at Syracuse in the second game Saturday, a nationally televised affair at 2:30 p. m. EST, with the third game at Boston Sunday afternoon.

Minneapolis remains in St. Louis for a second game Sunday, then goes home to meet the Hawks in the third tilt Monday night.

Sharp Ohio Teams Face Test in ABC

WHS Track Squad Gets in Shape

UGH--UGH--Ted Clarke, 17, grunts, groans and raises his head until he's almost sitting upright. The trick is that Ted is lying on his stomach, and Larry Howland, 15, is holding down his legs. Ted and Larry are among 35 boys taking part in a conditioning program being run by Coach Fred Domenico for members of this year's Washington C. H. High School track program. (Record-Herald photo)

Don't let that chill breeze fool you, brother. The Washington C. H. High School track team has been practicing for weeks.

No kidding—under the direction of Head Coach Fred Domenico, the boys have been gathering at the Gardner Park field house afternoons and taking an hour-long workout, so they'd be in shape for the first good running day (hoped for later this week).

This has been going on for close to three weeks now.

Weight lifting, general calesthenics and a variety of other conditioning tricks have kept the boys busy all that time. Coach Domenico has been on hand regularly to make suggestions, and just to make sure no one goes too far.

* * *

THE ATHLETES have been doing some running along with the indoor conditioning, but nobody has been timed yet. So the coach will have to wait a few days before he can announce his spring schedule of events.

Whatever the original intention, Coach Domenico feels now that he is fortunate to have the winter conditioning program underway. The weather really hasn't got warm enough for practice yet, and the season is only a few weeks away. Without the conditioning, the boys would have to start now from scratch.

April 11 is the starting date set now. Another meet may be scheduled for April 8, but that's not definite yet.

The Lions will meet Hillsboro on April 11. Other teams on the schedule are all South Central Ohio League members— Wilmington, Greenfield, Circleville and the league's newest member, Franklin Heights.

Dodgers again Given Label As Team to Beat in 1957

Editor's Note: Following is another in a series of articles appraising the major league baseball teams.

By JOE REICHLER

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers are just as good, perhaps even better than when they won the National League pennant last year and must be regarded as the team to beat for the 1957 flag.

That is the opinion of Walter Alston who, in his three previous years with the Dodgers, gained a reputation of sorts as being an ultra-conservative manager both in expression and action.

So it came as a surprise when the Dodger skipper made such observations as these:

Alston, despite his optimistic view, acknowledged a few problems still existed but he hoped they would be eliminated by the time the regular season got under way in four weeks.

"We're not yet decided on who will play at second, third and left field," he said, "and we're still awaiting final word on Campanella's hand is all right, our attack can be strengthened 25 per cent. If Spooner and Podres come through, we could have the best pitching in the league.

"Remember, we didn't have Sal Maglie and Don Bessent until the season was nearly half gone. Carl Erskine had arm trouble. Roger Craig should be better now that he's put in a full season in the big leagues. Don Newcombe ought to have another good year, maybe not as good but well enough. Don Drysdale and Sandy Koufax have shown remarkable improvement this spring.

Then we have kids like Fred Kipp (20-7 at Montreal), Bob Darnell (16-12) at Portland and Rene Valdes (22-7 at Portland), who have looked exceptionally good so far. And don't forget Ralph Branca. He's looked as good as any of them."

Farrell Suggests Spring Twin Bill

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — With the need for trimming major league rosters to 28 by opening day, the possibility of exhibition season doubleheaders was suggested today by manager Kerby Farrell of the Cleveland Indians.

"I think playing 18 competitive innings a day in the spring would be a great help," said Farrell. "I wouldn't say how many doubleheaders should be played, but the more the better."

Farrell thinks most players wouldn't object to spring twin bills. "I know right now, I have men coming to me and asking why they can't play more."

Pro Grid Chieftain Buttonholes Solons

Bell is out to convince Congress that professional football is set up in the best way possible to assure real competition among teams and to entertain the fans. He reported he found some support among the lawmaker.

Top Baseball Chiefs Called To Confab

BELLEAIR, Fla. (AP) — The men who rule baseball get together behind closed doors Friday to decide a line of policy against pending legislation which may define their game as a business and not a sport.

Commissioner Ford Frick called the extraordinary session at his spring headquarters earlier in the week. All 16 major league clubs will be represented along with American League President Will Harridge, National League President Warren Giles and Minor League President George Trautman.

No one was ready to comment on what action baseball may take, but Frick said he has "a plan I want to place before the owners. We'll just sit down with our lawyers and thresh it out."

Baseball, twice previously ruled a sport by the Supreme Court and not subject to antitrust laws, at present is confronted by bills filed by Rep. Celler (D-NY), chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, and Rep. Hillings (R-Calif), generally defined as "unfavorable" to baseball.

The third, introduced by Rep. Keating (R-NY), would set up a "code of fair play" for sports, joining baseball, pro football and basketball in one category, rather than declaring them subject to monopoly laws.

The present controversy was set off with the Supreme Court's recent decision appraising pro football as a business.

Gonzales Continues Lead over Rosewall

MUNCIE, Ind. (AP) — Pancho Gonzales and Ken Rosewall moved on to Evansville, Ind., today with Gonzales leading the slight Australian in their cross-country tennis series 25-10.

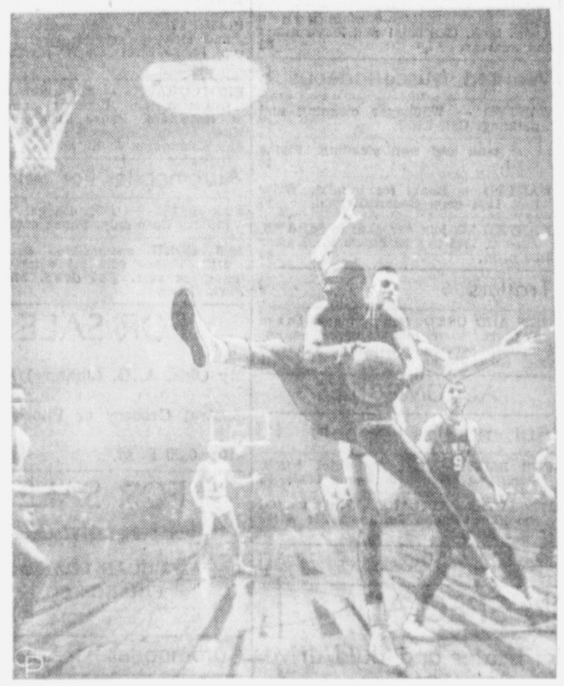

Gonzales got himself deep in a hole in the 35th match Wednesday night and then turned on the power to win 6-8, 6-4, 6-4.

After winning the first set Rosewall moved out to a 4-1 lead in the second, but Gonzales raced through the next five games to take the set to square the match. The third set followed service except for the sixth game, when Gonzales broke Rosewall for his winning margin.

Two French boxers, Eugene Criqui and Andre Routis, were world's featherweight champions.

FANCY FOOTWORK IN NIT

WHIRLING around to make a shot, Temple's Jay Norman does the splits in mid-air as Dayton's Arlen Bockhorn attempts to halt the play. Norman scored 23 points to help lead the Temple team to a win over Dayton in the National Invitation Tourney in New York. (International)

Wynn Has Trouble Getting in Shape

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Veteran right hander Early Wynn, who won 20 games for the Cleveland Indians last year, is having a hard time getting started in spring training.

He was ordered to take a rest earlier this week when he developed a high fever and upset stomach due to a virus infection. The 37-year-old pitcher is now undergoing daily heat treatments for what doctors say is inflammation of tendons and perhaps a pinched nerve in his right hip.

Kluszewski Set To Start Game

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — Ted Kluszewski makes his first appearance of the season at first base today as the Redlegs tangle with the Phillies in "Grapefruit League" play.

The big guy so far has appeared only four times at the plate—and then as a pinchhitter—but Wednesday he singled safely as his teammates slaughtered the world champion Yankees 20-6. Except for his pinch-hitting, Kluszewski has put in his time in batting practice and jogging around the field to keep his huge frame limber and his weight in line.

Bradley Given Nod to Win in NIT Semifinals

NEW YORK (AP) — Bradley and St. Bonaventure have been made the early favorites to win tonight's semifinals in the National Invitation basketball tourney, but there will be plenty of support for Temple and Memphis State.

Second-seeded Bradley is favored on the basis of its astounding 116-81 Madison Square Garden record - breaking comeback against Xavier of Ohio Tuesday after being down 21 points at 38-17. The Bonnies get the nod because of their 85-68 trouncing of top-seeded Seattle Monday.

"After that performance by Bradley, I don't know how we can beat them," said Temple Coach Harry Litwack. "But we'll be on the floor."

That should be enough for anyone who watched the slick, poised Owls from Philadelphia whip Dayton 77-66 Tuesday. Litwack has a court wizard in junior southpaw Guy Rodgers, who inspires teammates Jay Norman and Mel Brodsky to great heights. They do not figure to collapse as Xavier did before a Bradley all-court press.

In addition, as Litwack pointed out, "our boys like to play in the Garden." Temple has lost only one game in the Garden in five years and that by one point to Ohio State last December.

Cooper, Burkemo Split Seminole Cash

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Most of the touring golf professionals moved on to Fort Lauderdale today for the $5,000 Pro-Amateur Tournament at the Coral Ridge Country Club after wrapping up the 36-hole Seminole affair.

Pete Cooper, who tied Walter Burkemo in the Sminole with 139, will return to Lakeland, Fla., where he is building a golf course and Ben Hogan is going back to Dallas, Tex., for a few days.

Cooper and Burkemo had identical rounds of 73-66—139 Wednesday over the 6,746-yard Seminole Club course and split $2,800.

Skinny Cuban Gets Praise In Flatbush

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It makes no difference to Brooklyn Manager Walt Alston whether they call him the Great Gutierrez or the Mighty Valdes. All Alston knows is that the skinny 6-3 Cuban with a smoking fast ball may be around Flatbush a lot longer than most people thought.

Rene Gutierrez Valdes, who had a 22-8 record with Portland of the Pacific Coast League last season, displayed more of his classy hurling Wednesday as the Dodgers edged the St. Louis Cardinals 2-1 in an 11-inning exhibition game at Vero Beach, Fla.

Rene added three more hitless and scoreless innings in his second appearance as a Dodger. He walked two Cardinals, and another reached base on an error, but none got past first.

In his Brooklyn debut Sunday, Valdes came to the mound with the bases loaded and none out in the eighth against the Detroit Tigers. Five of the Tigers popped up and the sixth bounced back to the box as Valdes preserved a 3-2 Dodger victory.

Valdes is known in Latin America as the Great Gutierrez, which is his father's name. At Portland it was the mighty Valdes, his mother's maiden name.

Valdes is signed to a contract with Los Angeles, Brooklyn's new Coast League farm club, but if he keeps up this kind of pitching he could move to Ebbets Field.

Elsewhere:

The Detroit Tigers, smarting under criticism of Manager Jack Tighe after losing 8 of 10 exhibitions, clubbed four Pittsburgh pitchers for 11 hits, including a two-run homer by Charley Lau, to defeat the Pirates 8-4.

Ed Bouchee cracked a three-run homer and Bob Bowman got a solo round-tripper to provide the punch as the Philadelphia Phillies defeated the Washington Senators 6-4.

Don Larsen of the New York Yankees made his first appearance since his World Series perfect game and was battered soundly by the Cincinnati Redlegs, who won 20-6. He pitched three innings, gave up a homer to George Crowe, two triples, two doubles, a single and five runs. All told the Redlegs collected 25 hits.

Two walks with the bases loaded gave the Milwaukee Braves a pair of runs in their 3-2 verdict over the Kansas City Athletics. Bob Cerv homered for the A's.

The Boston Red Sox defeated the Chicago White Sox 9-4, scoring five times in the fourth inning.

Playoffs Set For Top 4 Pro Cage Outfits

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The semifinal playoffs of the National Basketball Assn. get underway tonight, with the Syracuse Nationals meeting the Celtics at Boston and the Minneapolis Lakers tackling the Hawks at St. Louis in the best-of-three series.

The Nationals, who rallied to win 29 of their last 46 games to grab second place, eliminated the defending champion Philadelphia Warriors in the first round of the playoffs, two games to none.

Minneapolis came from last place in the western division to finish in a triple tie for first place with Fort Wayne and St. Louis. The Hawks defeated the Lakers in a playoff for first place, but Minneapolis took two straight from Fort Wayne to qualify for the semifinals.

Boston plays at Syracuse in the second game Saturday, a nationally televised affair at 2:30 p. m. EST, with the third game at Boston Sunday afternoon.

Minneapolis remains in St. Louis for a second game Sunday, then goes home to meet the Hawks in the third tilt Monday night.

Sharp Ohio Teams Face Test in ABC

WHS Track Squad Gets in Shape

UGH--UGH--Ted Clarke, 17, grunts, groans and raises his head until he's almost sitting upright. The trick is that Ted is lying on his stomach, and Larry Howland, 15, is holding down his legs. Ted and Larry are among 35 boys taking part in a conditioning program being run by Coach Fred Domenico for members of this year's Washington C. H. High School track program. (Record-Herald photo)

Don't let that chill breeze fool you, brother. The Washington C. H. High School track team has been practicing for weeks.

No kidding—under the direction of Head Coach Fred Domenico, the boys have been gathering at the Gardner Park field house afternoons and taking an hour-long workout, so they'd be in shape for the first good running day (hoped for later this week).

This has been going on for close to three weeks now.

Weight lifting, general calesthenics and a variety of other conditioning tricks have kept the boys busy all that time. Coach Domenico has been on hand regularly to make suggestions, and just to make sure no one goes too far.

* * *

THE ATHLETES have been doing some running along with the indoor conditioning, but nobody has been timed yet. So the coach will have to wait a few days before he can announce his spring schedule of events.

Whatever the original intention, Coach Domenico feels now that he is fortunate to have the winter conditioning program underway. The weather really hasn't got warm enough for practice yet, and the season is only a few weeks away. Without the conditioning, the boys would have to start now from scratch.

April 11 is the starting date set now. Another meet may be scheduled for April 8, but that's not definite yet.

The Lions will meet Hillsboro on April 11. Other teams on the schedule are all South Central Ohio League members— Wilmington, Greenfield, Circleville and the league's newest member, Franklin Heights.

Dodgers again Given Label As Team to Beat in 1957

Editor's Note: Following is another in a series of articles appraising the major league baseball teams.

By JOE REICHLER

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers are just as good, perhaps even better than when they won the National League pennant last year and must be regarded as the team to beat for the 1957 flag.

That is the opinion of Walter Alston who, in his three previous years with the Dodgers, gained a reputation of sorts as being an ultra-conservative manager both in expression and action.

So it came as a surprise when the Dodger skipper made such observations as these:

"I think our chances to win are just as good as they ever were . . ."

"If a couple of our lefthanders come through, we could have the best pitching staff since I've been here. . . ."

Alston, despite his optimistic view, acknowledged a few problems still existed but he hoped they would be eliminated by the time the regular season got under way in four weeks.

"We're not yet decided on who will play at second, third and left field," he said, "and we're still awaiting final word on Campanella's hand is all right, our attack can be strengthened 25 per cent. If Spooner and Podres come through, we could have the best pitching in the league.

"Remember, we didn't have Sal Maglie and Don Bessent until the season was nearly half gone. Carl Erskine had arm trouble. Roger Craig should be better now that he's put in a full season in the big leagues. Don Newcombe ought to have another good year, maybe not as good but well enough. Don Drysdale and Sandy Koufax have shown remarkable improvement this spring.

Then we have kids like Fred Kipp (20-7 at Montreal), Bob Darnell (16-12) at Portland and Rene Valdes (22-7 at Portland), who have looked exceptionally good so far. And don't forget Ralph Branca. He's looked as good as any of them."

Farrell Suggests Spring Twin Bill

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — With the need for trimming major league rosters to 28 by opening day, the possibility of exhibition season doubleheaders was suggested today by manager Kerby Farrell of the Cleveland Indians.

"I think playing 18 competitive innings a day in the spring would be a great help," said Farrell. "I wouldn't say how many doubleheaders should be played, but the more the better."

Farrell thinks most players wouldn't object to spring twin bills. "I know right now, I have men coming to me and asking why they can't play more."

Pro Grid Chieftain Buttonholes Solons

Bell is out to convince Congress that professional football is set up in the best way possible to assure real competition among teams and to entertain the fans. He reported he found some support among the lawmaker.

Top Baseball Chiefs Called To Confab

BELLEAIR, Fla. (AP) — The men who rule baseball get together behind closed doors Friday to decide a line of policy against pending legislation which may define their game as a business and not a sport.

Commissioner Ford Frick called the extraordinary session at his spring headquarters earlier in the week. All 16 major league clubs will be represented along with American League President Will Harridge, National League President Warren Giles and Minor League President George Trautman.

No one was ready to comment on what action baseball may take, but Frick said he has "a plan I want to place before the owners. We'll just sit down with our lawyers and thresh it out."

Baseball, twice previously ruled a sport by the Supreme Court and not subject to antitrust laws, at present is confronted by bills filed by Rep. Celler (D-NY), chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, and Rep. Hillings (R-Calif), generally defined as "unfavorable" to baseball.

The third, introduced by Rep. Keating (R-NY), would set up a "code of fair play" for sports, joining baseball, pro football and basketball in one category, rather than declaring them subject to monopoly laws.

The present controversy was set off with the Supreme Court's recent decision appraising pro football as a business.

Gonzales Continues Lead over Rosewall

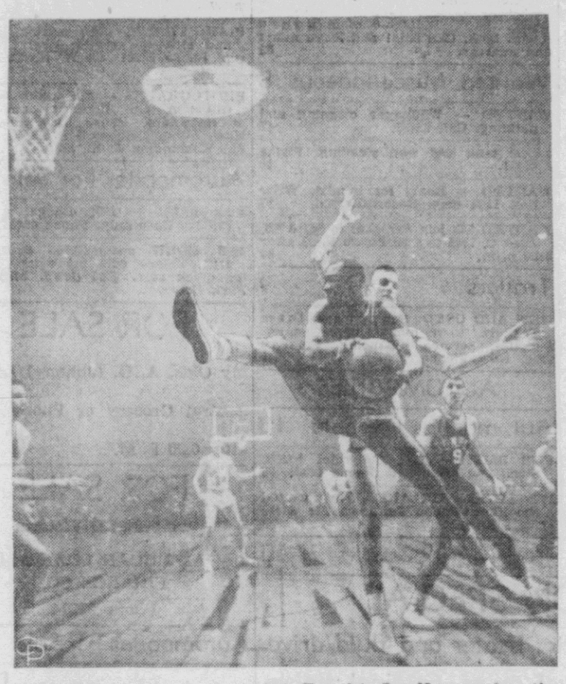

MUNCIE, Ind. (AP) — Pancho Gonzales and Ken Rosewall moved on to Evansville, Ind., today with Gonzales leading the slight Australian in their cross-country tennis series 25-10.

Gonzales got himself deep in a hole in the 35th match Wednesday night and then turned on the power to win 6-8, 6-4, 6-4.

After winning the first set Rosewall moved out to a 4-1 lead in the second, but Gonzales raced through the next five games to take the set to square the match. The third set followed service except for the sixth game, when Gonzales broke Rosewall for his winning margin.

Two French boxers, Eugene Criqui and Andre Routis, were world's featherweight champions.

FANCY FOOTWORK IN NIT

WHIRLING around to make a shot, Temple's Jay Norman does the splits in mid-air as Dayton's Arlen Bockhorn attempts to halt the play. Norman scored 23 points to help lead the Temple team to a win over Dayton in the National Invitation Tourney in New York. (International)

Wynn Has Trouble Getting in Shape

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Veteran right hander Early Wynn, who won 20 games for the Cleveland Indians last year, is having a hard time getting started in spring training.

He was ordered to take a rest earlier this week when he developed a high fever and upset stomach due to a virus infection. The 37-year-old pitcher is now undergoing daily heat treatments for what doctors say is inflammation of tendons and perhaps a pinched nerve in his right hip.

A scheduled game between the Indians and the Baltimore Orioles was cancelled here Wednesday because of rain.

Kluszewski Set To Start Game

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — Ted Kluszewski makes his first appearance of the season at first base today as the Redlegs tangle with the Phillies in "Grapefruit League" play.

The big guy so far has appeared only four times at the plate—and then as a pinchhitter—but Wednesday he singled safely as his teammates slaughtered the world champion Yankees 20-6. Except for his pinch-hitting, Kluszewski has put in his time in batting practice and jogging around the field to keep his huge frame limber and his weight in line.

Bradley Given Nod to Win in NIT Semifinals

NEW YORK (AP) — Bradley and St. Bonaventure have been made the early favorites to win tonight's semifinals in the National Invitation basketball tourney, but there will be plenty of support for Temple and Memphis State.

Second-seeded Bradley is favored on the basis of its astounding 116-81 Madison Square Garden record - breaking comeback against Xavier of Ohio Tuesday after being down 21 points at 38-17. The Bonnies get the nod because of their 85-68 trouncing of top-seeded Seattle Monday.

"After that performance by Bradley, I don't know how we can beat them," said Temple Coach Harry Litwack. "But we'll be on the floor."

That should be enough for anyone who watched the slick, poised Owls from Philadelphia whip Dayton 77-66 Tuesday. Litwack has a court wizard in junior southpaw Guy Rodgers, who inspires teammates Jay Norman and Mel Brodsky to great heights. They do not figure to collapse as Xavier did before a Bradley all-court press.

In addition, as Litwack pointed out, "our boys like to play in the Garden." Temple has lost only one game in the Garden in five years and that by one point to Ohio State last December.

Cooper, Burkemo Split Seminole Cash

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—Most of the touring golf professionals moved on to Fort Lauderdale today for the $5,000 Pro-Amateur Tournament at the Coral Ridge Country Club after wrapping up the 36-hole Seminole affair.

Pete Cooper, who tied Walter Burkemo in the Sminole with 139, will return to Lakeland, Fla., where he is building a golf course and Ben Hogan is going back to Dallas, Tex., for a few days.

Cooper and Burkemo had identical rounds of 73-66—139 Wednesday over the 6,746-yard Seminole Club course and split $2,800.

Hogan and Sam Snead tied for third with 141 and split $1,200.

WINTER IS JUST ABOUT OVER

So if you would like to be in a home of your own this spring, better start looking now, and no better place to start with than this modern home;

926 DAYTON AVE:

Three very lovely bedrooms, one being a large master bedroom extending the entire width of the home, this room could easily be converted into 2 rooms if you are in need of a 4 bedroom home; all b. rooms and bath entering from the well arranged center hall.

The full deep basement affords abundance of space for laundry and storage, with both inside anl outside entrance.

The enclosed back porch is convenient for a variety of purposes and we know you will enjoy the large yard with lots of shade; being located in a splendid neighborhood close to Cherry Hill school;

This home will finance F. H. A. to responsible party with $2777 down, total purchase price being $11,950 and well worth it; reasonable possession can be arranged;

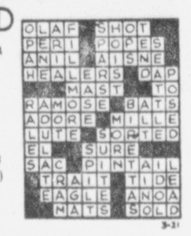

Through experience we have found that the majority of people who call us about the homes we advertise in the newspaper, prefer to drive by the home first then call us if they desire to see through;

Therefore in order to make it more convenient for you, this agency will have a representative on the above mentioned premises between the hours of 5 and 7 P. M. each evening this adv; appears in the paper, March 20-21-22 and if you like the appearance of this home, stop in and look it over from the inside and eliminate the inconvenience of another trip;

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Acting Captain Is Named for Police Force

Sgt Walter Marshall On Desk Duty after Capt. Haggard's Death

Police Sgt. Walter Marshall, 41, was recommended for appointment as acting captain of the Washington C. H. police force Thursday, to replace Capt. Harley Haggard, who died unexpectedly Wednesday morning at his Scioto Farms Rd. home.

Marshall was recommended by Chief D. Vallen Long, pending approval by City Manager James Parkinson. A Civil Service exam must be given to select a permanent captain, Long explained.

Marshall, who has been working as desk man on the third shift lately, has been switched to day shift to fill in at the desk for Capt. Haggard, the chief said. Meanwhile, the chief said he had put Williams on Marshall's third-shift trick.

Marshall, who became a sergeant Aug. 1, 1951, has been on the force 14 years. Williams has been an officer almost six years.

* * *

IF APPOINTED acting captain, Marshall will receive the captain's pay of $360 a month. Williams would receive the sergeant's pay of $350. Regular pay for patrolmen is $330.

Married, Marshall and Mrs. Marshall have two sons — Gary Lynn, 15, and Gerald Dean, 12. Williams also has two children — Robert D., 4, and Emma Jo, 2.

Homer Bireley of the Civil Service Commission said plans for Civil Service exams to fill the captain's vacancy are not completed yet. Any regular member of the force will be eligible for the captaincy exam, Bireley said.

If a sergeant is appointed captain by exam, another exam will be necessary to appoint a sergeant, Bireley said. Any regular patrolman would be eligible for that, he explained.

Services for Capt. Haggard will be at 2 p. m. Friday in the Gerstner Funeral Home, where friends may call any time. Burial will be in the Washington C. H. Cemetery.

Ohio Union Chief

official said the union, the largest in the world, "is prepared nationally to spend millions of dollars to start a vigorous organizing campaign."

Lawrence Steinberg, president of Teamsters Joint Council 44 in Toledo and coordinator of the 89,000-member Joint Council 53 in Philadelphia, described as a "perfect frameup" the indictment of Hoffa on charges of conspiracy and bribery.

He said the main thing the Senate probe has turned up "was that the Teamsters Union is extremely active in political action, and that appears to be illegal in the eyes of this committee."

Meanwhile, in Washington, Senate investigators said Teamsters Union funds went to buy a new automobile for an organizer's girl friend.

Pierre Salinger, a staff investigator, testified to the Senate rackets probe committee, that a check signed by Frank Brewster, chairman of the Western Conference of Teamsters, on the conference's funds was used to buy a car registered in the name of Mary James of Bothell, Wash.

Salinger said he found out in a telephone interview with Miss James that the car was purchased for her in June 1954 for $3,115 by Terry McNulty, paid as a union organizer.

There has been previously testimony that McNulty, while carried on the conference's payroll as an organizer, devoted considerable time to Brewster's horse racing stables.

At the outset of the committee session, Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) read a telegram from Dave Beck, Teamsters Union president, advising that Beck intended to appear before the committee next Tuesday as requested.

Beck said he would bring his financial records "under the provisions of my previous wire."

In the earlier wire, Beck had said he was reserving his constitutional rights.

This left a question whether Beck would turn over his records once he did appear.

* * *

McCLELLAN commented that he did not know the meaning of Beck's "reservations." He said the committee Tuesday would "undertake to ascertain just what those reservations mean."

The hearing, now in its fourth week, started out with testimony linking Teamsters officials with vice operations in Portland. Witnesses said the officials tried to "take over" law enforcement in the city.

While the rackets phase of the inquiry slipped into the background the committee dug deep into Brewster's operations — his racing stables, his investments, his use of union funds for non-union purposes. Brewster has said he plans to repay the union whatever he owes it.

CASE DISMISSED

The divorce suit of Audrie C. Kessler against Marlin W. Kessler, filed Jan. 16, has been dismissed upon application of the plaintiff.

SEEKS DIVORCE

Based on claims of excessive drinking, leaving home and failure to provide on the part of the defendant, Medrith Metcalf, R. F. D. Mount Sterling, has filed suit for divorce from Alvanis Metcalf, Columbus, and asks temporary and permanent alimony.

The parties were married at Richmond, Ind., April 7, 1956 and have no children.

Farm Bureau Opposed to Daylight Time

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Farm Bureau Federation said today it was opposed to proposals calling for daylight saving time.

D. R. Stanfield, executive secretary of the farm group, said a change to daylight saving time would force dairy farmers to begin work at an unreasonably early hour to meet the milk truck pickup schedules.

"When cities go on fast time, farmers in the surrounding areas are affected even though they have not had an opportunity to express their opposition," Stanfield said.

Most of the northeast corner of Ohio goes on daylight saving time next month.

Columbus voters will decide whether to accept fast time in a May referendum. Other central Ohio cities are expected to go on daylight time if Columbus does so.

They include Circleville, Logan, Greenfield, Marion and Lancaster.

Some of these cities already have started ordinances through their local governments calling for a switch in clocks to coincide with whatever the capital city does.

In Circleville, a straw vote among businessmen showed agreement with fast time by a margin of 5-1.

But in Circleville, farmer opposition was evident. One rural spokesman declared that if Circleville adopted fast time, it would "drive business" to some other city.

$103,000 Damage Action Is Filed

Amos McCormick, 441 East St., asks $103,000 damages from Morton Titus, 512 Columbus Ave., in a suit filed Thursday in Common Pleas Court.

In his petition McCormick claims that on July 20, 1956, the defendant maliciously assaulted the plaintiff, beating him over the head and face with his fists, and injuring him permanently.

The plaintiff claims various kinds of injuries sustained, and that he was employed by the defendant at the time of the attack. He has been unable to work since, he states in his petition. He was drawing $45 a week at the time, he declares.

The plaintiff also states that he has expended $1,200 for medical attention and will be required to expend much more, due to injuries sustained.

Spring Said Best Time for Suicides

DALLAS (AP)—A psychiatrist says more people kill themselves in the spring than in any other season.

Dr. Louis J. West of Oklahoma City told the Southern Clinical Society that the symtoms of spring fever which bring a feeling of well-being to most persons have exactly the opposite effect on acutely depressed persons, making them feel more discouraged than ever.

He said suicides also increase during Christmas and other holiday seasons.

Deaths, Funerals

Mrs. Elizabeth Yates

James Yates, Western Union agent here, received word Wednesday evening of the death of his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Yates, at Sebring, Ohio.

Mrs. Yates had been an invalid for more than two years. Mr. and Mrs. Yates will go to Sebring Friday to attend the funeral services.

Alpha Matson

Funeral services for Alpha Matson, who died Sunday in Memorial Hospital, were held at the Gerstner Funeral Home Wednesday at 2 p. m. with Rev. Don McMillin in charge.

Pallbearers were William, Neil, James and David Matson, William Summers Jr. and Alfred Hidy.

Burieal was in Washington C. H. Cemetery.

A. A. Fisher

SABINA — A. A. (Gus) Fisher, 76, of Sabina, died at 12:30 p. m. Wednesday in Fayette County Memorial Hospital where he had been a patient for the last 10 days. He had been in failing health for about six months.

He was a native of Clermont County, but had lived in Georgetown, Brown County, before coming to Sabina in 1929. He was proprietor of the CCC Restaurant here for many years before his retirement.

He was a member of the Georgetown Methodist Church and the Elks Lodge at Hillsboro.

He is survived by his wife, Fannie, and a son, Donald, of Mariemont. He also leaves a brother, David P. Fisher, Cincinnati.

Services will be held at 1 p. m. Saturday in the Littleton Funeral Home here by the Rev. Charles Kirsch, pastor of the Sabina Methodist Church. Burial will be in the Georgetown Cemetery.

The Elks Lodge will hold its service at 7:30 p. m. Friday at the funeral home, where friends may call after 7:30 p. m. today.

Marigold Blue Birds Gets Ready for Party

The Marigold Blue Bird group of Sunnyside School met at the home of their leader, Mrs. Albert Fackler, with Mrs. Jack Reno, assistant leader.

During the meeting boxes were decorated to be used for lunch boxes when the group meets with other Blue Bird groups at the Legion Hall Saturday. A short business session was held with the usual reports made.

Refreshments were served by Karol Kay Troute to the attending members who were, Mary Lou Beery, Sandra Lee Fackler, Gay Gard, Jo Ann Reno, Barbara Riley, Teresa Underwood and Toni Whipkey.

Miami Trace Board Meets

Diplomas Granted To 2 Servicemen

The Miami Trace Board of Education voted Wednesday night to grant high school diplomas to two servicemen, made plans to attend a workshop at London and considered pupil transportation matters.

Meeting in regular session, the board moved that Max Sheppard and Charles Carson, former students in the Miami Trace system who have completed high school academic requirements in the armed forces, be awarded diplomas.

All members of the board made plans to attend a Central Ohio School Board Assn. workshop at London next Thursday night. A roundtable discussion of problems confronting school boards and administrators is scheduled at the meeting.

* * *

ROUTINE MATTERS occupied the remainder of the regular business session. After adjournment board members interviewed four bus drivers whose contracts expire this year and inspected their 10-year-old equipment.

The board discussed with the drivers either renewal of contracts or whether the drivers would prefer, that the board assume ownership of the buses. No action will be taken until later.

VFW Commander Fowler Re-elected

Three trustees also were elected: Robert Tillett, three years; Richard Fent, two years; and James Matson, one year.

The post now has around 100 members. Its headquarters is in Memorial Hall and its club rooms on the second floor of the Passmore Building, corner of Fayette and Court Sts.

Commander Fowler said he planned to revive the Last Man's Club, which was formed by the post soon after the end of World War II, this year. It has been inactive for the last six years.

The post membership includes veterans of World War I, World War II and the Korean Conflict.

Scientists Tell of Historic Surgery to Separate Twins

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government scientists have told of an historic operation in which they separated twin baby girls who had been joined at the forehead.

The House Appropriations Committee, which made public the story today, was told this was "the first operation of this kind in which, at least until the present time, both twins have survived."

Dr. Pearce Bailey, director of the National Institute of Neurological Diseases and Blindness, gave the account of the intricate operation performed last December on Virginia Kate and Teresa Kay Eunton of Mountain City, Tenn. The twins then were 4 months old.

Today, a little over three months after the operation, the twins were reported in "good health." They still are at the clinical center of the National Institues of Health in nearby Bethesda, Md., where the surgery was performed.

There have been a number of cases where Siamese twins, joined at the head, were separated only to have at least one of the twins die. One of the most famous of these cases involved the Brodie twins of Chicago. Rodney Dee Brodie survived, but Roger Lee, his twin brother, died.

Bailey, testifying on appropriations requests of the Public Health Service, told the committee:

"The only remedy, the only hope of salvation of the twins themselves, was surgical separation. They could not have lived, even in this age of antibiotics, linked together as they were."

Bailey said:

"The right frontal lobes of the twins appeared mashed together but there were no brain connections between them. There was considerable crossing of some large arteries which we cut and clamped, and in one instance, there was considerable bleeding from a large artery that led from the lower frontal lobe of Virginia into the frontal lobe of Teresa. We succeeded in stopping that.

"Then we made a larger channel in the bone and the twins gradually began to rotate outwardly, more and more until they were completely separated."

The doctor said Teresa is "quite an alert child," and added:

"The outlook as to intelligence is still a little bit guarded in the case of Virginia, but we believe that we can expect a normal development for Teresa."

C. of C.'s National Affairs Panel Hears Regional Officer

Thirteen members of the Washington C. H. Chamber of Commerce met at noon Wednesday with Richard Anderson, Toledo, manager of the North Central division of the U. S. Chamber for a report on national issues affecting business.

In the group were members of the local Chamber's National Affairs Committee, headed by Harris Willis, and those who attended a "Congressional Issues Clinic" in Cincinnati Feb. 14.

Anderson emphasized the responsibility of businessmen to express their views to Congress on legislation affecting everyone, and he suggested a local program to assure an expression of business opinion to representatives in Washington.

* * *

THE SPEAKER urged these steps in establishing a successful national affairs program on the local level:

(1) Businessmen should become better informed on legislation affecting their business;

(2) After a bill is studied then business men should meet with or write to their congressmen, expressing their views;

(3) The entire business community and other citizens should be kept informed on the impact and long range effect on legislation being considered by Congress.

Taxes Are Discussed At FB Council Meet

Pros and cons of these questions were probed by 14 members of the Upper Paint Twp. Farm Bureau Council at their regular meeting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Simerl.

The soil bank and its effectiveness in reducing surpluses was also discussed. Suggestions for improving the farm support program generally were offered.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Orvill eMickle. The secretary's report was read by Mrs. Pearl Rhoades.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Leland Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. Mrs. Orville Mickle. The secre- and Mrs. Ralph Denen, Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Rhoades and Mr. and Mrs. Armel Hamilton.

LWV Evening Unit To Meet on Friday

Evening classes — for women who are busy in the daytime— are being planned by the Washington C. H. League of Women Voters. Classes will start at 7:30 p. m. Friday.

The Friday session will be held at the home of Mrs. James O. Garringer, 918 Briar Ave., to discuss facts on Ohio finance. Mrs. Norman Boop will lead the discussion.

Realtor Week Plans Drafted

Plans for turning the spotlight on the part realtors play in the economy of the country were discussed at Wednesday night's meeting of the Tri-County Real Estate Board in Greenfield.

The group of realtors from Fayette, Clinton and Highland counties agreed to tell the people what realtors are, explain their position in the development of their communities and outline their purposes and code of ethics through newspaper advertising during National Realtors Week, March 31-April 6.

Homer Hudson of Greenfield arranged the program.

On the lighter side, F. R Harris, former superintendent of the Greenfield schools and world traveler, told the 12 realtors and associate members at the meeting of is most recent trip to Hawaii, New Zealand and Australia with a tape recording.

Acting Captain Is Named for Police Force

Police Sgt. Walter Marshall, 41, was recommended for appointment as acting captain of the Washington C. H. police force Thursday, to replace Capt. Harley Haggard, who died unexpectedly Wednesday morning at his Scioto Farms Rd. home.

Marshall was recommended by Chief D. Vaiden Long, pending approval by City Manager James Parkinson. A Civil Service exam must be given to select a permanent captain, Long explained.

A. A. Fisher

SABINA — A. A. (Gus) Fisher, 76, of Sabina, died at 12:30 p. m. Wednesday in Fayette County Memorial Hospital where he had been a patient for the last 10 days. He had been in failing health for about six months.

He was a native of Clermont County, but had lived in Georgetown, Brown County, before coming to Sabina in 1929. He was proprietor of the CCC Restaurant here for many years before his retirement.

He was a member of the Georgetown Methodist Church and the Elks Lodge at Hillsboro.

He is survived by his wife, Fannie, and a son, Donald, of Mariemont. He also leaves a brother, David P. Fisher, Cincinnati.

Services will be held at 1 p. m. Saturday in the Littleton Funeral Home here by the Rev. Charles Kirsch, pastor of the Sabina Methodist Church. Burial will be in the Georgetown Cemetery.

The Elks Lodge will hold its service at 7:30 p. m. Friday at the funeral home, where friends may call after 7:30 p. m. today.

Miami Trace Board Meets

Diplomas Granted To 2 Servicemen

The Miami Trace Board of Education voted Wednesday night to grant high school diplomas to two servicemen, made plans to attend a workshop at London and considered pupil transportation matters.

Meeting in regular session, the board moved that Max Sheppard and Charles Carson, former students in the Miami Trace system who have completed high school academic requirements in the armed forces, be awarded diplomas.

All members of the board made plans to attend a Central Ohio School Board Assn. workshop at London next Thursday night. A roundtable discussion of problems confronting school boards and administrators is scheduled at the meeting.

ROUTINE MATTERS occupied the remainder of the regular business session. After adjournment board members interviewed four bus drivers whose contracts expire this year and inspected their 10-year-old equipment.

The board discussed with the drivers either renewal of contracts or whether the drivers would prefer, that the board assume ownership of the buses. No action will be taken until later.

Miami Trace now has a total of 42 buses— 32 of them board-owned and 10 of them under contract.

VFW Commander Fowler Re-elected

Three trustees also were elected: Robert Tillett, three years; Richard Fent, two years; and James Matson, one year.

The post now has around 100 members. Its headquarters is in Memorial Hall and its club rooms on the second floor of the Passmore Building, corner of Fayette and Court Sts.

Commander Fowler said he planned to revive the Last Man's Club, which was formed by the post soon after the end of World War II, this year. It has been inactive for the last six years.

The post membership includes veterans of World War I, World War II and the Korean Conflict.

Scientists Tell of Historic Surgery to Separate Twins

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government scientists have told of an historic operation in which they separated twin baby girls who had been joined at the forehead.

The House Appropriations Committee, which made public the story today, was told this was "the first operation of this kind in which, at least until the present time, both twins have survived."

Dr. Pearce Bailey, director of the National Institute of Neurological Diseases and Blindness, gave the account of the intricate operation performed last December on Virginia Kate and Teresa Kay Eunton of Mountain City, Tenn. The twins then were 4 months old.

Today, a little over three months after the operation, the twins were reported in "good health." They still are at the clinical center of the National Institues of Health in nearby Bethesda, Md., where the surgery was performed.

There have been a number of cases where Siamese twins, joined at the head, were separated only to have at least one of the twins die. One of the most famous of these cases involved the Brodie twins of Chicago. Rodney Dee Brodie survived, but Roger Lee, his twin brother, died.

Bailey, testifying on appropriations requests of the Public Health Service, told the committee:

"The only remedy, the only hope of salvation of the twins themselves, was surgical separation. They could not have lived, even in this age of antibiotics, linked together as they were."

Bailey said:

"The right frontal lobes of the twins appeared mashed together but there were no brain connections between them. There was considerable crossing of some large arteries which we cut and clamped, and in one instance, there was considerable bleeding from a large artery that led from the lower frontal lobe of Virginia into the frontal lobe of Teresa. We succeeded in stopping that.

"Then we made a larger channel in the bone and the twins gradually began to rotate outwardly, more and more until they were completely separated."

The doctor said Teresa is "quite an alert child," and added:

"The outlook as to intelligence is still a little bit guarded in the case of Virginia, but we believe that we can expect a normal development for Teresa."

C. of C.'s National Affairs Panel Hears Regional Officer

Thirteen members of the Washington C. H. Chamber of Commerce met at noon Wednesday with Richard Anderson, Toledo, manager of the North Central division of the U. S. Chamber for a report on national issues affecting business.

In the group were members of the local Chamber's National Affairs Committee, headed by Harris Willis, and those who attended a "Congressional Issues Clinic" in Cincinnati Feb. 14.

Tom Mark, local Chamber president, presided in the absence of Willis, who is ill. The luncheon meeting was held at the Hotel Washington.

Anderson emphasized the responsibility of businessmen to express their views to Congress on legislation affecting everyone, and he suggested a local program to assure an expression of business opinion to representatives in Washington.

* * *

THE SPEAKER urged these steps in establishing a successful national affairs program on the local level:

(1) Businessmen should become better informed on legislation affecting their business;

(2) After a bill is studied then business men should meet with or write to their congressmen, expressing their views;

(3) The entire business community and other citizens should be kept informed on the impact and long range effect on legislation being considered by Congress.

Taxes Are Discussed At FB Council Meet

Are farmers paying more than their share of taxes? Do we want a state income tax? Just how good is Ohio's tax system generally?

Pros and cons of these questions were probed by 14 members of the Upper Paint Twp. Farm Bureau Council at their regular meeting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Simerl.

The soil bank and its effectiveness in reducing surpluses was also discussed. Suggestions for improving the farm support program generally were offered.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Orvill eMickle. The secretary's report was read by Mrs. Pearl Rhoades.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Leland Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Mickle. The secre- and Mrs. Ralph Denen, Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Rhoades and Mr. and Mrs. Armel Hamilton.

LWV Evening Unit To Meet on Friday

Evening classes — for women who are busy in the daytime— are being planned by the Washington C. H. League of Women Voters. Classes will start at 7:30 p. m. Friday.

The Friday session will be held at the home of Mrs. James O. Garringer, 918 Briar Ave., to discuss facts on Ohio finance. Mrs. Norman Boop will lead the discussion.

Realtor Week Plans Drafted

Plans for turning the spotlight on the part realtors play in the economy of the country were discussed at Wednesday night's meeting of the Tri-County Real Estate Board in Greenfield.

The group of realtors from Fayette, Clinton and Highland counties agreed to tell the people what realtors are, explain their position in the development of their communities and outline their purposes and code of ethics through newspaper advertising during National Realtors Week, March 31-April 6.

On the lighter side, F. R Harris, former superintendent of the Greenfield schools and world traveler, told the 12 realtors and associate members at the meeting of is most recent trip to Hawaii, New Zealand and Australia with a tape recording.
